Mercury In 22 States Skids To Zero Or Lower

By The Associated Press

Snow and frigid air whipped across the South and into the East Wednesday while millions of Americans shivered and suffered in record-shattering cold.

The big freeze enveloped all but a few fringes of the nation between the western mountains and the Atlantic.

It erased low marks for Jan. 10 that had been on the books as long as 87 years.

Temperatures plummeted to zero or lower in at least 22 states.

The Weather Bureau reported a reading of 55 below zero at daybreak at West Yellowstone, Mont. A reading of 58 below zero was reported in a state forest in northwestern Colorado. A low of -53 was hit in Fraser, Colo., and -47 in Drummond, Mont.

Winter at its worst blocked roads, hobbled traffic, closed thousands of schools and many business houses, froze water pipes and hampered firemen.

Scores Of Deaths Reported

Hundreds shivered, even in their homes, because of inadequate heating, and reports of deaths mounted into the scores.

But a measure of relief took shape in the West, and Midwesterners heard the glad tidings: "A rising trend is in prospect for Thursday."

But, as the sun came out in the central section, a new snowstorm developed in the Southwest.

The season's first major snowstorm greeted the opening of Congress in Washington, slowing traffic and shutting suburban schools.

Snow, ice or sleet tied up traffic, closed schools and crimped business in many parts of the South.

Water pipes froze in New Orleans. Some factories halted operations in Arkansas.

Almost seven inches of snow fell in northern Mississippi and up to six inches of snow hindered travel in northern Alabama.

Snow In Carolinas

Freeze warnings were ordered for areas in northern and central Florida.

Snow fell in most of North Carolina and South Carolina, ranging up to eight inches in the mountains.

Snow swirled in New Mexico and blizzard warnings were issued for mountain areas of the northwestern section of New Mexico and for eastern Arizona.

Low marks for the date were set in many cities. Chicago's -12 broke a record that had stood for 75 years. The -8 in St. Louis replaced a record that had endured 76 years. Louisville's -6 bettered a mark that had stood for 87 years.

Explosion Entombs 11 Miners

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — An explosion erupted Wednesday night in a coal mine and destroyed the mine's tipple building. Authorities said 11 men were trapped underground.

There were no reports immediately of dead or injured persons, police in nearby Herrin said.

No cause for the blast in the Blue Blaze Coal Co. mine three miles northeast of Carterville was learned, authorities said. The mine is in a rural area.

An estimated 2,000 to 3,000 spectators crowded near the site of the explosion, in Williamson County, about 85 miles southeast of St. Louis.

Rescue units arrived from several surrounding counties, and a rescue crew entered the mine.

Police at nearby Herrin said the explosion was reported at 6:35 p.m.

More Members Quit Club That Barred Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some more members quit the elite Cosmos Club Wednesday because it barred a Negro official of the State Department from membership. And President Kennedy passed the word that he does not want in.

Bruce Catton, Civil War historian, said he was mailing a letter of resignation.

"I have strong feelings on this subject," he said, "and I figure this is my cue to get out."

Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state, also resigned. And it was reported that Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, Kennedy's top scientific adviser, was planning to do likewise, although Wiesner could not be reached for comment.

The White House made plain that Kennedy's nomination for membership in the 83-year-old social club is not likely to be revived.

J. Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India who had proposed Kennedy for membership, resigned from the club Tuesday because it had turned down Carl Rowan, a Negro who is deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs. With Galbraith's resignation, the Kennedy application automatically died.

The by-laws of the club, which is housed in a big mansion at 2121 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, say members shall be cultivated in the arts or sciences, distinguished in a learned profession or in public service. Its active membership totals 2,250.

Despite the controversy, employes of the club said that attendance for lunch Wednesday was normal.

Hundreds Evacuated In Gas Leak

RISCO, Mo. (UPI) — Hundreds of residents of this southeast Missouri community fled their homes Wednesday when a huge liquified petroleum gas tank sprung a leak. But the situation was under control hours laetr.

Assistant Fire Chief Ken Donica said about "300 persons in the southeast section of town left their homes. Some have returned. But the rest won't be allowed back in their homes until tomorrow morning."

He said the leak occurred at a 10,000-gallon tank on the grounds of Risco High School.

"Somehow a valve came open and gas started escaping," Donica said.

He said it was decided to let the gas run out of the tank, which held about 4,000 gallons. Donica said the wind was blowing away from the town.

13 Electronics Firms Indicted

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted 13 major electronics companies with price fixing in the sale of $21,480,000 worth of electronic parts to Gentile Air Force depot here and to commercial users.

The jury also named nine individuals as part of the jury's continued investigation following the indictment of three major corporations in 1960 on charges of violating the Sherman Anti-Trush Act.

The jury, in three separate true bills, charged fixing of prices of film resistors used in air navigation and missile guidance systems, electrical curcuits and computers and test and control equipment along with deflection yokes and flyback transformers used by commercial television.

If convicted, the companies face maximum $50,000 fines and the individuals $50,000 fines or a year in prison.

Laos Premier Agrees To New Princes' Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Boun Oum agreed Wednesday to a new meeting of princes in Geneva only two weeks after he balked at a carefully arranged princely summit in his own capital.

There was no indication he was any more willing now than then to give in to neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, who is pro-Communist, on issues deadlocking formation of a unified government.

But the pro-American premier obviously surrendered a bit to the pressure of his American and Western friends who want him to give neutrality a new trial with the blessings of the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos.

A government spokesman said Boun Oum had decided to go to Geneva "to settle all questions of the Laos problem."

Only Tuesday Finance Minister Phouangpheth Pahanareth, in a statement prepared in consultation with several other ministers, declared "pressure now being exercised on the royal government to make it deviate from its duty and dignity is intolerable."

The United States has held up Laos' monthly aid check since the meeting of the three princes collapsed here Dec. 27. With an income of only about $5 million a year, Laos is unable to support its 70,000-man, U.S.-trained army without the monthly checks of $4 million or $5 million.

The cause of the deadlock is Boun Oum's demand that the defense and interior ministers of the new government be from his own rightist faction.

Bridges' Widow Will Seek His Senate Seat

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Mrs. Styles Bridges, who for 17 years shared the spotlight with her politically powerful late husband, Wednesday announced her candidacy for the last four years of his U.S. Senate term.

Her announcement set the stage in this traditionally Republican state for what could be a bitter intraparty fight in the September GOP primary.

The attractive 46-year-old widow, considered politically conservative as was her husband, said she felt her years at his side gave her the qualifications to carry on his objectives and philosophy.

Rep. Perkins Bass, R-N.H., announced Tuesday he would seek the nomination.

Passengers On Jet Downed By Soviets Treated 'Wonderful'

MOSCOW (AP)—Passengers of a Belgian airliner forced down Monday by MIG fighters said Wednesday that, once aground, they received excellent treatment from the Russians.

"We had a wonderful reception," said Mrs. Charles Wiemer of New York on this third day of an involuntary visit to the Soviet Union.

The comment was typical of the reaction among 18 passengers and two stewardesses of the Belgian plane, which encountered compass trouble and then the MIGs on a flight from Tehran to Istanbul.

The group was flown to Moscow aboard a special Soviet airliner from the southern oil city of Grozny. It was to a military field near Grozny that the MIGs had guided their plane, a Sabena Airlines twin-jet Caravelle.

Assigned overnight to a suburban Moscow hotel, the passengers are expected to fly on to Brussels, Belgium, Thursday.

The Caravelle also is free to leave to leave Grozny, which is 275 miles north of the Soviet-Turkish frontier and 900 miles south of Moscow. But a Belgian spokesman said mechanical trouble would delay its takeoff overnight. Cmdr. Alfred Moureau and the rest of the [illegible] with it.

Mrs. Wiemer and her husband, a construction engineer, were among four Americans in the group. The others are Emile Hadad, a Los Angeles rug salesman, and Hadad's son.

Hadad told newsmen: "Everyone was very kind to us."

Fred Holden, another traveler originally identified in Tehran as an American, turned out to be a British cotton buyer.

"They overfed us," Holden said. "I had to come to the Soviet Union to get chicken for breakfast.'

The passengers reported the Caravelle was badly off course when picked up by the Russians and two fighters guided it down through heavy overcast.

The Russians protested that the Caravelle had violated Soviet air space, but Belgium Ambassador Hippolyte Cools assured them that any violation was accidental.

Worker Killed, 30 Hurt In Blast

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—An explosion destroyed a three-story grain mill in the Ralston Purina Co. industrial complex Wednesday killing one worker and injuring 30. A fireman at the scene died, apparently of a heart attack.

The dead were identified as John Wood, the Ralston employe, and Fire Capt. Roy Simpson.

The explosion set dozens of small fires in a warehouse and feed production building, topped by an 11-story grain elevator, and also set fire to the headquarters building.

A fireman was trapped in the top of the elevator for about 30 minutes but was rescued.

Tunnel Progresses

PARIS (AP)—A tunnel to link France and Italy under Mt. Blanc, Europe's highest peak, is three-quarters through. A construction company spokesman said the seven-mile project should be finished by the end of this summer.

USAF Jet Seeks Distance Record

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A U. S. Air Force jet bomber knifed through the skies Wednesday on a flight more than half way around the world in pursuit of the world distance record for aircraft without refueling.

The B52H took off at 10 a.m. EST from Kadena Air Base on Okinawa in the western Pacific. The crew of eight, commanded by Maj. Clyde P. Evely, 39, Petersburg, Va., hoped to cover 12,519 miles without refueling and land at Torrejon Air Base near Madrid, Spain, in about 21 hours.

Strategic Air Command (SAC) headquarters here announced at 3:40 p.m. EST that the plane was 115 miles south of Kiska, one of the Aleutian Islands, flying at 38,400 feet. SAC said the plane had covered 3,290 miles in five hours and 40 minutes at an average speed of 580 miles per hour.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander-in - chief, said the flight was designed specifically to prove the long-range performance of the aircraft in "combat configuration."

Congo Deputy Premier Defies Return Order

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga, the Congo's absentee deputy premier, defied a parliamentary deadline Wednesday and refused to return to the capital to face charges of secession.

The leftist leader, once officially recognized by the Soviet bloc as Congo premier in succession to the slain Patrice Lumumba, was given a 48-hour ultimatum Monday to return from his isolated headquarters at Stanleyville in Oriental Province.

In a sarcastic telegram to Premier Cyrille Adoula, Gizenga said he would show up only when the government got in earnest about destroying the secession of Katanga Province.

There was no indication as to what Parliament or the government will do now. Diplomats speculated that Gizenga may face arrest or expulsion from the job of deputy premier. He has spent only three weeks in Leopoldville since he accepted the job in a coalition government last August.

In his reply Gizenga sarcastically asked if it was a common crime to stay away from Leopoldville, and if it was why the problem was not taken up in the courts instead of in Parliament.

Further, he said it was Adoula's responsibility to ask Parliament questions about executive activities, not Gizenga's.

Adoula's office, in a statement, replied immediately that Gizenga "was not entrusted with any mission in Stanleyville or any other part of the Congo" by the government, and his activities were not in accord with the government.

Once considered a serious danger to the Congo's unity, Gizenga has been reported slipping serously in recent months.

He is reported largely isolated from his former followers in Stanleyville. The bulk of former Lumumba partisans in Parliament voted against him Monday.

Camaraderie Marks Start Of Congress

Some Of Kennedy Proposals Certain To Stir Squabbles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress opened a new session with beaming, backslapping good will, installed a new speaker of the House and told President Kennedy Wednesday it was ready to buckle down to business.

Kennedy's ideas of what the business should be will be sketched out Thursday. He will deliver his State of the Union message in person then, in the House chamber, shortly after 12:30 p.m.

Some of his ideas are old ones, some of the new ones are known in general terms, and some of both already have stirred up controversy.

So skirmish lines already were well established for what could be a rough, explosive, election-year session. And the opening day harmony and pleasantries may melt away like the mantle of snow that fell on Washington during the night.

Rayburn Era Ends

As it looks now, the big squabbles will center on administration bills for such things as tariff-cutting authority, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education, farm legislation, more spending, tax changes, foreign aid, and the federal purchase of $100 million in bonds to help the United Nations out of a financial jam.

With these and perhaps other controversial proposals in the offing, the mood still was one of gay camaraderie, if only for the moment.

For the first time since 1913, Sam Rayburn of Texas was absent from the halls of Congress. The man who was speaker far longer than any other died in November.

And with the end of the Rayburn era, the House opened its session with no one in the speaker's chair. The vacancy wasn't allowed to stand for long.

McCormack Elected Speaker

John W. McCormack, 70, who served as Democratic leader under Rayburn for 21 years, was elected speaker amid standing ovations and salvos of bipartisan acclaim.

The entire Democratic leadership in the House moved up a notch. Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the party whip, took over the leadership post from McCormack. Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., was tapped to become the new whip, a job which involves rounding up members for crucial votes.

The only contest over a leadership role in either Senate or House involved the chairmanship of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts challenged Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa for the position left open by the death of Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. Hickenlooper came out on top, 21-14, at a party caucus behind closed doors.

The Senate swore in a new member, Maurice J. Murphy Jr., a New Hampshire Republican, who was appointed to the Bridges vacancy. At 34, he is the youngest senator—and he replaces the Republican who had the longest term of Senate service.

In the House, three of eight va-

Britain To Purchase U.N. Bonds

LONDON (AP)—Britain is preparing without enthusiasm to follow the U.S. lead and buy a block of the new bonds issued to keep the United Nations out of the red.

Official sources said, however, the British government wants the rescue action coupled with a reappraisal of all U.N. finances.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant is expected shortly to send a circular letter to member nations calling for support of the U.N. $200-million bond issue.

The fund-raising device has been undertaken as the only way to save U.N. operations threatened because 82 of the 104 members are behind in payment of dues and because the Soviet Union, France, Belgium and Portugal have refused to pay for support of the operations in the Congo.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his Cabinet were reported gravely concerned not only at the cause but also at the possible effects of the U.N. expedient.

"The bond issue, of course, will give the world body a breathing space while its fiscal problems are being sorted out," one authority said. "The scheme is better than a collapse of its operations."

"But the precedent of this kind of supranational debt is dangerous. If it works as a stopgap measure the defaulters will be tempted to go on shirking their responsibilities while the rescuing countries might be pressed to go on playing the role of money lenders," he said.

The United States already has decided to take up half the U.N. bond issue.

House Speaker Is Frisky Rookie Of 70

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — At an age when most men have been retired for years, John W. McCormack embarked on a new career as speaker of the House, a promising 70-year-old rookie.

Standing there addressing the House, of which he has been a member since Nov. 6, 1928, McCormack was a wonderful illustration of the harsh facts of legislative life.

Representatives who are mere striplings of 50 of 60 had further evidence of what they learned long ago: To get anywhere in this business you've got to have incredible fortitude and patience.

Well, McCormack has that—and he has managed to remain eager and bustling to boot.

So it must have galled him, after all these years, to read news stories declaring that now that Sam Rayburn is dead the Democrats must depend on untested leadership. Untested? What does it take to become a veteran in this league, anyway?

But all gall was carefully buried Wednesday.

During these opening sessions of Congress everybody loves everybody. The vote for speaker is strictly along party lines, but the words are treacle and molasses.

By an interesting coincidence, Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was the Republican choice for speaker.

For years now, Halleck and McCormack, who has been the Democratic signal-caller on the floor, have tangled regularly on every issue. Possibly no two members of the House have twitted each other so constantly and, at times, so bitterly.

But all that was forgotten—well, maybe not forgotten, but carefully pushed under the rug.

Halleck was the first to jump up and applaud when McCormack was nominated. It was he who made the welcoming speech when McCormack won.

Of his old sparring partner, Halleck now grandly said: "He may find it a little difficult to move from the tempest and tumult of the well of the House to the serenity of the speaker, but I daresay he'll do it with dispatch."

Then it was McCormack's turn.

He had sent a prepared text around in advance, and you can tell how much a surprise it all was from this sentence: "I appreciate very much the generous remarks made about me by the distinguished minority leader, the gentleman from Indiana, whose friendship I value very much."

Tiremakers To Post New Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced Wednesday that 14 tire manufacturers and two trade associations have agreed to halt certain practices branded as illegal price-fixing by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

The FTC said the firms and the associations agreed to abandon existing prices and to establish new ones under terms of a consent order.

The order settled FTC charges against the "big four" rubber industry firms — Goodyear, Firestone, U.S. Rubber and B.F. Goodrich — 10 other firms, the rubber manufacturers association, New York City and the Tire and Rim Association, Inc., Akron, Ohio.

Other companies named in the order were the General Tire and Rubber Co., Akron; Armstrong Rubber Co., West Haven, Conn.; Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., Findlay, Ohio; Dunlop Tire and Rubber Corp., Buffalo.

Also Gates Rubber Co., Denver; Lee Rubber and Tire Corp., Corp., Conshohocken, Pa.; Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co., Mansfield, Ohio; McCreary Tire and Rubber Co., Indiana, Pa.; Mohawk Rubber Corp., East Akron, Ohio; and Seiberling Rubber Co., Barberton, Ohio.

Under terms of the order, which is for settlement purposes and does not constitute an admission that the firms have violated the law, they must furnish proof to the FTC on request that any price changes made during the next six months were necessary to meet competition.

In a complaint issued June 2, 1959, the FTC accused the manufacturers of maintaining a single zone-delivered price system for tires and tubes. The complaint said prices quoted by the "big four" to all customers in the same category across the country are identical or substantially matched. Those quoted by General Tire and other firms named in the complaint were lower by agreed - on differentials, the complaint said. It added that nearby customers were thus forced to pay transportation costs for more distant purchasers.

The group was flown to Moscow aboard a special Soviet airliner from the southern oil city of Grozny. It was to a military field near Grozny that the MIGs had guided their plane, a Sabena Airlines twin-jet Caravelle.

Assigned overnight to a suburban Moscow hotel, the passengers are expected to fly on to Brussels, Belgium, Thursday.

The Caravelle also is free to leave to leave Grozny, which is 275 miles north of the Soviet-Turkish frontier and 900 miles south of Moscow. But a Belgian spokesman said mechanical trouble would delay its takeoff overnight. Cmdr. Alfred Moureau and the rest of the flight crew stayed with it.

Mrs. Wiemer and her husband, a construction engineer, were among four Americans in the group. The others are Emile Hadad, a Los Angeles rug salesman, and Hadad's son.

Hadad told newsmen: "Everyone was very kind to us."

Fred Holden, another traveler originally identified in Tehran as an American, turned out to be a British cotton buyer.

"They overfed us," Holden said. "I had to come to the Soviet Union to get chicken for breakfast.'

The passengers reported the Caravelle was badly off course when picked up by the Russians and two fighters guided it down through heavy overcast.

The Russians protested that the Caravelle had violated Soviet air space, but Belgium Ambassador Hippolyte Cools assured them that any violation was accidental.

Worker Killed, 30 Hurt In Blast

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—An explosion destroyed a three-story grain mill in the Ralston Purina Co. industrial complex Wednesday killing one worker and injuring 30. A fireman at the scene died, apparently of a heart attack.

The dead were identified as John Wood, the Ralston employe, and Fire Capt. Roy Simpson.

The explosion set dozens of small fires in a warehouse and feed production building, topped by an 11-story grain elevator, and also set fire to the headquarters building.

A fireman was trapped in the top of the elevator for about 30 minutes but was rescued.

Tunnel Progresses

PARIS (AP)—A tunnel to link France and Italy under Mt. Blanc, Europe's highest peak, is three-quarters through. A construction company spokesman said the seven-mile project should be finished by the end of this summer.

USAF Jet Seeks Distance Record

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A U. S. Air Force jet bomber knifed through the skies Wednesday on a flight more than half way around the world in pursuit of the world distance record for aircraft without refueling.

The B52H took off at 10 a.m. EST from Kadena Air Base on Okinawa in the western Pacific. The crew of eight, commanded by Maj. Clyde P. Evely, 39, Petersburg, Va., hoped to cover 12,519 miles without refueling and land at Torrejon Air Base near Madrid, Spain, in about 21 hours.

Strategic Air Command (SAC) headquarters here announced at 3:40 p.m. EST that the plane was 115 miles south of Kiska, one of the Aleutian Islands, flying at 38,400 feet. SAC said the plane had covered 3,290 miles in five hours and 40 minutes at an average speed of 580 miles per hour.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander-in - chief, said the flight was designed specifically to prove the long-range performance of the aircraft in "combat configuration."

Congo Deputy Premier Defies Return Order

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga, the Congo's absentee deputy premier, defied a parliamentary deadline Wednesday and refused to return to the capital to face charges of secession.

The leftist leader, once officially recognized by the Soviet bloc as Congo premier in succession to the slain Patrice Lumumba, was given a 48-hour ultimatum Monday to return from his isolated headquarters at Stanleyville in Oriental Province.

In a sarcastic telegram to Premier Cyrille Adoula, Gizenga said he would show up only when the government got in earnest about destroying the secession of Katanga Province.

There was no indication as to what Parliament or the government will do now. Diplomats speculated that Gizenga may face arrest or expulsion from the job of deputy premier. He has spent only three weeks in Leopoldville since he accepted the job in a coalition government last August.

In his reply Gizenga sarcastically asked if it was a common crime to stay away from Leopoldville, and if it was why the problem was not taken up in the courts instead of in Parliament.

Further, he said it was Adoula's responsibility to ask Parliament questions about executive activities, not Gizenga's.

Adoula's office, in a statement, replied immediately that Gizenga "was not entrusted with any mission in Stanleyville or any other part of the Congo" by the government, and his activities were not in accord with the government.

Once considered a serious danger to the Congo's unity, Gizenga has been reported slipping serously in recent months.

He is reported largely isolated from his former followers in Stanleyville. The bulk of former Lumumba partisans in Parliament voted against him Monday.

Camaraderie Marks Start Of Congress

Some Of Kennedy Proposals Certain To Stir Squabbles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress opened a new session with beaming, backslapping good will, installed a new speaker of the House and told President Kennedy Wednesday it was ready to buckle down to business.

Kennedy's ideas of what the business should be will be sketched out Thursday. He will deliver his State of the Union message in person then, in the House chamber, shortly after 12:30 p.m.

Some of his ideas are old ones, some of the new ones are known in general terms, and some of both already have stirred up controversy.

So skirmish lines already were well established for what could be a rough, explosive, election-year session. And the opening day harmony and pleasantries may melt away like the mantle of snow that fell on Washington during the night.

Rayburn Era Ends

As it looks now, the big squabbles will center on administration bills for such things as tariff-cutting authority, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education, farm legislation, more spending, tax changes, foreign aid, and the federal purchase of $100 million in bonds to help the United Nations out of a financial jam.

With these and perhaps other controversial proposals in the offing, the mood still was one of gay camaraderie, if only for the moment.

For the first time since 1913, Sam Rayburn of Texas was absent from the halls of Congress. The man who was speaker far longer than any other died in November.

And with the end of the Rayburn era, the House opened its session with no one in the speaker's chair. The vacancy wasn't allowed to stand for long.

McCormack Elected Speaker

John W. McCormack, 70, who served as Democratic leader under Rayburn for 21 years, was elected speaker amid standing ovations and salvos of bipartisan acclaim.

The entire Democratic leadership in the House moved up a notch. Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the party whip, took over the leadership post from McCormack. Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., was tapped to become the new whip, a job which involves rounding up members for crucial votes.

The only contest over a leadership role in either Senate or House involved the chairmanship of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts challenged Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa for the position left open by the death of Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. Hickenlooper came out on top, 21-14, at a party caucus behind closed doors.

Hickenlooper was backed largely by Senate GOP conservatives, Saltonstall by liberals.

The Senate swore in a new member, Maurice J. Murphy Jr., a New Hampshire Republican, who was appointed to the Bridges vacancy. At 34, he is the youngest senator—and he replaces the Republican who had the longest term of Senate service.

In the House, three of eight va-

Britain To Purchase U.N. Bonds

LONDON (AP)—Britain is preparing without enthusiasm to follow the U.S. lead and buy a block of the new bonds issued to keep the United Nations out of the red.

Official sources said, however, the British government wants the rescue action coupled with a reappraisal of all U.N. finances.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant is expected shortly to send a circular letter to member nations calling for support of the U.N. $200-million bond issue.

The fund-raising device has been undertaken as the only way to save U.N. operations threatened because 82 of the 104 members are behind in payment of dues and because the Soviet Union, France, Belgium and Portugal have refused to pay for support of the operations in the Congo.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his Cabinet were reported gravely concerned not only at the cause but also at the possible effects of the U.N. expedient.

"The bond issue, of course, will give the world body a breathing space while its fiscal problems are being sorted out," one authority said. "The scheme is better than a collapse of its operations."

"But the precedent of this kind of supranational debt is dangerous. If it works as a stopgap measure the defaulters will be tempted to go on shirking their responsibilities while the rescuing countries might be pressed to go on playing the role of money lenders," he said.

The United States already has decided to take up half the U.N. bond issue.

House Speaker Is Frisky Rookie Of 70

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — At an age when most men have been retired for years, John W. McCormack embarked on a new career as speaker of the House, a promising 70-year-old rookie.

Standing there addressing the House, of which he has been a member since Nov. 6, 1928, McCormack was a wonderful illustration of the harsh facts of legislative life.

Representatives who are mere striplings of 50 of 60 had further evidence of what they learned long ago: To get anywhere in this business you've got to have incredible fortitude and patience.

Well, McCormack has that—and he has managed to remain eager and bustling to boot.

So it must have galled him, after all these years, to read news stories declaring that now that Sam Rayburn is dead the Democrats must depend on untested leadership. Untested? What does it take to become a veteran in this league, anyway?

But all gall was carefully buried Wednesday.

During these opening sessions of Congress everybody loves everybody. The vote for speaker is strictly along party lines, but the words are treacle and molasses.

By an interesting coincidence, Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was the Republican choice for speaker.

For years now, Halleck and McCormack, who has been the Democratic signal-caller on the floor, have tangled regularly on every issue. Possibly no two members of the House have twitted each other so constantly and, at times, so bitterly.

But all that was forgotten—well, maybe not forgotten, but carefully pushed under the rug.

Halleck was the first to jump up and applaud when McCormack was nominated. It was he who made the welcoming speech when McCormack won.

Of his old sparring partner, Halleck now grandly said: "He may find it a little difficult to move from the tempest and tumult of the well of the House to the serenity of the speaker, but I daresay he'll do it with dispatch."

Then it was McCormack's turn.

He had sent a prepared text around in advance, and you can tell how much a surprise it all was from this sentence: "I appreciate very much the generous remarks made about me by the distinguished minority leader, the gentleman from Indiana, whose friendship I value very much."

Tiremakers To Post New Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced Wednesday that 14 tire manufacturers and two trade associations have agreed to halt certain practices branded as illegal price-fixing by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

The FTC said the firms and the associations agreed to abandon existing prices and to establish new ones under terms of a consent order.

The order settled FTC charges against the "big four" rubber industry firms — Goodyear, Firestone, U.S. Rubber and B.F. Goodrich — 10 other firms, the rubber manufacturers association, New York City and the Tire and Rim Association, Inc., Akron, Ohio.

Other companies named in the order were the General Tire and Rubber Co., Akron; Armstrong Rubber Co., West Haven, Conn.; Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., Findlay, Ohio; Dunlop Tire and Rubber Corp., Buffalo.

Also Gates Rubber Co., Denver; Lee Rubber and Tire Corp., Corp., Conshohocken, Pa.; Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co., Mansfield, Ohio; McCreary Tire and Rubber Co., Indiana, Pa.; Mohawk Rubber Corp., East Akron, Ohio; and Seiberling Rubber Co., Barberton, Ohio.

Under terms of the order, which is for settlement purposes and does not constitute an admission that the firms have violated the law, they must furnish proof to the FTC on request that any price changes made during the next six months were necessary to meet competition.

In a complaint issued June 2, 1959, the FTC accused the manufacturers of maintaining a single zone-delivered price system for tires and tubes. The complaint said prices quoted by the "big four" to all customers in the same category across the country are identical or substantially matched. Those quoted by General Tire and other firms named in the complaint were lower by agreed - on differentials, the complaint said. It added that nearby customers were thus forced to pay transportation costs for more distant purchasers.

Sickles, Wilkinson Join Rival Md. Demo Tickets

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Mahoney ticket counter punched Wednesday with Carlton R. Sickles as its candidate for nomination by the Democrats for Maryland congressman-at-large.

Gov. Tawes earlier the same day had announced that House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson of Prince Georges County was joining his Democratic ticket as its at-large candidate for Congress.

Sickles also is a member of the House of Delegates from Prince Georges County. He is the third member of the current legislature to become a statewide candidate on the slate headed by George P. Mahoney for nomination for governor.

The 40-year-old Sickles is completing his second term in the House. Wilkinson is 56 and has served 20 years in the House.

The other candidates on the Mahoney ticket are Sen. Samuel W. Barrick, 37, of Frederick, for attorney general and Del. Blair Lee III, 45, of Montgomery, for U. S. Senator.

The Mahoney ticket still lacks a candidate for comptroller. The Tawes slate is complete.

There are two Democratic candidates, William A. Albaugh and John H. Douglas, for congressman at-large in addition to Wilkinson and Sickles.

German Reds Again Threaten Allied Air Lane

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists Wednesday warned the Western Allies that it has the right to force down any foreign aircraft flying over its territory — including traffic in the three air lanes linking Berlin with the West.

Unless the Allies negotiate an agreement with East Germany on the future use of the lane, the Communists said, there might be some "nasty surprises."

The new Communist threats to Allied air traffic in the 20-mile-wide corridors came as British Foreign Secretary Lord Home reaffirmed Western determination to keep Berlin's links with the outside wall open.

Home toured the Communists' wall dividing East and West Berlin with Mayor Willy Brandt Wednesday morning. He flew back to London with what he said was a "feeling of revulsion and dismay."

Brandt also used the air links to fly out on his way for a rest in Tunisia. It was Brandt's first vacation since the Communists put up the concrete-and-barbed wire barricades to block the exodus of East German refugees to the West last August.

The Communist threats and claims were made in the semi-official East German periodical, "German Foreign Policy."

The magazine said the Allied air corridors were being misused through the transportation of "persons using West Berlin as a base of hostile meetings and actions against the GDR (German Democratic (Communist) Republic.)"

Police Thwart Sobell's Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Rose Sobell did her best to get arrested at the White House Wednesday, even sitting down in a driveway and blocking traffic.

But patient police, aided by subfreezing temperatures, outlasted the 67-year-old mother of convicted spy Morton Sobell. After 40 minutes of "peaceful civil disobedience" in front of the White House she stalked away in disgust.

Mrs. Sobell had announced to the press earlier that she would stage a demonstration in front of the White House in an effort to see President Kennedy. There have been a number of similar demonstrations by Mrs. Sobell, her daughter-in-law and others seeking freedom for Morton Sobell.

Zuckert Hints Of AF Buildup

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert indicated Wednesday night the Air Force plans to increase its regular forces to cope with future cold war flare-ups, rather than count on reserve or air guard units.

"The reserve forces called to active duty last year provided the necessary immediate expansion of our tactical forces," Zuckert said in a speech prepared for the Madison Chamber of Commerce.

"There will always be problems in calling up reserve forces in any future flare-up of the cold war. Our solution is to provide some increases in active force levels."

But, Zuckert said, the Air Reserve and Air National Guard "will continue to have a vital role to play, providing the basis for additional expansion if needed and performing other essential tasks."

AF Sergeant Killed In Motorcycle Crash

AVIANO, Italy (AP)—A U. S. Air Force staff sergeant was killed and a friend injured Sunday when their motorcycle skidded on a curve and crashed into a wall.

Officials of this north Italian NATO air base disclosed the accident today.

Authorities said Staff Sgt. John E. Hutson Jr., 26, of Baltimore, died shortly after being taken to a hospital.

His friend, Airman Buddy Davis, 21, of Washington, D. C. suffered bruises.

Drive To Win Cuban Masses To Reds Begins

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban revolutionary government plans to launch a drive this year to indoctrinate as many Cubans as possible in communism.

To advance the plan a nationwide network of "Revolutionary Instruction Schools" has been set up.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro recently acknowledged that actually, what is studied is Marxism-Leninism—the only subject that can be studied in such a school.

The institutes for the advancement of "socialism"—the government still shies away from the more explicit "communism"—will turn out cadres of Red evangelizers. Their task will be to win over the masses.

It is necessary to instruct, re-educate and win over the "old intellectuals, yesterday's technicians, professors and teachers who may have incomprehensions," states a revolutionary theoretician in "Cuba Socialista," the monthly publication of the "Marxist-Leninist" intelligentsia.

Several diplomats here believe the creation of these schools is an indication that not all Cubans are ready to face eastward as quickly as the government would like them to.

Ford Co. Directors Propose Stock Split

DETROIT (AP) — Directors of Ford Motor Co. made a long-awaited move Wednesday and recommended a 2-for-1 split of the auto company's stock.

They also sweetened the dividend pot, declared a 90 cent a share first quarter payment instead of 75 cents as in recent quarters, voted to redeem $22 million in Philco Corp. bonds and added two company officials to the board.

Stockholders will be asked to approve the split, and other technical maneuvers such as doubling the authorized capital stock and cutting the $5 par value in half, at a special meeting in Detroit May 24.

27-Story Monster Will Hurl First Americans Toward Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The space agency said Tuesday that the rocket which will hurl the first Americans toward the moon will be a 27-story monster generating 7.5 million pounds of thrust at liftoff.

Known for the time being as the advanced Saturn, it will have five times more booster power than the early Saturn with its 1.5 million pounds of thrust.

It also will be 20 times more powerful than the Atlas, the largest rocket now used for U.S. space flights, and seven to 10 times as powerful as Russia's current boosters.

In announcing details of the advanced Saturn, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in effect confirmed elimination of three intermediate versions of the Saturn bearing the drawing board designations of C-2, C-3, and C-4.

The early Saturn, the booster stage of which was successfully tested at Cape Canaveral, Fla., last fall, is C-1. The advanced Saturn is C-5.

The advanced Saturn's first flight test from the Cape is expected in 1965.

As soon thereafter as possible it will be used to propel three astronauts into an orbit around the moon. It also will be used to land a three-man spacecraft on the moon if space rendezvous techniques prove feasible.

The advanced Saturn will be able to put 100 to 110 tons into orbit around the earth or propel 40 to 45 tons on so-called escape missions to the moon and planets.

The rocket will stand about 270 feet high and measure 33 feet in diameter. Three stages will be used for escape missions, two for earth orbit flights.

The booster stage will be powered by five kerosene and liquid oxygen engines each developing 1.5 million pounds of thrust.

The second stage will consist of five liquid hydrogen-liquid oxygen engines with a total power of one million pounds of thrust. The third stage will have a single hydrogen-oxygen engine with 200,000 pounds of thrust.

The three-stage rocket will be able to put a spacecraft into orbit around the moon with enough power aboard to get back to earth.

From the very first we knew we had a winner. Happy owners, car enthusiasts—everyone who drove it raved about the 1962 Buick Special with the history-making Fireball V-6 engine. And now, the editors of Motor Trend—one of the country's top car magazines—have made it official. After road-testing and evaluating all U.S. cars, they have named the V-6 Special "Car of the Year!" Here's the way they put it . . . "Motor Trend's CAR OF THE YEAR AWARD to the 1962 Buick for pure progress in design, originative engineering excellence, and the power concept for the future expressed in America's only V-6 automobile engine." Why are the car experts so hot on this exclusive Buick engine? Because only a V-6 can combine the extra vigor and smoothness of V-design with the gas savings of a straight six. Because this 135 H.P. V-6 weighs up to 140 pounds less than other sixes of comparable power. Because it sips regular gas sparingly. But why go on? Ask your Buick dealer to let you drive a V-6 Buick Special. There are five beautiful models, including a fabulous new convertible. Drop in soon and see how easy it is to make the "Car of the Year" your very own.

Kidnaper Gets 30 Years

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Alfred Pittore escaped the gas chamber Wednesday but drew the maximum prison sentence of 30 years in the Maryland Penitentiary for his part in two kidnapings.

Judge Benjamin Michaelson pronounced the sentence in Anne Arundel Circuit Court, where Pittore had earlier been convicted of kidnaping Dale K. Guyer, an insuranceman, and Earl Fifer, a former doorman at a Baltimore night club, in separate trials.

The Fifer kidnaping touched off a grand jury investigation of vice and rackets in Baltimore City's nightclub district.

The sheriff's office took extraordinary precautions Wednesday to insure that there was no reaccurrance of earlier violence in the courtroom. Pittore and a defense witness, Charles J. Yeagley Jr., staged a wild demonstration during his trial for the Fifer kidnaping.

A patrol car, with two armed deputy sheriffs, followed the van in which Pittore was transported here from the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore and Sheriff Joseph W. Alton and five deputies, all with sidearms, were present in the courtroom for the sentencing.

Legion Lauded For Antietam Land Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department said Wednesday it welcomes efforts of the Maryland Department of the American Legion to raise funds for purchase of land for donation to the Antietam National Battlefield site at Sharpsburg, Md.

The object of the campaign is to protect the battlefield from encroachments that would destroy the historic shrine, Director Conrad L. Wirth of the National Park Service, said.

Wirth wrote Francis Saunders, chairman of the Legion's Antietam Battlefield Committee: "We believe the American Legion's participation in this land preservation program is an appropriate addition to the Maryland Civil War Centennial observance."

Congress in 1960 authorized the purchase of 600 acres to add to the battlefield site, which now contains 183 acres. The 1960 law also allows imposition of restrictive covenants on the remainder of the 1,800-acre area of the battlefield.

However, the legion points out in a recently issued folder, that even with this increased acreage many important parts of the battlefield would still be excluded from the park. The legion will concentrate on purchasing this additional land.

Waterman Snags Six-Foot Bomb

TILGHMAN, Md. (AP)—Waterman John Evans was dredging for oysters Tuesday off Sharp's Island, seven miles southwest of here, when he dredged up a 300 to 500-pound bomb.

The six-foot bomb was brought to Tilghman and demolition experts at Ft. Meade found it was not live. Sharp's Island once was used as a bombing practice area and the bomb appeared to be of World War II vintage.

Maryland Credit Merger Proposal Spurned By Atlas

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A proposed merger between Maryland Credit Corp. with home offices here and Atlas Finance Corp. of Philadelphia has been rejected by the Atlas board of directors.

In announcing the rejection, Walter S. McCord, a board member of Maryland Credit, said the firm probably will have to liquidate. A proposed merger between Maryland Credit and the General Acceptance Corp. of Allentown, Pa., fell through last year.

T. Hughlett Henry Jr., another Maryland Credit board member, said the firm has been losing money since August 1960, just several months after it moved into a new $450,000 office building here. Henry blamed the losses on "economic conditions in the finance industry and the advent of the compact car."

Prince Georges School Officials Deny Race Ban

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—Prince Georges County school officials say no pupils, white or Negro, are denied the right to attend the county school of their choice.

The statement was made in reply to criticism voiced Tuesday night, by two predominantly Negro groups, that there has not been enough racial desegregation in county schools.

W. Carroll Beatty, president of the Prince Georges County school board, said after the meeting the proposals made by the two groups and a new staff study on the effects of desegregation will be studied. He said he hopes an answer can be provided by the time the board meets again Feb. 13.

Beatty denied allegations that the county operates a dual system of schools or that Negro pupils, unless they request entrance to an integrated school, are assigned to all-Negro schools. He also denied racial considerations in the assignment of teachers.

Beatty's statement brought a response after the meeting from Theodore A. Miller, a Montgomery as legal adviser to three Negro residents of Prince Georges County.

"The board gave citizens of Prince Georges County a complete snow job about school desegregation," said Miller, who is white. "It is a matter of common knowledge that the board maintains a segregated school system."

Broker-Dealer Undergoes SEC Quiz At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Howard Mallek, president of Lloyd, Miller & Co., a local stockbroker-dealer, testified at a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing today he had had only three months experience in the securities field prior to joining the firm last October.

SEC Examiner William W. Swift opened a hearing on charges that Mallek's firm fraudulently sold the stock of American International Savings & Loan Association, now operating under restrictions of a Prince Georges Circuit Court order issued Monday.

Mallek was identified as recently as last August as president of American.

Under questioning by SEC counsel Nelson Shechtel, Mallek said he became president of Lloyd, Miller in November or thereabouts. He first became connected with the firm in October as secretary-treasurer, he added.

Mallek said he owns all the outstanding shares of common stock of the broker-dealer firm.

He testified that prior to joining Lloyd, Miller he worked for three months as a "registered representative" of a New York City broker-dealer firm, Gale, Fisher & Sutton. Asked what he did for that firm, Mallek smiled and said, "nothing."

American International, which has branches in Takoma Park and Bethesda, was ordered by the court to get out of the savings and loan business and to negotiate for the takeover of its share accounts by a "solvent, reputable savings and loan association."

Specifically, the SEC is charging Lloyd, Miller with selling American International stock when the latter was not registered with the SEC and misrepresenting its value to customers.

The vending machine type of business is still on the increase in the U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Styles change in stock-buying for speculation the same as in ballroom dancing or women's hats.

This same point — although phrased various ways—was made by several Wall Street analysts discussing recent price gyrations in the stock market.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. reeled off the names of a half dozen "blue chip" issues that took it on the chin hard in the last few trading sessions.

"The stocks which are acting worst, except for a few specialties, are the ones which acted best in the final four months of 1961," Hooper observed.

They moved up so fast they simply outran what institutional buyers considered a fair value, and purchase orders simply stopped, he added. They went ouf of style as speculations.

"The stocks that did not go up so much are not coming down so much."

With Hooper, Sidney B. Lurie of Josephthal & Co. and Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. seemed to believe what is happening is a switch in emphasis rather than a change in basic market direction.

Touching on the style concept, Lurie said:

"The excitement this year will be in different directions than it was last. For example, it's more likely to be in, say, oils than in utilities—paper than in missiles—chemicals than in drugs, etc."

Granville, looking down the opposite end of the telescope from Hooper, put it this way:

"The market is now showing a much kinder eye toward many low-priced stocks and those issues which generally did poorly in 1961.

"This is what the market is trying to say—that the emphasis is in favor of these stocks and away from many of the 1961 high flyers."

Granville said he liked prospects ahead for such lately depressed groups as the railroads, airlines, private airplane, liquors, meat packer, textiles, coppers and aluminums.

Other investment advisers commented on a new-found buoyancy of the rails as a group, and one, Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co., said that a "good rally" may be in the making for them.

Former U.N. Congo Commander Weds

NEW YORK (UPI) — Conor Cruise O'Brien, former head of the United Nations Congo operation who resigned over a policy disagreement, Tuesday married the daughter of an Irish diplomat.

Roman Catholic rites uniting the 44-year-old O'Brien and Marie Macentee, also a former member of the Irish diplomatic corps, were performed by the Rev. Donald O'Callighan.

The bride, 38, is the daughter of Irish Deputy Prime Minister Sean Macentee.

Home owners in the United States are spending $6.6 billion for home repairs and improvements.

New Clothes Help Poise Of The New Nonsmoker

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — How can you buy clothes that will help you quit smoking, stretch your wardrobe, and save you embarrassment on a breezy day?

This incongruous riddle was solved nicely in parts Tuesday by designers Pauline Trigere, Paul Parnes, Davidow, and Edward Abbott as the New York Couture Group's semiannual fashion press week began its second day.

More than 200 fashion writers swilled cold coffee and puffed uninhibitedly on cigarettes as Miss Trigere took up the problem of the new nonsmoker who suddenly has more hands than she knows what to do with.

Her models demonstrated there are plenty of ways to appear poised while kicking the nicotine habit if you are sure the clothes you wear have plenty of constructive work for fidgety fingers.

Miss Trigere's fashions for spring offer thin — nine inches wide—stoles to fumble and clutch, one-armed shawls to drag, wide capes to flail matador-style and sheath dresses and suits and coats, all with pockets, pockets, pockets for resolvedly digging into with clenched fists.

Paul Parnes went along with Miss Trigere in her sometimes mannish mood with man-tailored jacket suits and trouser pleated skirts. But they were so sungly fitted that feminity triumphed anyway.

Davidow was also in a practical spirit, with suits that shed jackets to become demure dresses, and long overblouses that flatteringly overcame the bareness of some sheer costumes.

Although designer Abbot raved about his cone-shaped silhouette, wide at the hem and narrow at the waist, the fashion editors showed more interest in his models' petticoats.

The mannequins spun on their heels to reveal lingerie that was exactly the same floral pattern, or at least the same hue as the costumes they wore.

Thus fashion writers noted that a slip that shows today is not a social error, it's chic.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gutterball goofs and even expert amateur bowlers stand to gain in gamemanship by listening to Marge Merrick.

The Columbus, Ohio, woman recently won the world's invitational match game championship.

During the tournament — 11 days and 72 games — she also lost something. Eight pounds.

Miss Merrick, 36, has been bowling for 16 years. She started just as many other females do, joining an office bowling league.

"I was definitely not a champion in the beginning," she said in an interview.

The first year, she averaged 130. In the tournament she won, Miss Merrick averaged 201.

Miss Merrick said the main trouble with bowling today is that each of the 32 million Americans who bowl regularly feels qualified to instruct.

"You listen to this person and then to that person and before you know it, you find yourself instructing others — but your own game doesn't improve a stitch," she said.

The champion bowler's first suggestion for females wanting to improve their game: put yourself in the hands of a qualified instructor.

Other suggestions include the following:

—Make the ball work for you. Don't handle it like a hot potato.

—Use proper equipment, including bag, ball and shoes.

—Dress in a skirt and a blouse with free motion arms.

—Remember it's a game of concentration. Don't let anything or anyone ruffle you.

—Don't look at the pins. Aim at the board you want and control speed of the ball. This is called spot bowling.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lease Plan International Corp. announced the formation of a new Belgian corporation known as Locabel S.A. to engage initially in leasing equipment and vehicles to commercial and industrial concerns. Locabel will eventually expand its operations by leasing service to complement their merchandising techniques to selected manufacturers.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ingersoll-Rand Co. announced the formation of a wholly owned subsidiary to distribute and service the company's products in Sweden. The new subsidiary will operate A-B Amerikanska Tryckluftmaskine, a Swedish firm newly acquired by Ingersoll-Rand under undisclosed terms. The new Swedish unit is expected to lead to an expansion of markets for Ingersoll Rand and an expansion of services to Scandinavian customers.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Automatic Retailers of America Inc. has purchased automatic Food Systems Inc., of Baltimore, Md., for an undisclosed amount of automatic Retailers common stock, a joint announcement said. The company will operate as a division of Automatic Retailers and Ralph Globus, president of Automatic Food Systems, will continue to manage the division.

Production Increases

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — U. S. oil production increased by 66,929 barrels per day last week, mainly as a result of a gain in Louisiana, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Wednesday.

The journal said U.S. production for the week ended Jan. 6 averaged 7,434,919 barrels per day, compared with 7,367,990 for the previous week.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y.— Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now — it can be revealed what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and — more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, mere aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities. Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

Despite their strength and effectiveness — Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain-relief.

Kennedy Plan For Urban Affairs Dept. Faces Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven Americans out of 10 live in areas facing the urban problems of slums, crowded schools and traffic choked streets.

This simple Census Bureau statistic will be President Kennedy's chief argument during the coming months when he tries to persuade a reluctant Congress to create a single cabinet-level Department of Urban Affairs.

Powerful elements in Congress —including most conservatives, many Southerners and practically all rural politicians—oppose the President's plan.

They see in the proposed 11th cabinet post a strong voice in federal councils for more welfare programs and a weakening of local and state authority. At the same time, some Southerners feel a vote for the new department would be a vote for the first Negro member of the Cabinet. If the bill is passed, Kennedy is expected to name Federal Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to head the new department.

Other groups—including big city mayors, most liberals and many labor unions—insist the proposed cabinet post is the only way the pressing problems of the 20th Century city can be met.

They argue that state and local governments have failed to meet the crisis of the city. They also say the time has long passed when the urban citizen should have a voice equal to labor's Department of Labor, the farmer's Department of Agriculture and business' Commerce department.

Whether a new urban department—which mostly will put existing housing agencies under one roof—will prove an effective antidote to the admitted ills of America's big cities remains to be seen.

But the President's main argument for requesting the new department — that America today is primarily the land of the urban citizen—cannot be dismissed.

Almost 130 million Americans, 70 per cent, now live in what the census department calls an urban area. The bureau says an urban area has a population density of at least 1500 persons per square mile, is a densely settled city suburb or a town with more than 2500 people.

Labrador's puffins, rivaling in dependability the cliff swallows of San Juan Capistrano in California, leave their summer and winter haunts on definite dates and arrive at their destinations with equal predictability.

Ford Car And Truck Sales Up Last Year

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. announced Tuesday its car and truck sales in 1961 totaled 2,007,620 units and the company's overall share of the new car market reached its highest point since 1957.

President John Dykstra and board chairman Henry Ford II said three Ford auto lines—Thunderbird, Mercury Comet and Ford Falcon—established sales records last year.

Falcon sales totaled 492,582 in 1961, up eight per cent from 1960. Comet 1961 sales totaled 188,644 or 14 per cent above the 1960 sales. Thunderbird sales were 85,142 last year, a four per cent gain over 1961.

The company's biggest gain percentage-wise was by Lincoln Continental with sales of 32,030 units, up 54 per cent over the previous year.

Eskimos Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like the Indians of the old West, some Eskimos in a remote area of Alaska are fearful of being blasted from their hunting range.

A subcommittee of the Association on American Indian Affairs Tuesday protested plans for conducting a series of underground nuclear tests in the Fort Thomas, Alaska, area.

It challenged statements by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) that the health and welfare of 700 Eskimos living in three villages in the area would not be endangered by fallout from the blasts.

"The Eskimos depend for their subsistence largely on hunting over a wide range, including the area of some square miles which will be made uninhabitable for man and animals over a period of at least some months," the subcommittee said.

The group urged the Interior Department to rescind its authorization to the AEC to use the area for so-called Project Chariot, a part of the Plowshare program to develop peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Man Sentenced In Morals Case

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday sentenced a Barton area man to three years in the Maryland penitentiary on a morals charge.

The defendant, Warren R. Elliott, 35, was given a preliminary hearing November 14 and committed to the county jail in default of $5,000 bond to await action of the April grand jury. He requested an immediate trial recently and the hearing was held in Circuit Court today.

Judge Harris in passing sentence recommended that State's Attorney James S. Getty send the statement of Elliott in which he admitted the offense and also the report of two local psychiatrists on their examination to the penal officials.

When Elliott arrives at the penitentiary the officials there can determine if he can be aided by additional treatment at Patuxent Institute.

The next meeting is scheduled February 1 at the Union Grove clubhouse. A film on forestry will be shown.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paperboard production in 1961 reached a record 16,654,936 tons, the National Paperboard Association reported. This compares with 15,930,033 tons in 1960 and 15,957,800 in the previous peak year of 1959. Local College Has Exhibit Of Water Color Paintings

Allegany Community College, in cooperation with the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts, is showing as a continuation of its art exhibitions a group of water colors from the museum's collection.

The paintings were selected by Bruce Etcheson of the museum, and William Smerling, college registrar.

The group consists of 15 pieces representing what is considered an excellent cross-section of various approaches to water color painting. Techniques range from pure expressionism to pictorial realism. The exhibit includes work from some internationally recognized water colorists.

Included are "Young Yachtsmen" by Hardie Gramatky, "The Coast Range" by Thomas Craig, "The Green House" by Reginald March, "Regatta Finale" by Beryl Garrott, "The Binder" by Ogden M. Pleissner, "Quebec Alley" by Clyde Roberts, "Pueblo Indian Woman and Child with Thunderbird" by Lumen Martin Winter.

"Sand Bars" by Mary Helen Chrissinger, "Summer Weather" by Mac S. Fisher, "Autumn in the Village" by Raymond Breinin, "Rocks, Sky and Sea" by Stanley Woodward, "Along the River" by W. Emerton Heitland, "Great Family" by Rene Portocarrero, "The Wheels" by Keith Martin, and "Before the Wind" by Sessions, a reproduction.

As an added feature, Smerling said, an enamel on copper panel, entitled "Jonah in the Belly of the Whale" by George P. Waricher, is included in the current showing.

Ted Foote, supervisor of art for Allegany County schools, was so enthusiastic while reviewing the paintings that he urged local high school art students to view the paintings as a particularly good opportunity for enrichment and appreciation of their art experience.

The exhibition is open to the public during college hours until March 1. School hours are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 6 to 10 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Hampshire County Residents To Vote On Funds For Hospital, School Construction

ROMNEY — Hampshire County voters will be asked to approve three items in a special election February 16, one being a special levy for Hampshire County Memorial Hospital, and the other items being a special levy and a bond issue for construction and improvements in the county school system.

The hospital levy is sought to cover operational costs of the institution for a three-year period beginning in July. Authorities said the costs are estimated at $24,000 annually, and that the levy will be 4.3 cents on each $100 of Class 1 property, 8.6 cents on Class 2 property, and 17.2 cents on Class 3 and Class 4 properties.

The school bond issue is for $750,000 which will be used for construction of a central county high school, according to Bernard Hughes, superintendent of schools. Although no site has been selected for the proposed school, Hughes said it is expected to be located somewhere east of Romney on U. S. Route 50.

The proposed school building will have 20 classrooms and auxiliary rooms, such as a library, laboratories, combined gymnasium and auditorium, cafeteria, kitchen and heating plant. Hughes said the bond issue also will cover cost of the land site and architectural fees.

Pointing out the new school is sorely needed in the county, Hughes said the issue will be amortized over a 20-year period. The anticipated cost to the taxpayer is $3.86 a year on the average $2,000 assessment on Class 2 property, with Hughes pointing out this amounts to about a cent a day increase in taxes.

The special levy for schools calls for a 75 per cent levy of the rate on the four classes of property for a five-year period beginning in July.

Revenue from the levy will be used for improving facilities in the county's elementary schools, and for instructional, transportation and maintenance areas, the superintendent said.

The major portion of the levy will be utilized for school improvements in the Three Churches-Levels area, in the Springfield-Greenspring area, Augusta area, Capon - Capon Bridge - Cacapon Springs area, and the Kirby-Slanesville-Mill Creek area.

The planned improvements, Hughes explained, include additional classrooms, and in some instances complete new facilities.

The levy also would finance the renovation of the present Romney High School for use as a junior high, and a similar renovation at Capon Bridge High, the superintendent stated.

The overall program of construction and improvement will put the county school system on a 6-3-3 basis, Hughes explaining that the first six years covers the elementary period, the next three, the junior high classes, and the final three, high school years.

The total cost for the school levy and bond issue has been estimated at $10.74 a year for the average homeowner, Hughes pointing out that this averages out at a theatre ticket per person, per month, for a year.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — So important is every facet of making "PT109," the war exploits of President John F. Kennedy, that Jack Warner will personally take over as executive producer. His first step is assigning the direction to Raoul Walsh, one of the greatest of the war story directors ("What Price Glory," Battle Cry" and others). JFK can certainly find no objection here.

Brynie Foy is the acting producer on "PT109" which is based on Robert Donovan's best seller. It's also currently running in one of the national magazines.

Susan Hayward, who made no secret that she couldn't wait to get back to her plantation in Georgia after months in London on "I Thank A Fool," will return to London, probably in the summer. That young producing team of Stuart Miller and Lawrence Turman, who recently signed a new deal with the Mirisch Company, will make "Summer Flight" as their first, under their new contract.

They did very well with "The Young Doctors," and Susan probably will be very happy to make a picture for them, even if it's in London.

I'm all for Darryl Zanuck's idea of getting John Wayne for "Fate Is The Hunter," Ernest Gann's best seller about the commercial pilot who learned the business when aviation was in diapers and got out just before the jet age. It's full of airliner thrills, many similar to those that highlighted "The High And The Mighty," in which Wayne also starred—and also from the pen of Gann.

I've been hearing rumors that Duke is thinking of calling off his Batjac Productions, his independent company. With all the offers Duke gets from the majors he hardly has time to be an independent.

Enjoyed the Elmer Bernstein party honoring Peter Nero, the famous young pianist. He is here to record "Summer and Smoke," the theme song Bernstein scored. Alan Pakula, who is the lucky one to produce "To Kill A Mocking Bird" told me that Harper Lee, the author, is coming to Hollywood to act as consultant.

At the party I had a chance to tell Paul Francis Webster how much I enjoyed his and Sammy Fain's score of "Tender Is The Night." Talked with Rita Moreno, who has become a real celebrity since "West Side Story." Margaret Whiting told me that her sister Barbara (who married Gail Smith) and the baby are arriving in a few days to visit her. Danny Kaye and all of the RCA Record people, as well as composers Johnny Green, Jimmy McHugh and others I didn't know, welcomed Nero.

I ask you—doesn't time zoom along fast enough without the 13-year-old Portland Mason (offspring of Pamela and James Mason) being signed to play Loretta Young's EIGHTEEN-year-old daughter in Loretta's new TV series, "Christine's Children?" I must say that Portland has looked several years older than her real age since she was in her nursery.

Added proof is that she has a Jackie Cooper "Hennessy" TV segment coming up next month in which Portland does a take-off on Brigitte Bardot. Back to Loretta's new show—two younger girls are also playing her daughters.

The best letter writer I know is Steve McQueen, who keeps me informed of all the goings-on. He's just signed a contract to be a United States resident driver for the John Cooper British Motor Company, which has drivers from all over the world under contract.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Edd Byrnes tells me that he and Asa Maynor didn't get married in Mexico. "Instead of getting married," he said, "we got the flu. But we're going to get married later and I'll tell you when it happens."

The long-standing romance between Madlyn Rhue and comedian Bill Dana faded away with the Christmas spirit and hasn't been revived.

Robert Young's daughter Barbara, and Thomas Beebe, University of California student, have set June for their wedding.

Sat with Mary Anita and Richard Sale, who told me that Rock Hudson goes with them and Claire Trevor and Milton Bren on the Bren yacht, leaving the 28th of this month for Acapulco. Edgar and Frances Bergen will meet them there.

The handsomest man in the room at La Rue was former star John Boles who was with his wife Marcelite. They commute between here and Texas. John is one actor who saved his money and needn't worry about a rainy day.

Bobby Rydell, age 19, who has come up in a big way this past year, telephoned to say au revoir. He, his father, his manager and his drummer are headed for Australia, Tokyo and Hong Kong.

Enjoyed the Elmer Bernstein party honoring Peter Nero, the famous young pianist. He is here to record "Summer and Smoke," the theme song Bernstein scored. Alan Pakula, who is the lucky one to produce "To Kill A Mocking Bird" told me that Harper Lee, the author, is coming to Hollywood to act as consultant.

At the party I had a chance to tell Paul Francis Webster how much I enjoyed his and Sammy Fain's score of "Tender Is The Night." Talked with Rita Moreno, who has become a real celebrity since "West Side Story." Margaret Whiting told me that her sister Barbara (who married Gail Smith) and the baby are arriving in a few days to visit her. Danny Kaye and all of the RCA Record people, as well as composers Johnny Green, Jimmy McHugh and others I didn't know, welcomed Nero.

I ask you—doesn't time zoom along fast enough without the 13-year-old Portland Mason (offspring of Pamela and James Mason) being signed to play Loretta Young's EIGHTEEN-year-old daughter in Loretta's new TV series, "Christine's Children?" I must say that Portland has looked several years older than her real age since she was in her nursery.

Added proof is that she has a Jackie Cooper "Hennessy" TV segment coming up next month in which Portland does a take-off on Brigitte Bardot. Back to Loretta's new show — two younger girls are also playing her daughters.

The best letter writer I know is Steve McQueen, who keeps me informed of all the goings-on. He's just signed a contract to be a United States resident driver for the John Cooper British Motor Company, which has drivers from all over the world under contract.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Edd Byrnes tells me that he and Asa Maynor didn't get married in Mexico. "Instead of getting married," he said, "we got the flu. But we're going to get married later and I'll tell you when it happens."

The long-standing romance between Madlyn Rhue and comedian Bill Dana faded away with the Christmas spirit and hasn't been revived.

Robert Young's daughter Barbara, and Thomas Beebe, University of California student, have set June for their wedding.

Sat with Mary Anita and Richard Sale, who told me that Rock Hudson goes with them and Claire Trevor and Milton Bren on the Bren yacht, leaving the 28th of this month for Acapulco. Edgar and Frances Bergen will meet them there.

The handsomest man in the room at La Rue was former star John Boles who was with his wife Marcelite. They commute between here and Texas. John is one actor who saved his money and needn't worry about a rainy day.

Bobby Rydell, age 19, who has come up in a big way this past year, telephoned to say au revoir. He, his father, his manager and his drummer are headed for Australia, Tokyo and Hong Kong.

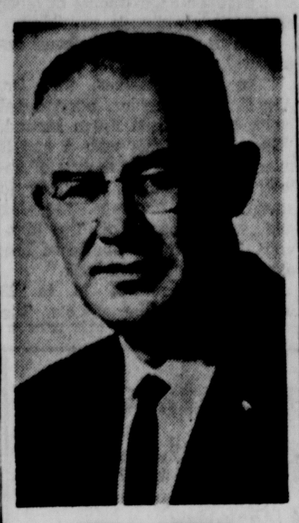
Foster Assumes Duties At ABL



JOHN C. FOSTER

John Churchill Foster has arrived here to take over management of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, succeeding Duard H. Little as manager of the Rocket Center, W. Va., facility.

Foster comes here from the Hercules Powder Company's plant at Bessemer, Ala., where he had been works manager since 1954.

The ABL facility is operated by the Hercules firm for the Naval Bureau of Weapons, with the primary work being research and development of solid propellants.

Little, who had been manager here since 1956, was promoted last month by Hercules to director of the Navy program for the firm's Chemical Propulsion Division. His headquarters will be at Wilmington, Del.

Born October 6, 1907, in Denver, Foster obtained a B. S. degree from the University of Denver in 1937. On leaving the university, he joined Hercules as a chemist at the company's Research Center, near Wilmington, transferring to the Kenvil (N. J.) plant a few months later.

He held a succession of posts there, eventually becoming dynamite supervisor. In 1941 he moved to Radford, Va., as line supervisor of smokeless powder at the government-owned, Hercules-operated Radford Ordnance Plant.

Foster became production supervisor before transferring to Badger Ordnance Works at Baraboo, Wis., also a government-owned, Hercules-operated facility, as superintendent of the Smokeless Powder Division.

In 1946, Foster was appointed superintendent of the Hercules Carthage (Mo.) dynamite plant, returning to Radford as manager in 1952. Two years later he was appointed works manager at the company's Bessemer plant.

He is a member of the American Cemical Society, Army Ordnance Association, National Rifle Association, Bessemer Kiwanis Club, "The Club" of Birmingham, and is a Mason and Shriner. While at the Carthage plant he belonged to the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

His family includes his wife, the former Roberta Scott of North Bend, Neb.; a daughter, Roberta Ann, at home; his parents, William R. and Alice Evelyn Foster of Golden, Colo.; two sisters, Mrs. James Moore of Golden, and Mrs. Samuel Gray of Crown Point, Ind., and a brother, William R. Foster, Ruth, Nev.

Arrives In Minsk

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who was reported suffering from influenza last week, arrived in Minsk Wednesday to take part in an agricultural workers conference, the Soviet Tass news agency said.

Electric Output Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — The national electric energy output last week rose to 16,021,000,000 kilowatthours from 15,738,000,000 a week earlier and 14,627,000,000 in the same week last year, the Edison Electric Institute reported Wednesday.

Brothers Plead Not Guilty In Area Abduction Case

ROMNEY—Pleas of not guilty were entered by two brothers from the Cabins area when arraigned Tuesday on charges of abduction and robbery before Judge H. G. Muntzing in Hampshire County Circuit Court.

The pleas were entered by Jimmy Alt, 26, and Edwin Alt, 33, with Judge Muntzing ordering bond of $2,500 placed on each man for appearance at a trial next Wednesday. The brothers were released after posting bond. They were represented at the arraignment by John Hamilton, Moorefield attorney, who will represent the Alts along with former State Senator Ralph J. Bean.

Assisting Loudon L. Thompson, Hampshire County prosecuting attorney, will be William A. Ansel, who has been retained by Thomas A. Shoemaker, 72-year-old victim of the robbery and abduction.

When indicted by the grand jury last week, the Alt brothers were charged with robbing Shoemaker on December 14 as he was closing his store at Junction. Some $200 was said to have been taken from Shoemaker's wallet and cash register, after which he was struck and blindfolded.

His assailants were said to have taken the 72-year-old man to the Barksville area where he was left in a field during bitter weather. Shoemaker was hospitalized following the incident.

Although fish produce millions of eggs every year, only one or two of the offspring live long enough to reach ful maturity.

Foster Assumes Duties At ABL

JOHN C. FOSTER

John Churchill Foster has arrived here to take over management of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, succeeding Duard H. Little as manager of the Rocket Center, W. Va., facility.

Foster comes here from the Hercules Powder Company's plant at Bessemer, Ala., where he had been works manager since 1954.

The ABL facility is operated by the Hercules firm for the Naval Bureau of Weapons, with the primary work being research and development of solid propellants.

Little, who had been manager here since 1956, was promoted last month by Hercules to director of the Navy program for the firm's Chemical Propulsion Division. His headquarters will be at Wilmington, Del.

Born October 6, 1907, in Denver, Foster obtained a B. S. degree from the University of Denver in 1937. On leaving the university, he joined Hercules as a chemist at the company's Research Center, near Wilmington, transferring to the Kenvil (N. J.) plant a few months later.

He held a succession of posts there, eventually becoming dynamite supervisor. In 1941 he moved to Radford, Va., as line supervisor of smokeless powder at the government-owned, Hercules-operated Radford Ordnance Plant.

Foster became production supervisor before transferring to Badger Ordnance Works at Baraboo, Wis., also a government-owned, Hercules-operated facility, as superintendent of the Smokeless Powder Division.

In 1946, Foster was appointed superintendent of the Hercules Carthage (Mo.) dynamite plant, returning to Radford as manager in 1952. Two years later he was appointed works manager at the company's Bessemer plant.

He is a member of the American Cemical Society, Army Ordnance Association, National Rifle Association, Bessemer Kiwanis Club, "The Club" of Birmingham, and is a Mason and Shriner. While at the Carthage plant he belonged to the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

His family includes his wife, the former Roberta Scott of North Bend, Neb.; a daughter, Roberta Ann, at home; his parents, William R. and Alice Evelyn Foster of Golden, Colo.; two sisters, Mrs. James Moore of Golden, and Mrs. Samuel Gray of Crown Point, Ind., and a brother, William R. Foster, Ruth, Nev.

Brothers Plead Not Guilty In Area Abduction Case

ROMNEY—Pleas of not guilty were entered by two brothers from the Cabins area when arraigned Tuesday on charges of abduction and robbery before Judge H. G. Muntzing in Hampshire County Circuit Court.

The pleas were entered by Jimmy Alt, 26, and Edwin Alt, 33, with Judge Muntzing ordering bond of $2,500 placed on each man for appearance at a trial next Wednesday. The brothers were released after posting bond. They were represented at the arraignment by John Hamilton, Moorefield attorney, who will represent the Alts along with former State Senator Ralph J. Bean.

Assisting Loudon L. Thompson, Hampshire County prosecuting attorney, will be William A. Ansel, who has been retained by Thomas A. Shoemaker, 72-year-old victim of the robbery and abduction.

When indicted by the grand jury last week, the Alt brothers were charged with robbing Shoemaker on December 14 as he was closing his store at Junction. Some $200 was said to have been taken from Shoemaker's wallet and cash register, after which he was struck and blindfolded.

His assailants were said to have taken the 72-year-old man to the Barksville area where he was left in a field during bitter weather. Shoemaker was hospitalized following the incident.

Although fish produce millions of eggs every year, only one or two of the offspring live long enough to reach ful maturity.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The husband of my closest friend committed suicide two years ago. Although she is only 30 years old she's been almost a total recluse ever since.

Marie insists she cannot go out and enjoy the company of men because it would be disloyal to her husband's memory. She is convinced he took his life because of ill health and worry over not being able to provide luxuries for his family.

The truth is he was a rat. This man was a handsome phony who chased everything in skirts. Four years ago he got a young girl in trouble and my husband gave him money to get the poor kid out of town.

I'm aching to tell my friend the truth, but my husband won't let me. I say the plain facts would shock her back into circulation where she belongs. Your advice is needed.—A TRUE FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Keep your lip zipped. People who pass along such garbage and label it "an act of kindness" have a punitive streak, whether they know it or not.

To tell a grieving widow that her husband was a rat would only depress her more.

Encourage Marie to get back into circulation because withdrawal beyond a reasonable time is unhealthy. This would be a true act of friendship.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is there a polite way to tell a girl she'd be a lot better looking if she scraped off some of the paint?

I am very fond of a young lady who has a lot of natural beauty but you can't see it because she wears makeup a half inch thick. More than once I've had the urge to kiss her but I've hesitated because I didn't want to slosh around in all that grease.

This summer she had a sun-tan and wore only light lipstick. It looked great. A few months ago when she had a black eye she left all the eye makeup off and her eyes looked lovely — even the shiner.

How can I get this across in a nice way? — J. D.

DEAR J. D.: Begin with the "natural beauty" bit. Few women can resist this approach.

Skillful use of makeup can be an asset but the heavily madeup female looks as if she's trying to camouflage an old model under a fresh coat of paint.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm planning to be married in April. All my life I've dreamed of a story-book wedding and I want everything to go just right.

The three bridesmaids I've selected are tall and beautiful. My fiance selected three ushers. Two of them are handsome six footers. The third one is his 16-year-old brother who is a nice enough guy but he's a little runt about 5'4".

I told my fiance that I had nothing against his brother but his appearance would ruin the wedding procession. He seemed hurt but agreed to let me have my way.

I'm sure we can make it up to his brother later. My mother says I am wrong. What do you say?—APRIL SHOWERS

DEAR APRIL: You're not only wrong, but foolish. This "little runt" will be your brother-in-law long after the beautiful bridesmaids have forgotten who you are.

His presence cannot possibly ruin your wedding, but leaving him out can ruin your relationship with the entire family for years to come.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHICAGO (UPI)—An American Bar Association committee said Wednesday President Kennedy has 38 vacancies to fill on the federal bench.

The association's committee on the federal judiciary, headed by Bernard G. Segal, Philadelphia, said the President made a record-breaking 81 judicial appointments in 1961.

Firm Cuts Car Insurance Rates For A-B Students

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An insurance company announced Tuesday a plan providing a 20 per cent reduction in auto insurance premiums for students with A or B grade averages or the equivalent.

State Farm Mutual of Bloomington, Ill., said the discount could mean annual savings of $10 to $100.

It said the plan would take effect Jan. 15 in California and would be submitted for approval to insurance departments of other states as rapidly as possible.

Do high grades mean fewer accidents?

"Not in themselves, said Dr. Arnold E. Schneider, educational consultant to State Farm Mutual. "Choosing students with A and B averages is merely a way of selecting the group most likely to spend their evenings studying and, consequently, off the highway. It's a simple matter of less exposure to accident risk."

Unmarried males, 16 to 25 year's old, will be eligible. The group has the highest accident rate and pays the highest auto insurance rates.

Young women drivers aren't eligible, the company said, because they already have lower rates.

No Polio Cases Reported In County During 1961

Not a single case of polio was reported in Allegany County during 1961.

That fact was stressed in a public appeal for support of the 1962 March of Dimes by Philmore F. Fleming, chairman of the drive in Allegany County.

Fleming pointed out that the March of Dimes, founded by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, led the fight for 20 years against polio and should be given credit for a 90 per cent decline in its incidence since the introduction of the Salk vaccine just six years ago.

With victory within sight, the county chairman went on, the March of Dimes was reorganized into the National Foundation with the specific target of accomplishing the same success in the fields of congenital disorders and arthritis, as well as polio.

It is a little known fact, Fleming stated, that despite there being no cases of polio last year, the Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation spent an estimated $9,000 in 1961 for care and treatment of polio victims.

Hospitalization of county polio victims, who incurred the disease in 1960, carried over into last year, with Fleming adding that home care of the patients has been arranged for since then by Mrs. Ethel M. Thayer, executive secretary of the County Chapter of the National Foundation.

The victims, according to Mrs. Thayer, are still being given physical therapy treatments by Public Health nurses, and "rocking" beds and wheelchairs have been provided for, as have braces for the afflicted limbs.

So, despite the remarkable strides made against polio, there remains a most pressing need for public support of March of Dimes work, Fleming said.

While still in the forefront of the fight against polio, Fleming said the National Foundation's aim of financing research and treatment of arthritis and birth defects is a challenge to every resident to live up to the American trait of offering a helping hand to the afflicted and less fortunate.

Expressing confidence that the people in Allegany County will react as in former years, Fleming said he feels sure the amount raised in this year's campaign will exceed last year's $12,000.

Assisting in the 1962 campaign, nationwide as well as in the county, are American Legion posts and their Auxiliaries.

Mineral Co. Docket Set

KEYSER—The trial docket was set yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court with three cases scheduled for Monday, January 22.

Those scheduled are State vs. Warren R. Del Signore in a case of malicious assault; State vs. Woodrow Wilson Barnes, and State vs. Harry Edward Delawder, who have been indicted for drunken driving.

Two civil matters will be heard January 29. They are Harold Waldo Webb vs. Charles Blackburn, and Eva Riley vs. Edward T. Goss.

Today at 2 p. m., Judge David E. Cuppett, Jr., will hear testimony in the Christmas Day breaking and entering of the Children's Methodist Home at Burlington.

Indicted and currently being held in Mineral County Jail in connection with the breaking and entering are Douglas M. Durst and Terry R. Kooken.

The grand jury was dismissed Tuesday afternoon after it returned 14 indictments, six for felonies, and eight for misdemeanors. The jurors considered four other cases as not being true bills.

Those indicted for felonies, all on charges of assault, were Mary Maxine Harvey, Carmine P. DelSignore, Warren R. DelSignore, and Harry Flannagan.

The other two felony indictments involved the two youths who allegedly broke into the Children's Home.

Indicted on misdemeanor counts yesterday were Raymond Baker, on a count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Delawder and Barnes, drunken driving.

Five indictments were returned on truck overload charges. Named were Joseph Seymour Taylor, Adam Crites Jr., Delro W. Mongold, D & L Coal Company, Inc., and Thomas Crites.

Several pre-trial hearings are also being arranged by Judge Cuppett.

Technical Assistance Mission To The U.S.

It is downright shocking to learn the United States has been placed on the list of needy nations by some of its friends, welcome though foreign aid in reverse is to U. S. international balance of trade.

First it was West Germany that repaid a considerable portion of its World War II debt in advance of the due date in order that American balance of payments deficits could be reduced.

This was not direct aid, of course, because it represented dollars due the U. S. later in the decade, but it was a handsome concession from a country enjoying booming prosperity to an ally finding it increasingly difficult to finance multi-billion-dollar foreign aid projects and still balance the books.

Now free China has dispatched a program of technical assistance to the U. S. which is intended to improve the social progress of the Americas. To be classified as citizens of a needy nation requiring social assistance is a little frightening to Americans. But upon contemplation of the type of assistance Chiang Kai-shek is sending, it seems certain his delegation will encounter no scarcity of dinner invitations.

Chiang's assistance will be in the form of a troupe of chefs, entrusted with the responsibility for improving the quality of Chinese cuisine in the United States.

So, if the lady of the house announces dinner tonight will be gum synn dill foo young with a side dish of moo guy pin, there will be no occasion to go looking for a psychiatrist who is also an accomplished linguist and putters around his kitchen in his spare time.

It is merely the price one must pay for accepting the generosity of his friends.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Red China's Population

As far back as one can go in the story of China, the problem has been population and food. The Chinese in the Yangtze Valley and in the South are overpopulated and they are short of food. In North China, the people live on a mixed wheat and green vegetable diet; in South China, rice is the principal food. In both areas, the soy bean and its enormous varieties is essential.

Rice grows with difficulty in paddy fields. When analyzed in terms of protein and carbohydrates, rice is an extremely expensive food and a lack of rice can swiftly turn into a famine. The Chinese suffer from famine not because there is a shortage of food but because the means of communication are inadequate. In the North wheat and soya bean grow more than in the South. Beef and milk are not used at all although pork, chicken and fish are acceptable foods in both areas.

The food problem in China has always been a matter of serious politics. Famines have led to revolution and to the overthrow of dynasties. China, during the past few years, has suffered from severe famines. The only solutions the Red Chinese have found has been the purchase of wheat from Canada and Australia, which has left Red China without adequate foreign exchange. The principal solution has been war — war against the countries to the south of China which are rich rice lands but if China imported rice from Siam, and all the countries which were formerly called French Indo-China, there would still not be enough of this food.

The principal advantage of war is the accumulation of rice without paying for it. In a word, the production of rice by slave labor. Thus far, this has not been successful.

This winter has been a very difficult one and although Canada and Australia have helped some, their aid has been insufficient and too costly. The Red Chinese have turned from economics to war and the intensification of the conflict between Soviet Russia and Red China is in a large measure due to Russia's inability or unwillingness to help.

Moscow has, since 1948, hoped to squeeze Red China into the position of a satellite. This Red China has consistently resisted, taking the position that China has a larger population, a longer history, a finer culture and a superior response to Marxism-Leninism than Soviet Russia. When Stalin died, Mao Tze-tung looked forward to be recognized as the leader of the Communist Universal State. In this ambition, Mao failed although in the Communist world he is generally more respected than Khrushchev. Mao is an intellectual, a professor of philosophy; Khrushchev is a peasant and a miner who has pushed his way up through the party organization.

Red China has turned to birth control as a solution of the problem of food. Until very recently, plural marriage was not unusual in China and the population grew enormously because of this social custom. To what extent the Communists have succeeded in wiping out plural marriage is not known. The resort to birth control is a recognition of the need for population control in that country.

Politically, population control indicates an inability to solve the food problem. In the West, those who advocate birth control are not so much concerned with population control as they are with rise in the standard of living. In the East, where plural marriage has been usual, birth control can only be advocated with an aim to accomplish population control.

The population of China is estimated to be 600,000,000. Such an estimate may or may not be realistic as there has not been a proper census. It is not possible to make a scientific comparative study of population as the usual method of taking a census in old times was to count the chimneys and multiply by five.

Whatever the population of China is, the food supply is inadequate. Without an adequate food supply, the Communists cannot keep their people under control. The history of the country shows that hunger has led to revolution and to change of government. Furthermore, whenever China has faced famine, there has been an outpouring of the population in all directions, thus disturbing the status quo in East Asia. This is the situation now, and it will cause trouble.

'First Ya Gotta Learn The Twist'

McCone Given Important Jobs By Republicans And Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — With eight high officials fired from the Eisenhower Administration for conflicts of interest, it would seem mandatory that both Democrats and Republicans take a very close look at the conflict-of-interest issue before appointing and confirming new men.

John A. McCone, picked to replace Allen Dulles as head of the vitally important Central Intelligence Agency, has a record which is interesting on three counts:

1. He has made more money out of Uncle Sam on war contracts than perhaps any other man now working for the government.

2. He has had a continuing close financial connection with the Henry J. Kaiser interests to which, as Under Secretary for Air, he gave a very interesting quickie contract for making flying boxcars (C-119) in the record time of 10 days, at a price three times greater than that of Kaiser's competitor, Fairchild.

3. He is shrewd and able, which accounts not only for his capacity for making money but for his agility in keeping high government positions under both Republicans and Democrats.

When McCone came up for confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission on July 3, 1958, he let slip one interesting fact which puts him in a position of having had a possible conflict of interest. Answering a question from Sen. Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), he said:

Still Close To Kaiser

"Yes, I have some business relationships with Kaiser, inasmuch as a jointly owned company, 25 per cent of which is owned by Hendy (Joshua Hendy Corp. of which McCone owns all the stock) and 50 per cent is owned by Kaiser Aluminum, has a long-range contract to transport Kaiser's bauxite from Jamaica to Baton Rouge."

Yet when McCone was being investigated by the late Sen. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee regarding his quickie C-119 contract to Kaiser, he claimed: "I have had no business relationship with Kaiser for years. . . . I have no benefit to gain from the affairs of his companies. The statement therefore that I was a link in Henry Kaiser's 'chain of influence' should be corrected."

Nonetheless, Senator Bridges showed that McCone went to amazing lengths to switch part of a C-119 flying boxcar contract away from Fairchild in Hagerstown, Md., to Kaiser at Willow Run, Mich., at a cost figure which turned out to be $1,339,140 per plane as against Fairchild's $260,000. It all began over a luncheon between Henry J. Kaiser and Under Secretary McCone after Kaiser's venture in the auto industry had been a flop.

A third Congressional hearing, Sept. 25, 1946, shows the close financial kinship between McCone and Kaiser and why it was possible for Kaiser to barge in on McCone, have luncheon with him, and walk out with a multimillion-dollar contract as good as signed.

This third hearing probed the phenomenal war profits rolled up by both McCone and Kaiser when they were shipbuilding partners during the war, and when they parlayed an investment of $100,000 into a profit of $44,423,000.

McCone was then president of the California Shipbuilding Co., organized about one year before Pearl Harbor when Todd Shipbuilding put up $50,000, with another $50,000 coming from the Betchel - McCone - Parsons Company, Henry Kaiser, and other companies associated with Kaiser and Betchel-McCone in building boulder dam.

Phenomenal War Profits

This combine made a killing. Uncle Sam needed ships, was willing to pay any price for them, and the Todd-McCone-Kaiser combine went to town, though later Todd got out and left the west coast field to Kaiser and McCone. This was really the start that put Kaiser into steel, aluminum, and various other businesses today, and which made McCone one of the wealthy independent ship operators of the USA.

According to the sworn statement of Ralph E. Casey of the General Accounting Office before the House Merchant Marine Committee in 1946:

"It would seem when profits from government contracts paid from public funds soar to such astronomical heights in proportion to invested capital, someone should come forward with a satisfactory explanation."

He went on to testify: "The California Shipbuilding Corp. was incorporated Jan. 6, 1941, and the entire cash investment represented by 1,000 shares of capital stock at a par value of $100 consisted of $50,000 invested by the Todd shipyards and $50,000 invested by 10 companies affiliated with Henry J. Kaiser.

"About a year later, on Feb. 19, 1942, a meeting was called for the purpose of declaring dividends out of the surplus. The minutes of the meeting said:

"'After a full discussion, upon motion duly made. . . .it was unanimously resolved that a dividend of $1,000 per share be, and the same hereby is, declared."

This, concluded GAO executive Casey, was a profit of $1,000,000 on the investment of $100,000 within one year — all at the expense of Uncle Sam's shipbuilding business.

The profitable partnership between Kaiser and McCone continued until it rolled up a war profit of $44,423,000 and, according to McCone's own testimony, the association is continuing in the form of a joint shipping line today. In between McCone, as Under Secretary of the Air Force, helped swing one of the juiciest airplane contracts in history to Henry Kaiser.

The President's Position And Aid For Schools

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When a national Catholic publication comes out with an editorial which makes it possible to draw an inference that maybe Catholics generally would have fared better on certain public questions if a Protestant had been elected president of the United States last year, this is political news of prime significance.

"America," a weekly review edited by a group of Jesuit fathers, says in its latest issue that, "for understandable political reasons, Mr. Kennedy has not been inclined to parade or in any way make much of his Irish or his Catholic background." It then makes the following comment:

"Unlike the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy has not sought out the advice, assistance, companionship and friendship of highly placed Catholic dignitaries. Catholic prelates and Catholic clergymen pay few if any calls these days at the White House. . . .

"It is significant, for instance, that there were no photographers present for the relatively little-publicized visit to the White House of the (Vatican) Secretary of State early in December. Every published photograph of that brief meeting would have cost Mr. Kennedy 10,000 votes in the Bible belt in 1964, and Mr. Kennedy, who is an experienced politician, can scarcely be asked to overlook such hard facts of public life in America. . . .

"Photographs of the President with Protestant spokesmen like Evangelist Billy Graham, on the other hand, are pure 14-carat gold, to be laid away at five-per-cent interest till the day of reckoning in 1964."

The same editorial says that "these Presidential ventures onto the high wire of tight rope walking in the field of religious public relations cause no appreciable adverse reactions among his co-religionists," and that "in view of his peculiar position, Mr. Kennedy is not expected to make excessively friendly overtures to anyone connected with his church."

In its review of Mr. Kennedy's first twelve months in office, however, the magazine finds "one major incident to criticize." This arose in the President's stand in barring federal aid to parochial schools on constitutional ground. The editorial reaffirms its judgment that Mr. Kennedy was "clearly out of line" in "attempting to settle, by Presidential dictum, a thorny and complicated constitutional issue like that of aid to private schools." The editorial finds there is a "distinction that is very much to the fore in Catholic minds as they ponder the dilemmas of the first Catholic President." It then adds:

"The distinction lies between clear understanding, on the one hand, of the political circumstances and contingencies which might make it personally expedient for a Catholic President not to be in the reviewing stand at a St. Patrick's Day parade — and, on the other hand, failure to understand and refusal to countenance a positive act of discrimination."

All this is but another way of saying that the President's stand on aid to parochial schools is being widely discussed among Catholics. It is being questioned already by some political observers whether Mr. Kennedy will have as solid support from Catholics in 1964 as he had in 1960.

The President has antagonized many citizens of the Catholic persuasion because he has said flatly that federal aid to Catholic schools cannot be justified under the constitution. Yet, under the administration of Protestant Presidents in the past, Congress has enacted laws that allow federal funds to be used for the construction of dormitories and laboratories in Catholic colleges and for the payment of tuition of war veterans and scholarships for students who wish to attend Catholic-operated institutions.

Perhaps the most striking statement on the subject that has yet been made by any legal authority comes in an exhaustive analysis of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States throughout its history touching on the powers of the states and the federal government as they relate to education in religious and non-religious schools. It was written by Philip B. Kurland, professor of law at the University of Chicago, and was published recently in the university's Law Review. He says that the question of whether the national government "can contribute financially to parochial education, directly or indirectly," is a continuing one. He concludes as follows:

"Anyone suggesting that the answer to the question, as a matter of constitutional law, is clear one way or the other is either deluding or deluded."

So the issue is bound to be discussed in the next campaign, and it may be added that, because so many of the members of Congress now are finding it a hot political issue back home, there is little likelihood that for a long time to come any broad measure of federal aid to education will be passed.

SILENCE IS COSTLY—The Senate's new subway, connecting its office buildings with the Chamber, has been running for some months, thanks to the more than $4 million spent on it. But until recently the noise from its car wheels frayed the nerves of many solons and lesser passengers who normally use the short and quick way to commute between the structures.

Now, however, the subway is running quietly, and the additional cost was only $20,000 — for plastic wheels to replace those of steel originally on the cars. Unlike the flanged steel wheels, the new plastic ones rest on top of the rails with separate guide wheels running along the sides of the tracks. Engineers adapted the idea from an arrangement used for years on roller coasters.

The new plastic wheels have one drawback, though. They tend to flatten a little when they stand overnight and it takes a few trips in the morning to get them round again and get rid of the resulting vibration.

The shrieks are gone and the senators are once again serene, albiet a bit shaky in the morning.

CIVIL RIGHTS—The administration has decided against pressing for additional civil rights legislation during the upcoming session of Congress. The reason is that Congress faces an unusually heavy load of controversial work which requires priority consideration—and what is left unsaid is that it will be an election year for all of the House members and a third of the Senate.

To try to assuage minority groups, the administration will continue to press its fight under existing laws through the Department of Justice and the courts. It hopes that there will be enough activity in this area to demonstrate that President Kennedy has not forgotten his campaign pledge to fight for civil rights.

Quality Revolution

By John Crosby

I think we are in the middle—or perhaps just at the beginning of a quality revolution, which is not really understood and consequently is resisted by our businessmen and even our artists. In this year's best play, "A Man for All Seasons," one line in the opening monologue that always gets a chuckle: "The sixteenth century, the century of the common man—like all the other centuries."

But I harbor the suspicion and the hope that we are on the threshold, if not already inside, the century of the uncommon man and even more importantly the uncommon thing. At least in this country, I think we are. Today it's the mass man and the mass thing that's in trouble. The mass magazines are in terrible trouble and floundering around to find a formula to fit a mass man who seems to be not as responsive to formulas as he once was. Meanwhile, the quality magazines — "The New Yorker," "Harper's," "The Saturday Review" — are coining profits.

The mass movies are finished and of the eight giant movie companies that once dominated the world, only two, Twentieth Century Fox and Metro, are producing movies in the old mass consumption ways and both are in awful trouble. Meanwhile, United Artists is coining money. With what? Quality movies, produced on an individual basis by quality producers buying quality books and plays and stories.

Our bellwether is the automobile industry and it felt the bite of the uncommon man when he started to buy foreign cars in uncommon numbers. The industry responded (belatedly) with the compact car which wrested the market back from the furriners. But only temporarily. Now the foreign cars are coming back strong. But it's the effect on the appearance of the streets and roads that interests me. There are just more different kinds of cars — foreign, compact, standard — on the roads than there have been in many a moon. Remember when all cars looked alike? They don't any more and the urge to be different — if nothing else to have different color seats — is part of the uncommon man's desire to be uncommon.

The common man's desire to be uncommon started, I have a hunch, when he discovered how common he was. And he found that out from Vance Packard's books — "The Status Seekers," "The Hidden Persuaders," and "The Wastemakers"—mass-books, all of them. Mass man decided commonalty was all right for the herd but not for himself and he started deserting the herd in great numbers — attending art theaters, going to museums, buying Fiats, reading "The Atlantic Monthly." It's a cloud no bigger than a man's hand — well, actually it's about the size of his arm —but it's going to get much bigger—the urge to quality.

Meanwhile Europe is in the grips of our own mass culture. Wallowing in prosperity, there are drastic changes in consumer attitudes over there. In London the middle classes are buying suits off the rack and shirts and ties over the counter, rather than having them made as they have always done. The class structure is levelling. Three times as many cars on the roads and half of the homes will have refrigerators by 1970 in place of one in ten homes now. As Americans are showing signs of being as individualistic as the French (at least in consumer attitudes) the French are taking over our old bad conformist consumer attitudes.

Even our great mass deterrent, the hydrogen bomb, is in trouble. What has it deterred? It didn't deter Castro in Cuba. It didn't deter Tshombe in the Congo. It hasn't deterred the Russians in Laos. It didn't deter the building of The Wall in Berlin. ¼ ¼

Even in aggression, the very latest thing is the small specialized war, as Walt Rostow has pointed out. "The new technique is the local war" as practiced in Laos and Vietnam, which are a small, hand-tooled operation.

In building, I'll admit, the mass building is still king — the anthill structures which are sprouting all over the earth — but the outcry against them is mounting in volume. In Chicago, in Philadelphia, even in New York (where the wreckage of small quality building for big mass structures is worst), there are signs of a reversal, if only in the recognition of the problem.

Letup In Viral Hepatitis Epidemic Expected

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Will the 1960-61 epidemic of viral hepatitis continue into 1962? Time will tell but we can expect a letup if it is true, as some authorities suggest, that these epidemics last only two years. It will take 5 to 10 years for another population group to become susceptible, and then the cycle will repeat itself. The last big epidemic occurred in 1954.

The causative virus of epidemic or infectious hepatitis usually enters the body through the mouth, nose, or throat. The microorganisms multiply in the intestine and then work their way into the liver. The involved cells sweli and become tender to the touch.

The disorder may make its debut suddenly with chills, fever, nausea, and diarrhea. The skin turns yellow (jaundice) which points immediately to the liver as a source of trouble. Victims of a mild attack develop fever, loss of appetite, and tenderness of the liver, but no jaundice.

If the diagnosis escapes detection or the condition is not treated adequately, these people are in a good position to spread the infection to others. One of the reasons why the disease is missed is that blood tests are not done because the physician does not suspect hepatitis.

The prevention of epidemic hepatitis is difficult because the carriers cannot be identified and because we are not certain how the malady is transmitted. The virus may be conveyed through contaminated water, milk, or food. At any rate, the best preventive measure is to avoid contact with infected persons.

Bed rest is the best treatment for hepatitis. Getting up too soon is followed frequently by relapse; for this reason, most patients are advised to stay in bed at least six weeks. A high caloric, high protein diet is helpful. The corticosteroids, such as cortisone, may prove life-saving if the individual becomes extremely ill.

TOMORROW: Breath odor.

HEART SAC INFECTION

B. R? writes: What is the outlook for a young woman who has been in bed for two months with pericarditis?

REPLY

The outlook in this condition usually is good but the answer depends upon the reason why the sac surrounding the heart became irritated and filled with fluid. The outcome is better, for example, when pericarditis is caused by rheumatic fever than when it stems from tuberculosis.

ARTHRITIS OF SPINE

C. C. writes: How long does it take for osteoarthritis of the spine to burn itself out?

REPLY

There is no definite period. Osteoarthritis is not always a progressive disease and symptoms come and go. Furthermore, persons with X-ray evidence of severe arthritis of the spine may be comfortable whereas those with slight changes may complain of pain and stiffness.

TWO POXES

T. O. writes: What is the difference between smallpox and chicken pox?

REPLY

The pox on the skin are different. The incubation period is longer in chicken pox, the temperature is moderate, the rash appears early, and the exposed surfaces of the skin are involved more frequently. Victims of smallpox are sicker, and the outcome is more serious.

SWELLING AND PAIN

C. K. writes: For several months I have had swellings back of my knees and aching legs. I'm 39 and wonder what can be done for this condition?

REPLY

There are many remedies, varying from aspirin to cortisone, if you have arthritis or bursitis.

TYPES OF GOITER

M. M. writes: Is an inward more serious than an outward goiter?

REPLY

No, except that the inward goiter is more difficult to recognize and may press on other structures in the neck.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

From Des Moines comes the story of the beautiful and restless young wife of an elderly Wall Street millionaire who perked up considerably when the millionaire's dashing nephew came for a week of fishing and golf at their Palm Beach estate. After dinner the second night, the husband fell asleep over his copy of The Wall Street Journal and the wife cuddled up to the nephew. "Pull a hair out of his head," she whispered, "and if he doesn't wake up, I'll let you kiss me."

The trick worked so neatly and the kissing was so enjoyable that the nephew was in the act of pulling out the elderly husband's seventh hair when said husband bounded to his feet in a rage. "Confound it all, Jack," he roared to his nephew, "kiss your imbecile aunt all you please, but I'm darned if you'll use my head for a scoreboard!"

Technical Assistance Mission To The U.S.

It is downright shocking to learn the United States has been placed on the list of needy nations by some of its friends, welcome though foreign aid in reverse is to U. S. international balance of trade.

First it was West Germany that repaid a considerable portion of its World War II debt in advance of the due date in order that American balance of payments deficits could be reduced.

This was not direct aid, of course, because it represented dollars due the U. S. later in the decade, but it was a handsome concession from a country enjoying booming prosperity to an ally finding it increasingly difficult to finance multi-billion-dollar foreign aid projects and still balance the books.

Now free China has dispatched a program of technical assistance to the U. S. which is intended to improve the social progress of the Americas. To be classified as citizens of a needy nation requiring social assistance is a little frightening to Americans. But upon contemplation of the type of assistance Chiang Kai-shek is sending, it seems certain his delegation will encounter no scarcity of dinner invitations.

Chiang's assistance will be in the form of a troupe of chefs, entrusted with the responsibility for improving the quality of Chinese cuisine in the United States.

So, if the lady of the house announces dinner tonight will be gum synn dill foo young with a side dish of moo guy pin, there will be no occasion to go looking for a psychiatrist who is also an accomplished linguist and putters around his kitchen in his spare time.

It is merely the price one must pay for accepting the generosity of his friends.

These Days

Red China's Population

As far back as one can go in the story of China, the problem has been population and food. The Chinese in the Yangtze Valley and in the South are overpopulated and they are short of food. In North China, the people live on a mixed wheat and green vegetable diet; in South China, rice is the principal food. In both areas, the soy bean and its enormous varieties is essential.

Rice grows with difficulty in paddy fields. When analyzed in terms of protein and carbohydrates, rice is an extremely expensive food and a lack of rice can swiftly turn into a famine. The Chinese suffer from famine not because there is a shortage of food but because the means of communication are inadequate. In the North wheat and soya bean grow more than in the South. Beef and milk are not used at all although pork, chicken and fish are acceptable foods in both areas.

The food problem in China has always been a matter of serious politics. Famines have led to revolution and to the overthrow of dynasties. China, during the past few years, has suffered from severe famines. The only solutions the Red Chinese have found has been the purchase of wheat from Canada and Australia, which has left Red China without adequate foreign exchange. The principal solution has been war — war against the countries to the south of China which are rich rice lands but if China imported rice from Siam, and all the countries which were formerly called French Indo-China, there would still not be enough of this food.

The principal advantage of war is the accumulation of rice without paying for it. In a word, the production of rice by slave labor. Thus far, this has not been successful.

This winter has been a very difficult one and although Canada and Australia have helped some, their aid has been insufficient and too costly. The Red Chinese have turned from economics to war and the intensification of the conflict between Soviet Russia and Red China is in a large measure due to Russia's inability or unwillingness to help.

Moscow has, since 1948, hoped to squeeze Red China into the position of a satellite. This Red China has consistently resisted, taking the position that China has a larger population, a longer history, a finer culture and a superior response to Marxism-Leninism than Soviet Russia. In this ambition, Mao failed although in the Communist world he is generally more respected than Khrushchev. Mao is an intellectual, a professor of philosophy; Khrushchev is a peasant and a miner who has pushed his way up through the party organization.

Red China has turned to birth control as a solution of the problem of food. Until very recently, plural marriage was not unusual in China and the population grew enormously because of this social custom. To what extent the Communists have succeeded in wiping out plural marriage is not known. The resort to birth control is a recognition of the need for population control in that country.

Politically, population control indicates an inability to solve the food problem. In the West, those who advocate birth control are not so much concerned with population control as they are with rise in the standard of living. SILENCE IS COSTLY—The Senate's new subway, connecting its office buildings with the Chamber, has been running for some months, thanks to the more than $4 million spent on it. But until recently the noise from its car wheels frayed the nerves of many solons and lesser passengers who normally use the short and quick way to commute between the structures.

Now, however, the subway is running quietly, and the additional cost was only $20,000 — for plastic wheels to replace those of steel originally on the cars. Unlike the flanged steel wheels, the new plastic ones rest on top of the rails with separate guide wheels running along the sides of the tracks. Engineers adapted the idea from an arrangement used for years on roller coasters.

The new plastic wheels have one drawback, though. They tend to flatten a little when they stand overnight and it takes a few trips in the morning to get them round again and get rid of the resulting vibration.

The shrieks are gone and the senators are once again serene, albiet a bit shaky in the morning.

CIVIL RIGHTS—The administration has decided against pressing for additional civil rights legislation during the upcoming session of Congress. The reason is that Congress faces an unusually heavy load of controversial work which requires priority consideration—and what is left unsaid is that it will be an election year for all of the House members and a third of the Senate.

To try to assuage minority groups, the administration will continue to press its fight under existing laws through the Department of Justice and the courts. It hopes that there will be enough activity in this area to demonstrate that President Kennedy has not forgotten his campaign pledge to fight for civil rights.

McCone Given Important Jobs By Republicans And Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — With eight high officials fired from the Eisenhower Administration for conflicts of interest, it would seem mandatory that both Democrats and Republicans take a very close look at the conflict-of-interest issue before appointing and confirming new men.

John A. McCone, picked to replace Allen Dulles as head of the vitally important Central Intelligence Agency, has a record which is interesting on three counts:

1. He has made more money out of Uncle Sam on war contracts than perhaps any other man now working for the government.

2. He has had a continuing close financial connection with the Henry J. Kaiser interests to which, as Under Secretary for Air, he gave a very interesting quickie contract for making flying boxcars (C-119) in the record time of 10 days, at a price three times greater than that of Kaiser's competitor, Fairchild.

3. He is shrewd and able, which accounts not only for his capacity for making money but for his agility in keeping high government positions under both Republicans and Democrats.

When McCone came up for confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission on July 3, 1958, he let slip one interesting fact which puts him in a position of having had a possible conflict of interest. Answering a question from Sen. Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), he said:

Still Close To Kaiser

"Yes, I have some business relationships with Kaiser, inasmuch as a jointly owned company, 25 per cent of which is owned by Hendy (Joshua Hendy Corp. of which McCone owns all the stock) and 50 per cent is owned by Kaiser Aluminum, has a long-range contract to transport Kaiser's bauxite from Jamaica to Baton Rouge."

Yet when McCone was being investigated by the late Sen. Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee regarding his quickie C-119 contract to Kaiser, he claimed: "I have had no business relationship with Kaiser for years. . . . I have no benefit to gain from the affairs of his companies. The statement therefore that I was a link in Henry Kaiser's 'chain of influence' should be corrected."

Nonetheless, Senator Bridges showed that McCone went to amazing lengths to switch part of a C-119 flying boxcar contract away from Fairchild in Hagerstown, Md., to Kaiser at Willow Run, Mich., at a cost figure which turned out to be $1,339,140 per plane as against Fairchild's $260,000. It all began over a luncheon between Henry J. Kaiser and Under Secretary McCone after Kaiser's venture in the auto industry had been a flop.

A third Congressional hearing, Sept. 25, 1946, shows the close financial kinship between McCone and Kaiser and why it was possible for Kaiser to barge in on McCone, have luncheon with him, and walk out with a multimillion-dollar contract as good as signed.

This third hearing probed the phenomenal war profits rolled up by both McCone and Kaiser when they were shipbuilding partners during the war, and when they parlayed an investment of $100,000 into a profit of $44,423,000.

McCone was then president of the California Shipbuilding Co., organized about one year before Pearl Harbor when Todd Shipbuilding put up $50,000, with another $50,000 coming from the Betchel-McCone-Parsons Company, Henry Kaiser, and other companies associated with Kaiser and Betchel-McCone in building boulder dam.

Phenomenal War Profits

This combine made a killing. Uncle Sam needed ships, was willing to pay any price for them, and the Todd-McCone-Kaiser combine went to town, though later Todd got out and left the west coast field to Kaiser and McCone. This was really the start that put Kaiser into steel, aluminum, and various other businesses today, and which made McCone one of the wealthy independent ship operators of the USA.

According to the sworn statement of Ralph E. Casey of the General Accounting Office before the House Merchant Marine Committee in 1946:

"It would seem when profits from government contracts paid from public funds soar to such astronomical heights in proportion to invested capital, someone should come forward with a satisfactory explanation."

He went on to testify: "The California Shipbuilding Corp. was incorporated Jan. 6, 1941, and the entire cash investment represented by 1,000 shares of capital stock at a par value of $100 consisted of $50,000 invested by the Todd shipyards and $50,000 invested by 10 companies affiliated with Henry J. Kaiser.

"About a year later, on Feb. 19, 1942, a meeting was called for the purpose of declaring dividends out of the surplus. The minutes of the meeting said:

"'After a full discussion, upon motion duly made. . . it was unanimously resolved that a dividend of $1,000 per share be, and the same hereby is, declared."

This, concluded GAO executive Casey, was a profit of $1,000,000 on the investment of $100,000 within one year — all at the expense of Uncle Sam's shipbuilding business.

The profitable partnership between Kaiser and McCone continued until it rolled up a war profit of $44,423,000 and, according to McCone's own testimony, the association is continuing in the form of a joint shipping line today. In between McCone, as Under Secretary of the Air Force, helped swing one of the juiciest airplane contracts in history to Henry Kaiser.

Quality Revolution

By John Crosby

I think we are in the middle—or perhaps just at the beginning of a quality revolution, which is not really understood and consequently is resisted by our businessmen and even our artists. In this year's best play, "A Man for All Seasons," one line in the opening monologue that always gets a chuckle: "The sixteenth century, the century of the common man—like all the other centuries."

But I harbor the suspicion and the hope that we are on the threshold, if not already inside, the century of the uncommon man and even more importantly the uncommon thing. At least in this country, I think we are. Today it's the mass man and the mass thing that's in trouble. The mass magazines are in terrible trouble and floundering around to find a formula to fit a mass man who seems to be not as responsive to formulas as he once was. Meanwhile, the quality magazines — "The New Yorker," "Harper's," "The Saturday Review" — are coining profits.

The mass movies are finished and of the eight giant movie companies that once dominated the world, only two, Twentieth Century Fox and Metro, are producing movies in the old mass consumption ways and both are in awful trouble. Meanwhile, United Artists is coining money. With what? Quality movies, produced on an individual basis by quality producers buying quality books and plays and stories.

Our bellwether is the automobile industry and it felt the bite of the uncommon man when he started to buy foreign cars in uncommon numbers. The industry responded (belatedly) with the compact car which wrested the market back from the furriners. But only temporarily. Now the foreign cars are coming back strong. But it's the effect on the appearance of the streets and roads that interests me. There are just more different kinds of cars — foreign, compact, standard — on the roads than there have been in many a moon. Remember when all cars looked alike? They don't any more and the urge to be different — if nothing else to have different color seats — is part of the uncommon man's desire to be uncommon.

The common man's desire to be uncommon started, I have a hunch, when he discovered how common he was. And he found that out from Vance Packard's books — "The Status Seekers," "The Hidden Persuaders," and "The Wastemakers"—mass-books, all of them. Mass man decided commonalty was all right for the herd but not for himself and he started deserting the herd in great numbers — attending art theaters, going to museums, buying Fiats, reading "The Atlantic Monthly." It's a cloud no bigger than a man's hand — well, actually it's about the size of his arm —but it's going to get much bigger—the urge to quality.

Meanwhile Europe is in the grips of our own mass culture. Wallowing in prosperity, there are drastic changes in consumer attitudes over there. In London the middle classes are buying suits off the rack and shirts and ties over the counter, rather than having them made as they have always done. The class structure is levelling. Three times as many cars on the roads and half of the homes will have refrigerators by 1970 in place of one in ten homes now. As Americans are showing signs of being as individualistic as the French (at least in consumer attitudes) the French are taking over our old bad conformist consumer attitudes.

Even our great mass deterrent, the hydrogen bomb, is in trouble. What has it deterred? It didn't deter Castro in Cuba. It didn't deter Tshombe in the Congo. It hasn't deterred the Russians in Laos. It didn't deter the building of The Wall in Berlin. ¼ ¼

Even in aggression, the very latest thing is the small specialized war, as Walt Rostow has pointed out. "The new technique is the local war" as practiced in Laos and Vietnam, which are a small, hand-tooled operation.

In building, I'll admit, the mass building is still king — the anthill structures which are sprouting all over the earth — but the outcry against them is mounting in volume. In Chicago, in Philadelphia, even in New York (where the wreckage of small quality building for big mass structures is worst), there are signs of a reversal, if only in the recognition of the problem.

Letup In Viral Hepatitis Epidemic Expected

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Will the 1960-61 epidemic of viral hepatitis continue into 1962? Time will tell but we can expect a letup if it is true, as some authorities suggest, that these epidemics last only two years. It will take 5 to 10 years for another population group to become susceptible, and then the cycle will repeat itself. The last big epidemic occurred in 1954.

The causative virus of epidemic or infectious hepatitis usually enters the body through the mouth, nose, or throat. The microorganisms multiply in the intestine and then work their way into the liver. The involved cells sweli and become tender to the touch.

The disorder may make its debut suddenly with chills, fever, nausea, and diarrhea. The skin turns yellow (jaundice) which points immediately to the liver as a source of trouble. Victims of a mild attack develop fever, loss of appetite, and tenderness of the liver, but no jaundice.

If the diagnosis escapes detection or the condition is not treated adequately, these people are in a good position to spread the infection to others. One of the reasons why the disease is missed is that blood tests are not done because the physician does not suspect hepatitis.

The prevention of epidemic hepatitis is difficult because the carriers cannot be identified and because we are not certain how the malady is transmitted. The virus may be conveyed through contaminated water, milk, or food. At any rate, the best preventive measure is to avoid contact with infected persons.

Bed rest is the best treatment for hepatitis. Getting up too soon is followed frequently by relapse; for this reason, most patients are advised to stay in bed at least six weeks. A high caloric, high protein diet is helpful. The corticosteroids, such as cortisone, may prove life-saving if the individual becomes extremely ill.

TOMORROW: Breath odor.

HEART SAC INFECTION

B. R? writes: What is the outlook for a young woman who has been in bed for two months with pericarditis?

REPLY

The outlook in this condition usually is good but the answer depends upon the reason why the sac surrounding the heart became irritated and filled with fluid. The outcome is better, for example, when pericarditis is caused by rheumatic fever than when it stems from tuberculosis.

ARTHRITIS OF SPINE

C. C. writes: How long does it take for osteoarthritis of the spine to burn itself out?

REPLY

There is no definite period. Osteoarthritis is not always a progressive disease and symptoms come and go. Furthermore, persons with X-ray evidence of severe arthritis of the spine may be comfortable whereas those with slight changes may complain of pain and stiffness.

TWO POXES

T. O. writes: What is the difference between smallpox and chicken pox?

REPLY

The pox on the skin are different. The incubation period is longer in chicken pox, the temperature is moderate, the rash appears early, and the exposed surfaces of the skin are involved more frequently. Victims of smallpox are sicker, and the outcome is more serious.

SWELLING AND PAIN

C. K. writes: For several months I have had swellings back of my knees and aching legs. I'm 39 and wonder what can be done for this condition?

REPLY

There are many remedies, varying from aspirin to cortisone, if you have arthritis or bursitis.

TYPES OF GOITER

M. M. writes: Is an inward more serious than an outward goiter?

REPLY

No, except that the inward goiter is more difficult to recognize and may press on other structures in the neck.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

From Des Moines comes the story of the beautiful and restless young wife of an elderly Wall Street millionaire who perked up considerably when the millionaire's dashing nephew came for a week of fishing and golf at their Palm Beach estate. After dinner the second night, the husband fell asleep over his copy of The Wall Street Journal and the wife cuddled up to the nephew. "Pull a hair out of his head," she whispered, "and if he doesn't wake up, I'll let you kiss me."

The trick worked so neatly and the kissing was so enjoyable that the nephew was in the act of pulling out the elderly husband's seventh hair when said husband bounded to his feet in a rage. "Confound it all, Jack," he roared to his nephew, "kiss your imbecile aunt all you please, but I'm darned if you'll use my head for a scoreboard!"

Warns British Member of Parliament M. Edman: "Censorship is like an appendix. When inert it is useless; when active it is extremely dangerous."

Cold Weather Milk Drinks

Mothers, are your youngsters cold and in need of a pick-up when they arrive home from school on a cold and blustry winter afternoon? Chances are pretty good they will welcome a nourishing hot drink and a "goody" to munch along with it.

Hot milk drinks will not only take the chill off but will provide health-giving nutrients that every growing child needs. Teen-agers especially need the built-in nourishment that milk provides for a between-meal snack which will give a boost to the dairy foods intake.

There are many flavors which combine well with milk and chocolate is one that ranks high with the younger set. Oriental Chocolate, for example, combines milk with chocolate and is sparked up with a few spices. The popular combination of chocolate and peppermint in Minted Hot Chocolate makes it a favorite of young and old alike. The chocolate and coffee or mocha flavor is a sure hit and calls for dairy chocolate milk drink which is so handy and easy to use.

Each of these hot milk drinks can be made a little fancy by topping with a little whipped cream.

Something to munch on always makes a milk drink more enjoyable and two favorites will be Chocolate Chip Cookies and little Butter Tea Cakes.

Oriental Chocolate

1½ quarts chocolate milk
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
Whipped cream or marshmallows

Heat chocolate milk to piping hot. Stir in spices. Pour into 6 mugs. Top with a spoon of whipped cream or marshmallow. Makes 6 servings.

Minted Hot Chocolate

1½ Squares unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup water
2½ tablespoons sugar
Few grains salt
2¼ cups milk
⅛ cup heavy cream, whipped
Few drops peppermint extract

Combine chocolate and water; cook stirring constantly, until chocolate is melted. Add sugar and salt; bring to boiling point. Boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Gradually add milk; stirring constantly. Heat. Just before serving add a few drops peppermint extract. If necessary, sweeten to taste with additional sugar. Pour into cups and top with whipped cream. Makes 4 servings.

HOT MOCHA DRINK

2 cups chocolate milk drink
1 teaspoon instant coffee
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Heat chocolate milk drink to scalding. Add instant coffee and sugar. Stir to dissolve. Just before serving add vanilla. Serve piping hot. Makes 2 servings.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
½ cup butter
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 egg white
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup finely chopped nuts

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and soda and sift again. Cream butter and ½ cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk and beat thoroughly; blend in vanilla. Add flour mixture, mixing only until blended. Carefully pat dough to uniform thickness over the bottom of a buttered 12 x 8 x 2-inch pan. Sprinkle chocolate pieces over top, pressing them into dough lightly. Add salt to egg white and beat until frothy throughout. Gradually add the ½ cup of brown sugar, beating thoroughly after each addition. Fold in nuts. Drop by spoonfuls over the top of the dough and spread carefully over the top with a spatula. (Mixture will be thin, so must be carefully spread.) Bake in a moderate oven 375°, about 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from oven and cut into 32 bars while still warm. When cool, remove from pan.

BUTTER TEA CAKES

2¼ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
½ cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspon vanilla
1 cup finely chopped nuts
Additional confectioners' sugar

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sift again. Cream butter with sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla. Add flour gradually, mixing only until smooth. Blend in nuts. Form dough into 1-inch balls and place on ungreased cooky sheet; flatten slightly. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 12 minutes, or until lightly browned. Dust at once with confectioners' sugar and allow to cool. Makes 50 to 60 cookies.

NOTE: If dough becomes too stiff to mix with a spoon when adding flour, use fingers to blend.

Scallop-Cranberry Rounds

1 pound scallops, fresh or frozen
1 quart boiling water
2 tbsp. salt
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tbsp. chopped celery
2 tbsp. chopped olives
2 tbsp. chopped sweet pickle
1 tbsp. chopped chives
½ tsp. salt
18 slices white bread
2 tbsp. butter or margarine, softened
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
2 tbsp. milk
Few drops green food coloring (optional)

Thaw frozen scallops. Remove any shell particles and wash. Cut large scallops in half. Place in boiling salted water. Cover and return to the boiling point. Simmer for 3 to 4 minutes, depending on size. Drain. Chop scallops. Combine mayonnaise, celery, olives, pickle, chives, salt, and scallops. Chill. Cut bread into 3-inch rounds; spread with butter. Cut cranberry sauce into 6 slices, crosswise. Place each slice on a bread round. Top with a second bread round, and spread with scallop salad, using approximately 3 tablespoons salad for each sandwich. Top with third bread round. Combine cheese and milk. Whip until light and fluffy. Add food coloring to desired shade. Frost each scallop-cranberry round. Chill. Serves 6.

The American equivalent of an English billion is a trillion.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Rolled Beef Rump Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the rump section of beef. The bones have been removed, and the meat is rolled and held together with string.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Usually by braising. First the meat is browned in its own or a little added fat. The drippings are poured off, a small amount of liquid is added, the meat is covered tightly and cooked slowly 3 to 4 hours or until tender. A very high quality rump roast may be roasted in a slow oven (300° F.) allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound.

2♥	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♦	Pass	4♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5♥	Pass
6♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

In today's hand the key to the slam is North's possession of a singleton club. It is North's place to bring to the attention of his partner this important bit of information, without which South can't embark upon a slam. There are, of course, numerous devices for checking on aces and kings, but many players overlook the importance of equally vital matters such as voids and singletons.

Some time ago I presented a method for identifying a singleton, a method which is based on logic rather than arbitrary convention. It is this: When a player names three suits and includes a jump in his sequence of bids, he shows a singleton or void in the fourth suit.

Actually, when the above hand was played South missed the significance of North's sequence of bids, and thereby passed up the slam. He opened with one heart and North marked time with a two diamond response. South was more or less forced to rebid two hearts, since no other call was suitable. North's two spade bid was another force and left South with no adequate rebid. He decided to return to three diamonds, convinced that North would take further action. North now leaped to four hearts but South, unduly concerned about the clubs, passed and put a somewhat premature end to the proceedings. North, having named two suits of his own and jumped in the third, marked himself with no more than a singleton in the fourth suit.

The question may be raised as to responder's procedure when holding a strong hand with two suits, trump support, and a doubleton in the fourth suit. In such cases he should either show one suit and jump, or two suits and raise without a jump.

Week's Food Economies

There are a number of attractive buys in the market that will aid you in getting the family food expenditures and diets into balance following lavish holidays. Make wise spending a habit this year, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Some of the foods at low cost per serving are seasonal and the kinds of foods that are tempting to winter appetites.

Have you served liver lately? If not, now is a good time to add it to your marketing list. One pound of liver will serve four, which makes it low in cost per serving because there is no waste or little shrinkage. Beef, pork and lamb livers are recommended best buys.

Other meat suggestions include boneless chuck beef and lamb.

Eggs, one of the high quality protein foods, are an economy when you consider their high food value. Eggs' prices are lower, making them a very attractive buy. Grade A eggs, large size, are recommended.

Vegetables for tasty meals include both yellow and green leafy types. The best buys include carrots, yellow onions, spinach and cabbage. These are familiar vegetables that you can use to advantage in meals because they can all be served raw or cooked, in combination with other foods or as side dish vegetables.

Grapefruit is the week's best fruit buy. You will find both white and pink varieties for your choice. Look for fruit that has fairly smooth thin skin and that which is heavy for its size to insure juciness. Brown color or russeting on the skin does not affect interior quality. This year the production of grapefruit was estimated at 45.2 million boxes. Grapefruit is an excellent source of vitamin C. One half a grapefruit will supply about 50 milligrams of Vitamin C. Use grapefruit for a breakfast fruit, or use it in segments for salads, or broil it with honey or brown sugar for dessert.

A one-inch rainfall on an acre of ground would amount to about 113 tons.

Savory Creamed Tuna

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ cup Sherry
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 (7-oz.) can tuna, drained and flaked
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered lengthwise and halved crosswise.

Mix all ingredients except tuna and eggs in a saucepan; heat gently to simmering. Add tuna and eggs; continue heating just until piping hot. Serve on toast, with rice, or over servings of hot, cooked brocoli or asparagus.

½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup finely chopped nuts

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and soda and sift again. Cream butter and ½ cup sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk and beat thoroughly; blend in vanilla. Add flour mixture, mixing only until blended. Carefully pat dough to uniform thickness over the bottom of a buttered 12 x 8 x 2-inch pan. Sprinkle chocolate pieces over top, pressing them into dough lightly. Add salt to egg white and beat until frothy throughout. Gradually add the ½ cup of brown sugar, beating thoroughly after each addition. Fold in nuts. Drop by spoonfuls over the top of the dough and spread carefully over the top with a spatula. (Mixture will be thin, so must be carefully spread.) Bake in a moderate oven 375°, about 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from oven and cut into 32 bars while still warm. When cool, remove from pan.

BUTTER TEA CAKES

2¼ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
½ cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspon vanilla
1 cup finely chopped nuts
Additional confectioners' sugar

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sift again. Cream butter with sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla. Add flour gradually, mixing only until smooth. Blend in nuts. Form dough into 1-inch balls and place on ungreased cooky sheet; flatten slightly. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 12 minutes, or until lightly browned. Dust at once with confectioners' sugar and allow to cool. Makes 50 to 60 cookies.

NOTE: If dough becomes too stiff to mix with a spoon when adding flour, use fingers to blend.

Scallop-Cranberry Rounds

1 pound scallops, fresh or frozen
1 quart boiling water
2 tbsp. salt
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tbsp. chopped celery
2 tbsp. chopped olives
2 tbsp. chopped sweet pickle
1 tbsp. chopped chives
½ tsp. salt
18 slices white bread
2 tbsp. butter or margarine, softened
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
2 tbsp. milk
Few drops green food coloring (optional)

Thaw frozen scallops. Remove any shell particles and wash. Cut large scallops in half. Place in boiling salted water. Cover and return to the boiling point. Simmer for 3 to 4 minutes, depending on size. Drain. Chop scallops. Combine mayonnaise, celery, olives, pickle, chives, salt, and scallops. Chill. Cut bread into 3-inch rounds; spread with butter. Cut cranberry sauce into 6 slices, crosswise. Place each slice on a bread round. Top with a second bread round, and spread with scallop salad, using approximately 3 tablespoons salad for each sandwich. Top with third bread round. Combine cheese and milk. Whip until light and fluffy. Add food coloring to desired shade. Frost each scallop-cranberry round. Chill. Serves 6.

In today's hand the key to the slam is North's possession of a singleton club. It is North's place to bring to the attention of his partner this important bit of information, without which South can't embark upon a slam. There are, of course, numerous devices for checking on aces and kings, but many players overlook the importance of equally vital matters such as voids and singletons.

Some time ago I presented a method for identifying a singleton, a method which is based on logic rather than arbitrary convention. It is this: When a player names three suits and includes a jump in his sequence of bids, he shows a singleton or void in the fourth suit.

Actually, when the above hand was played South missed the significance of North's sequence of bids, and thereby passed up the slam. He opened with one heart and North marked time with a two diamond response. South was more or less forced to rebid two hearts, since no other call was suitable. North's two spade bid was another force and left South with no adequate rebid. He decided to return to three diamonds, convinced that North would take further action. North now leaped to four hearts but South, unduly concerned about the clubs, passed and put a somewhat premature end to the proceedings. North, having named two suits of his own and jumped in the third, marked himself with no more than a singleton in the fourth suit.

The question may be raised as to responder's procedure when holding a strong hand with two suits, trump support, and a doubleton in the fourth suit. In such cases he should either show one suit and jump, or two suits and raise without a jump.

Week's Food Economies

There are a number of attractive buys in the market that will aid you in getting the family food expenditures and diets into balance following lavish holidays. Make wise spending a habit this year, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Some of the foods at low cost per serving are seasonal and the kinds of foods that are tempting to winter appetites.

Have you served liver lately? If not, now is a good time to add it to your marketing list. One pound of liver will serve four, which makes it low in cost per serving because there is no waste or little shrinkage. Beef, pork and lamb livers are recommended best buys.

Other meat suggestions include boneless chuck beef and lamb.

Shad from Florida waters is now available.

Eggs, one of the high quality protein foods, are an economy when you consider their high food value. Eggs' prices are lower, making them a very attractive buy. Grade A eggs, large size, are recommended.

Vegetables for tasty meals include both yellow and green leafy types. The best buys include carrots, yellow onions, spinach and cabbage. These are familiar vegetables that you can use to advantage in meals because they can all be served raw or cooked, in combination with other foods or as side djsh vegetables.

Grapefruit is the week's best fruit buy. You will find both white and pink varieties for your choice. Look for fruit that has fairly smooth thin skin and that which is heavy for its size to insure juciness. Brown color or russeting on the skin does not affect interior quality. This year the production of grapefruit was estimated at 45.2 million boxes. Grapefruit is an excellent source of vitamin C. One half a grapefruit will supply about 50 milligrams of Vitamin C. Use grapefruit for a breakfast fruit, or use it in segments for salads, or broil it with honey or brown sugar for dessert.

A one-inch rainfall on an acre of ground would amount to about 113 tons.

Savory Creamed Tuna

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ cup Sherry
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 (7-oz.) can tuna, drained and flaked
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered lengthwise and halved crosswise.

Mix all ingredients except tuna and eggs in a saucepan; heat gently to simmering. Add tuna and eggs; continue heating just until piping hot. Serve on toast, with rice, or over servings of hot, cooked brocoli or asparagus.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Rolled Beef Rump Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the rump section of beef. The bones have been removed, and the meat is rolled and held together with string.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Usually by braising. First the meat is browned in its own or a little added fat. The drippings are poured off, a small amount of liquid is added, the meat is covered tightly and cooked slowly 3 to 4 hours or until tender. A very high quality rump roast may be roasted in a slow oven (300° F.) allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound.

Apple Sauce And Sausage On Corn Bread Pie

Look what's here . . . an exciting new dish combining three great family favorites . . . canned apple sauce, sausage and corn bread. So easy, it's a dream dish from your standpoint. So flavory and savory it meets with loud approval from the family.

First of all, the corn bread. Bake it this time in a pie plate. To serve, fork the warm, tender corn bread into handsome wedges. Then smother each wedge with zesty heated canned apple sauce and browned sausages. And one easy little trick in the making brings out the full savor . . . simply heat the apple sauce to the bubble right in the pan with the already browned suasages.

Think of the occasions on which you can serve this dish: For a lunch on a school day, for supper, as a big treat for Sunday morning breakfast, as an unusual refreshment for a late evening to-do. Always it will be enjoyed . . . doesn't everyone like apple sauce . . . and sausages . . . and corn bread!

APPLE SAUCE and SAUSAGES on CORN BREAD PIE

1 12-ounce package cornmeal muffin mix
1 pound link sausage
2 cups canned apple sauce

Prepare muffin mix according to directions on package. Pour batter into greased 9" pie plate. Bake at 400 degrees, 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Pan broil sausage until done, drain off fat. Move sausages to one side of pan. Add apple sauce and heat. Arrange sausages and apple sauce on serving dish. Spoon over hot cornmeal bread wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Green Beans And Beef Stew

2 packages frozen cut green beans
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ pounds beef cubes
3 tablespoons drippings or other fat
½ teaspoon dill seed
1¼ cups water plus more if needed
12 small white onions

Remove frozen green beans from zero storage and allow to stand unopened to defrost slightly. Combine flour, salt, and pepper in paper bag. Shake to mix, then dredge beef in seasoned flour by adding cubes and shaking. Melt drippings in heavy pan and brown beef cubes on all sides in them. Add dill seed and water and bring to a boil. Cover and turn heat low to simmer meat for approximately 45 minutes. Add ½ cup more water if needed. Add onions and simmer, covered, another 20 minutes. Then add green beans and cook 10 minutes after they come to a boil. Serves six to eight. Serve with crisp potato pancakes.

Paprika Potato Cubes

For a fancy dinner plate peel partly cooked whole potatoes and cut into 1-inch cubes. Finish cooking in 1-inch depth of corn oil in skillet. When light brown drain, salt, and dust with a little paprika.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

For Better Sleep—Better Take A Bed Check!

Have you given a good hard look lately at the spot where you spend close to one-third of your day? It's an important third, that time you spend asleep in bed . . . so be brutal in your bed-inspection.

If your bed isn't giving you the support you need, the toe-room and toss-room you require, you're not getting the kind of rest you could be getting.

Look at the size of the bed first. Is it the size it is because it "fits" the limited space in your bedroom? Or because the original cost "fit" your pocketbook? Think back. Maybe you selected its size only because it "fitted" your taste.

But, does it really fit YOU, the occupant? Is it long and wide enough? There should be at least six inches of space between your feet and the foot of your bed. And a bed just three inches wider than the average sigle bed—for a larger than "average" sleeper—will be far more useful than the extra floor space a stingy bed allows.

Test your mattress. Is it sink-deep soft? Is it creaky? Lumpy? Can you see a hollow depression in the center?

The firmer the mattress, the better the support. A well-built mattress is less inclined to sag at points where your body is heaviest. It will provide even ground where you need it most—at the neck, the trunk, the hip section and legs, so that all your muscles relax at the same time.

If you are renting a bed that is not your property, you can improve the mattress at once by placing a bed board (even a slice of fiber board) between the mattress and spring.

If the bed belongs to you, a bed board is a good temporary solution. But, as soon as you can afford a new mattress and a proper-sized bed, treat yourself to them. Too many homemakers claim they cannot "afford" such replacements. Many times, it's only because they would prefer saving up for a new wing chair or new draperies. Something that "shows."

Believe me, if your bed is robbing you of the rest you need and deserve, you feel it and you look it! And you may be blaming your wrinkles and fatigue on something else entirely innocent.

Good rest on a good bed will "show," too—in the most obvious places, your sunny face!

Day-long support is another vital investment to insure your good appearance and happy well-being. You mustn't skimp on the fit and quality of your foundation garments. Check the foundation "Figured For You" in my pamphlet of that title. You can send for your copy by writing me, c/o this newspaper. Just be sure to enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Apple Sauce And Sausage On Corn Bread Pie

Look what's here . . . an exciting new dish combining three great family favorites . . . canned apple sauce, sausage and corn bread. So easy, it's a dream dish from your standpoint. So flavory and savory it meets with loud approval from the family.

First of all, the corn bread. Bake it this time in a pie plate. To serve, fork the warm, tender corn bread into handsome wedges. Then smother each wedge with zesty heated canned apple sauce and browned sausages. And one easy little trick in the making brings out the full savor . . . simply heat the apple sauce to the bubble right in the pan with the already browned suasages.

Think of the occasions on which you can serve this dish: For a lunch on a school day, for supper, as a big treat for Sunday morning breakfast, as an unusual refreshment for a late evening to-do. Always it will be enjoyed . . . doesn't everyone like apple sauce . . . and sausages . . . and corn bread!

APPLE SAUCE and SAUSAGES on CORN BREAD PIE

1 12-ounce package cornmeal muffin mix
1 pound link sausage
2 cups canned apple sauce

Prepare muffin mix according to directions on package. Pour batter into greased 9" pie plate. Bake at 400 degrees, 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Pan broil sausage until done, drain off fat. Move sausages to one side of pan. Add apple sauce and heat. Arrange sausages and apple sauce on serving dish. Spoon over hot cornmeal bread wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Green Beans And Beef Stew

2 packages frozen cut green beans
¼ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ pounds beef cubes
3 tablespoons drippings or other fat
½ teaspoon dill seed
1¼ cups water plus more if needed
12 small white onions

Remove frozen green beans from zero storage and allow to stand unopened to defrost slightly. Combine flour, salt, and pepper in paper bag. Shake to mix, then dredge beef in seasoned flour by adding cubes and shaking. Melt drippings in heavy pan and brown beef cubes on all sides in them. Add dill seed and water and bring to a boil. Cover and turn heat low to simmer meat for approximately 45 minutes. Add ½ cup more water if needed. Add onions and simmer, covered, another 20 minutes. Then add green beans and cook 10 minutes after they come to a boil. Serves six to eight. Serve with crisp potato pancakes.

Paprika Potato Cubes

For a fancy dinner plate peel partly cooked whole potatoes and cut into 1-inch cubes. Finish cooking in 1-inch depth of corn oil in skillet. When light brown drain, salt, and dust with a little paprika.

Food Shopping Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Food shoppers can fight that cold weather bugaboo—frozen budgets—with the plentiful supplies of high quality produce at food markets this weekend.

Now here's a closer look at foods in plentiful supply in this area:

Beef leads the features at meat counters this weekend. Roasts of all types will be at favorable prices. In poultry, broilers and fryers will be at popular prices.

Dairy products will be widely featured.

At vegetable counters, the top buys will be broccoli, cabbage, topped carrots, Chinese cabbage, miscellaneous leafy greens, green onions, iceberg lettuce, mushrooms, peppers, and eastern potatoes. Good choices will be bunched beets, eggplant, endive, big Boston and Romaine lettuce, yellow onions, parsley, parsley root, green peas, radishes and sweet potatoes.

Apples, chestnuts, limes and bananas will be the best fruit buys this weekend. Also good choice will be avocados, coconuts, grapefruit, and oranges.

Best buys in fish this weekend include fillets, oysters, lobsters, halibut and clams.

Party Hors D'Oeuvres

For a party hors d'oeuvre, cook 2 packages frozen artichoke hearts in ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, adding 1 teaspoon instant minced onion softened in 1 tablespoon water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Slice ½ lemon, place slices over artichokes. Do not add water. Cover tightly, cook over low heat until artichokes are tender, about 12 minutes. Serve artichoke hearts cold in their own sauce.

Frozen Potato Balls With Deviled Ham Dip

Small frozen potato puffs are labeled with different names but any of these fluffy browned balls of potato may be served with the dip described below. Heat the balls as directed on package and keep hot while serving in chafing dish if desired. Make dip this way: Mix 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon dried onion flakes, 2 teaspoons frozen lemon juice, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon prepared horseradish, and 2 cans (2¼-oz. each) or 1 can (4½-oz.) deviled ham. Turn dip into serving bowl and provide toothpicks for dipping potatoes into mix. This dip is enough to go with 4 (8-oz.) packages frozen potato balls.

Cream Soup For Packed Lunch

There is just about nothing that can beat the flavor of hot homemade cream soup especially during the cold winter months. It is a thoughtful and nutrition-minded mother who will send her youngsters off to school with a vacuum bottle filled with a piping hot homemade cream soup.

One of the most popular cream soup decipes is this one for Potato-Celery Soup. A unique and timesaving feature about this recipe is that the vegetable base can be made up in advance and stored in the refrigerator. Just before serving or pouring into the vacuum bottle, the vegetable base is heated with the milk and butter. This way only the amount needed at the time is prepared.

Milk in several forms should be included in the daily diet of every member of the family, especially the rapid growing young members and teen-agers. Besides the Potato-Celery Soup a nourishing packed lunch might include a cheese sandwich with lettuce, celery and carrot sticks, orange or other favorite fruit, cookies and milk purchased at school—a well balanced lunch that contributes essential nutrients to the total days needs. Pour very hot water in the vacuum bottle and let stand for 15 to 20 minutes to heat the bottle before filling it with the hot soup.

POTATO-CELERY SOUP

4 cups potatoes, peeled and cut in ½-inch cubes (6 medium)
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups water
3 chicken bouillon cubes
Salt to taste
Dash pepper
2-½ cups milk
5 tablespoons butter
Chopped parsley

Combine potatoes, celery, onion, water, bouillon cubes and pepper in saucepan; cook over moderate heat until vegetables are tender, about 15 minutes. Most of the water will be absorbed. Chill and store in refrigerator in covered container until ready to use. To prepare soup, add ½ cup milk and 1 tablespoon butter for each cup of vegetable mixture used, add salt to taste; heat and serve or pour into preheated vacuum bottles. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Daily Dinner Table Can Reflect Skill

The fun of holiday cooking over, some homemakers return to daily meal preparation with little enthusiasm. But if you enjoy cooking—the scents and savors of a busy kitchen, the rewards of producing a meal both nourishing and appealing — you know that whatever the time of year, the daily dinner table can reflect your skill.

One January suggestion is hamburger barbecue bake, an easy meat loaf with a nippy flavor to brighten a gray day. The economical meat mixture is enlivened with cheddar cheese, mustard and chili sauce. Prepare your favorite barbecue sauce or heat some of the convenient bottled sauce to serve over the meat. Serve hamburger barbecue bake cut in squares or oblongs along with twice-baked potatoes, a green vegetable and a crunchy red and green cabbage slaw.

Stuffed pork chops are a perennial favorite with the men of the family. Give them a real treat by serving baked pork chops with corn stuffing. The filling over which the savory chops bake combines onions, celery, bread crumbs, flavorsome whole bran cereal and golden whole kernel corn. Accompany the chops with broccoli spears, spiced crabapples and a citrus salad.

Hamburger Barbecue Bake

1½ pounds ground beef
2 cups coarsely grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons chile sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Food Shopping Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Food shoppers can fight that cold weather bugaboo—frozen budgets—with the plentiful supplies of high quality produce at food markets this weekend.

Now here's a closer look at foods in plentiful supply in this area:

Beef leads the features at meat counters this weekend. Roasts of all types will be at favorable prices. In poultry, broilers and fryers will be at popular prices.

Dairy products will be widely featured.

At vegetable counters, the top buys will be broccoli, cabbage, topped carrots, Chinese cabbage, miscellaneous leafy greens, green onions, iceberg lettuce, mushrooms, peppers, and eastern potatoes. Good choices will be bunched beets, eggplant, endive, big Boston and Romaine lettuce, yellow onions, parsley, parsley root, green peas, radishes and sweet potatoes.

Apples, chestnuts, limes and bananas will be the best fruit buys this weekend. Also good choice will be avocados, coconuts, grapefruit, and oranges.

Best buys in fish this weekend include fillets, oysters, lobsters, halibut and clams.

Party Hors D'Oeuvres

For a party hors d'oeuvre, cook 2 packages frozen artichoke hearts in ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, adding 1 teaspoon instant minced onion softened in 1 tablespoon water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Slice ½ lemon, place slices over artichokes. Do not add water. Cover tightly, cook over low heat until artichokes are tender, about 12 minutes. Serve artichoke hearts cold in their own sauce.

Frozen Potato Balls With Deviled Ham Dip

Small frozen potato puffs are labeled with different names but any of these fluffy browned balls of potato may be served with the dip described below. Heat the balls as directed on package and keep hot while serving in chafing dish if desired. Make dip this way: Mix 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon dried onion flakes, 2 teaspoons frozen lemon juice, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon prepared horseradish, and 2 cans (2¼-oz. each) or 1 can (4½-oz.) deviled ham. Turn dip into serving bowl and provide toothpicks for dipping potatoes into mix. This dip is enough to go with 4 (8-oz.) packages frozen potato balls.

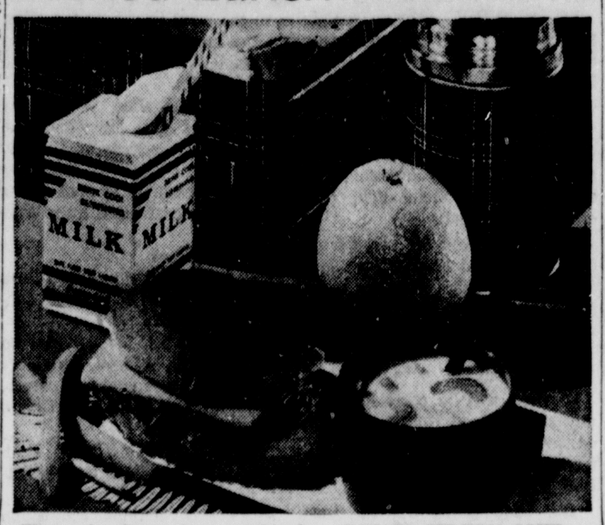
Cream Soup For Packed Lunch



There is just about nothing that can beat the flavor of hot homemade cream soup especially during the cold winter months. It is a thoughtful and nutrition-minded mother who will send her youngsters off to school with a vacuum bottle filled with a piping hot homemade cream soup.

One of the most popular cream soup decipes is this one for Potato-Celery Soup. A unique and timesaving feature about this recipe is that the vegetable base can be made up in advance and stored in the refrigerator. Just before serving or pouring into the vacuum bottle, the vegetable base is heated with the milk and butter. This way only the amount needed at the time is prepared.

Milk in several forms should be included in the daily diet of every member of the family, especially the rapid growing young members and teen-agers. Besides the Potato-Celery Soup a nourishing packed lunch might include a cheese sandwich with lettuce, celery and carrot sticks, orange or other favorite fruit, cookies and milk purchased at school—a well balanced lunch that contributes essential nutrients to the total days needs. Pour very hot water in the vacuum bottle and let stand for 15 to 20 minutes to heat the bottle before filling it with the hot soup.

POTATO-CELERY SOUP

4 cups potatoes, peeled and cut in ½-inch cubes (6 medium)
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups water
3 chicken bouillon cubes
Salt to taste
Dash pepper
2-½ cups milk
5 tablespoons butter
Chopped parsley

Combine potatoes, celery, onion, water, bouillon cubes and pepper in saucepan; cook over moderate heat until vegetables are tender, about 15 minutes. Most of the water will be absorbed. Chill and store in refrigerator in covered container until ready to use. To prepare soup, add ½ cup milk and 1 tablespoon butter for each cup of vegetable mixture used, add salt to taste; heat and serve or pour into preheated vacuum bottles. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Daily Dinner Table Can Reflect Skill

The fun of holiday cooking over, some homemakers return to daily meal preparation with little enthusiasm. But if you enjoy cooking—the scents and savors of a busy kitchen, the rewards of producing a meal both nourishing and appealing — you know that whatever the time of year, the daily dinner table can reflect your skill.

One January suggestion is hamburger barbecue bake, an easy meat loaf with a nippy flavor to brighten a gray day. The economical meat mixture is enlivened with cheddar cheese, mustard and chili sauce. Prepare your favorite barbecue sauce or heat some of the convenient bottled sauce to serve over the meat. Serve hamburger barbecue bake cut in squares or oblongs along with twice-baked potatoes, a green vegetable and a crunchy red and green cabbage slaw.

Stuffed pork chops are a perennial favorite with the men of the family. Give them a real treat by serving baked pork chops with corn stuffing. The filling over which the savory chops bake combines onions, celery, bread crumbs, flavorsome whole bran cereal and golden whole kernel corn. Accompany the chops with broccoli spears, spiced crabapples and a citrus salad.

Hamburger Barbecue Bake

1½ pounds ground beef
2 cups coarsely grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons chile sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup milk
1 cup ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate
2 eggs
1 cup barbecue sauce

Combine all ingredients except barbecue sauce, mixing well. Press into 8 x 8-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 45 minutes. Cut into serving-size pieces. Meanwhile, heat barbecue sauce to boiling point. Pour over Hamburger Barbecue Bake before serving, or pass separately.

Yield: 6-8 servings

This is apple juice time. So keep plenty on hand to serve: (1) chilled with slice of lemon in each glass, as appetizer; (2) chilled with peppermint sticks instead of straws (the youngsters will love this); (3) hot and fragrant, in mugs, with cinnamon stick stirrers.

Danish Fruited Melange

High in the Pleasing and Delighting Department could be this Danish Fruited Melange. For one thing, it looks rich and luscious and extravagant. For another, while it looks rich, it tastes light. The Melange is a great deep froth of whipped cream crowded with fruits . . . . wine-y, sweet-tart prunes lavishly present in big prune-half pieces, juicy chunks of pineapple, mandarin orange segments, banana slices, together with chewy bits of meringue and crunchy toasted almonds.

Danish Fruited Melange

1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup sugar
1 cup plumped pitted prunes, halved
1 cup diced canned pineapple
1 cup mandarin oranges
1 cup sliced bananas
*2 cups broken meringue pieces
6 whole plumped pitted prunes
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds

Whip cream until stiff gradually adding sugar. Fold in prunes, pineapple, mandarin oranges, bananas and meringue pieces. Spoon into serving dishes. Top with prunes and nuts. Makes 6 servings.

*MERINGUE

2 egg whites
½ teaspoon vinegar
2/3 cup sugar

Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in one-third cup of the sugar. Add remaining sugar alternately with vinegar, beating constantly. Beat until very stiff and glossy. Drop by teaspoons in small mounds on brown paper on baking sheet. Bake at 275 degrees, 40-50 minutes or until delicately browned. Cool and crumble enough to make 2 cups of broken pieces.

Note: The remaining meringues can be served with fruit, ice cream or other cream dessert.

Spanish Potato Puffs

Make an entree of leftover or instant mashed potatoes: to 2 cups mashed potatoes, add ½ cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon onion salad dressing mix and 1 well-beaten egg. Wratchford Still Listed 'Critical'

Richard P. Wratchford, 38, of RFD 1, Baltimore Pike, was reported still in "critical" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted Tuesday morning after being found on Martin Mountain.

Mr. Wratchford sustained a fractured skull when he slipped and struck his head on a drainage ditch. He was found approximately 12 hours later lying in a drainage opening.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Trooper John W. McFarland of the State Police went to the scene Tuesday afternoon and reconstructed what apparently happened the night of the accident.

They said Mr. Wratchford had parked his car off U. S. Route 40 directly across from a store. The officers said the man then started across the medial strip which divides the highway, slipped on a patch of ice on the concrete ditch, struck his head, and slid into the drainage opening, which is two feet wide, five feet long and four feet deep. Semi-conscious, he was unable to climb out of the opening.

He was found at 10 a. m. Tuesday by Richard A. Bolt, RFD 3, Frostburg, an inspector for the State Roads Commission who had gone to the drainage area to measure the opening for a cover.

It was first thought Mr. Wratchford had become ill and wandered across the highway after parking his car. However, Mrs. Wratchford told authorities her husband was supposed to stop at the store on his way home from a union meeting.

She said it was his usual procedure to park on the opposite of the highway and walk across the highway to the store.

Will Build Home

The City of Cumberland yesterday issued a permit to Marie K. Holzshu to build a one-story dwelling at 694 Fayette Street. It will be 26 by 40 feet, and of brick veneer construction.

Coal Pipeline

Pennsylvania and Maryland can be considered alternates — they need the right in one or the other but not necessarily in both states to reach the East Coast from West Virginia.

The coal pipeline people say Pennsylvania and Maryland can be considered alternates — they need the right in one or the other but not necessarily in both states to reach the east coast from West Virginia.

The Battle Lines

FOR THE BILL—The Barron administration, Consol, probably some other large coal companies, Texas Eastern and the United Mine Workers.

AGAINST THE BILL — Railroads, railroad unions and operators of smaller coal mines.

At its recent national convention in Bal Harbour, Fla., the AFL-CIO took a stand against the right of eminent domain for the proposed pipeline. The resolution said the project would cost 3,000 railroaders their jobs.

On the other hand, Gov. Barron said that by carrying eight million tons of coal yearly to new markets on the Eastern Seaboard, the pipeline could mean direct additional employment of 2,400 miners in West Virginia.

George S. Parrish of Charleston, executive secretary of the West Virginia Railroad Association, said, "Spokesmen for the pipeline have still not revealed one single, solitary bit of financial data which proves that they will be able to carry coal any cheaper."

Parrish said also that the pipeline backers don't need the right of eminent domain to go ahead with the undertaking. In other words, they could acquire right of way at prices negotiated with landowners.

Asked recently why it couldn't be done this way, Hyslop answered with another question:

"How do we get across the railroads?"

Consol and Texas Eastern say the pipeline would operate as a common carrier of coal. They visualize gathering lines piping slurry from various companies' mines to a central pipeline, much as oil and gas now are collected into pipelines.

Some small coal operators have banded together to fight the project. Charles D. Richards of Middlesboro, Ky., executive secretary of the National Independent Coal Operators, summed up their argument:

"The pipeline, I believe, is designed to give the bigger coal companies a monopoly on coal."

"Hogwash," Says He

"A bunch of hogwash" was Richards' comment on the claim that the pipeline would mean more jobs for miners.

"It will not take any more people to mine the coal than are working at present," he said.

Texas Eastern's Thagard makes the point that a coal pipeline could offer customers a relatively stable price over a long term. His reasoning goes like this:

The cost of mining coal generally hasn't gone up in the past decade. However, price increases have resulted from passing-on of higher rail rates.

A coal pipeline takes a big capital investment, but once it is built the operating cost is low. Thus the bulk of the expense would consist of fixed costs and coal could be offered with reasonable assurance of a comparatively stable price.

"A pipeline is about as inflation-resistant as anything that I know of," Thagard said.

How It's Done

Pumps push the slurry along through the Ohio pipeline at a rate of about 3.75 miles an hour. The slurry is a 50-50 mixture of coal and water. It has to be dried by heat before it can be burned to fire the boilers in the Eastlake power plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

But engineers say a newly developed furnace will eliminate the drying process from future coal slurry operations. The slurry is fed directly into the furnace, which vaporizes the water as it burns the coal.

This furnace, developed by the Babcock & Wilcox Co., was tested recently at the South Amboy, N. J., plant of the Jersey Central Power & Light Co., using slurry hauled there by barge.

Grades were kept under 10 per cent in construction of the Ohio pipeline. Engineers figured that, otherwise, the pumps might not be able to keep the slurry flowing.

Now engineers have come up with what they call a "stabilized slurry" after research to improve the coal sizing and mixing processes. The new slurry, soon to be used in the Ohio pipeline, is 60 per cent coal and 40 per cent water.

Hyslop said that with the improved slurry, the grades of Mountainous West Virginia would not be a limiting factor in building a coal pipeline.

Clarence Lippel, local attorney, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club today at 12:15 p.m. at Cntral YMCA.

Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, will elect officers at a meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Labor Temple on South Liberty Street. Refreshments will be served, and all members are asked to attend.

Wratchford Still Listed 'Critical'

Richard P. Wratchford, 38, of RFD 1, Baltimore Pike, was reported still in "critical" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted Tuesday morning after being found on Martin Mountain.

Mr. Wratchford sustained a fractured skull when he slipped and struck his head on a drainage ditch. He was found approximately 12 hours later lying in a drainage opening.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Trooper John W. McFarland of the State Police went to the scene Tuesday afternoon and reconstructed what apparently happened the night of the accident.

They said Mr. Wratchford had parked his car off U. S. Route 40 directly across from a store. The officers said the man then started across the medial strip which divides the highway, slipped on a patch of ice on the concrete ditch, struck his head, and slid into the drainage opening, which is two feet wide, five feet long and four feet deep. Semi-conscious, he was unable to climb out of the opening.

He was found at 10 a. m. Tuesday by Richard A. Bolt, RFD 3, Frostburg, an inspector for the State Roads Commission who had gone to the drainage area to measure the opening for a cover.

It was first thought Mr. Wratchford had become ill and wandered across the highway after parking his car. However, Mrs. Wratchford told authorities her husband was supposed to stop at the store on his way home from a union meeting.

She said it was his usual procedure to park on the opposite of the highway and walk across the highway to the store.

Pennsylvania and Maryland can be considered alternates — they need the right in one or the other but not necessarily in both states to reach the East Coast from West Virginia.

The coal pipeline people say Pennsylvania and Maryland can be considered alternates — they need the right in one or the other but not necessarily in both states to reach the east coast from West Virginia.

The Battle Lines

FOR THE BILL—The Barron administration, Consol, probably some other large coal companies, Texas Eastern and the United Mine Workers.

AGAINST THE BILL — Railroads, railroad unions and operators of smaller coal mines.

At its recent national convention in Bal Harbour, Fla., the AFL-CIO took a stand against the right of eminent domain for the proposed pipeline. The resolution said the project would cost 3,000 railroaders their jobs.

On the other hand, Gov. Barron said that by carrying eight million tons of coal yearly to new markets on the Eastern Seaboard, the pipeline could mean direct additional employment of 2,400 miners in West Virginia.

George S. Parrish of Charleston, executive secretary of the West Virginia Railroad Association, said, "Spokesmen for the pipeline have still not revealed one single, solitary bit of financial data which proves that they will be able to carry coal any cheaper."

Parrish said also that the pipeline backers don't need the right of eminent domain to go ahead with the undertaking. In other words, they could acquire right of way at prices negotiated with landowners.

Asked recently why it couldn't be done this way, Hyslop answered with another question:

"How do we get across the railroads?"

Consol and Texas Eastern say the pipeline would operate as a common carrier of coal. They visualize gathering lines piping slurry from various companies' mines to a central pipeline, much as oil and gas now are collected into pipelines.

Some small coal operators have banded together to fight the project. Charles D. Richards of Middlesboro, Ky., executive secretary of the National Independent Coal Operators, summed up their argument:

"The pipeline, I believe, is designed to give the bigger coal companies a monopoly on coal."

"Hogwash," Says He

"A bunch of hogwash" was Richards' comment on the claim that the pipeline would mean more jobs for miners.

"It will not take any more people to mine the coal than are working at present," he said.

Texas Eastern's Thagard makes the point that a coal pipeline could offer customers a relatively stable price over a long term. His reasoning goes like this:

The cost of mining coal generally hasn't gone up in the past decade. However, price increases have resulted from passing-on of higher rail rates.

A coal pipeline takes a big capital investment, but once it is built the operating cost is low. Thus the bulk of the expense would consist of fixed costs and coal could be offered with reasonable assurance of a comparatively stable price.

"A pipeline is about as inflation-resistant as anything that I know of," Thagard said.

How It's Done

Pumps push the slurry along through the Ohio pipeline at a rate of about 3.75 miles an hour. The slurry is a 50-50 mixture of coal and water. It has to be dried by heat before it can be burned to fire the boilers in the Eastlake power plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

But engineers say a newly developed furnace will eliminate the drying process from future coal slurry operations. The slurry is fed directly into the furnace, which vaporizes the water as it burns the coal.

This furnace, developed by the Babcock & Wilcox Co., was tested recently at the South Amboy, N. J., plant of the Jersey Central Power & Light Co., using slurry hauled there by barge.

Grades were kept under 10 per cent in construction of the Ohio pipeline. Engineers figured that, otherwise, the pumps might not be able to keep the slurry flowing.

Now engineers have come up with what they call a "stabilized slurry" after research to improve the coal sizing and mixing processes. The new slurry, soon to be used in the Ohio pipeline, is 60 per cent coal and 40 per cent water.

Hyslop said that with the improved slurry, the grades of Mountainous West Virginia would not be a limiting factor in building a coal pipeline.

Barron Favors Consumer Sales Tax Extension

Cites Progress Of State Programs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron did not ask directly for extension of the 3 per cent consumer sales tax but made it clear to the Legislature Wednesday he is in favor of continuing the rate beyond its June 30 expiration date.

Addressing a joint session of the Legislature about 90 minutes after the lawmakers convened their fourth 30-day budget session, Barron said he did not believe "there is any question among our citizens that the extra penny on the consumer sales tax has been well spent on essential services during the past year."

"The fine program — including emergency employment, the statewide clean - up and many projects on roads and in conservation — have been very favorably accepted," the chief executive said.

In recommending approval of legislation to grant coal - pipeline builders the right of eminent domain, Barron said such legislative approval "can make possible the economical transition to new and increased coal markets with their resultant employment of more of our citizens and notable progress for the entire state."

Barron's 19 - minute speech touched heavily on the need for more highway safety and for an additional 70 State Policemen. Barron said the State Police should be given authority to assign men exclusively to highway duty.

Barron also recommended exstion of vocational education to 16 and 17-year-old high school dropouts, most of whom "are right now loafing in West Virginia communities..."

The governor said that following the session he plans to work with key school leaders in developing a major school improvement program "that will guarantee to lift education to its proper level in West Virginia — and equally guarantee our teachers conditions which will make top-flight, modern instruction possible."

Oakland Ends Fiscal Year With Balance

OAKLAND—In spite of a payment during December of $11,534.25 to the State Roads Commission, the Town of Oakland ended in 1961 with a cash balance on hand of $26,458.23.

The final monthly report of the year, filed with the Mayor and Council by Mrs. James H. Nordeck, clerk-collector, showed total receipts during the month of $9,381.68. The largest items included $2,472.72 from bank stock tax, $2,876.00 from motor vehicle licenses and $2,308.90 from 1961 taxes.

The payment to the state was for work done by the commission during recent improvements to Oak Street.

Council ordered no parking signs placed on South Center Street between Wilson Street and the NuWay Laundry, the ban to be effective from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Mrs. E. R. Liller requested parking restrictions on Third Street at her home on the corner of Pennington Street. The matter was referred to James Helbig, street commissioner.

Earl Kitzmiller asked council to determine damages done to timber on his property during the laying of a new pipeline in connection with the water plant. His request was referred to the Forestry Department for appraisal.

Interest Seen In Garrett Co. Election Year

OAKLAND — State and county elections will be one of the significant facts about 1962.

The office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections will become of more importance because of elections which occur every four years. It is in this office that candidates for county offices must file on or before March 5, which is 70 days before the May 15 primary election.

The impending election also is expected to stimulate voter registration. Any person 21 years of age or older who will have lived in Garrett County one year on or before November 6 may register now and vote on both the primary election, as well as the general election November 6. Similarly any person who will have reached his twenty-first birthday on or before November 6 may register and vote in the primary election as well.

No one will be permitted to register in the 30 days immediately preceding the primary election. Persons who failed to vote since 1956 must re-register. Their names were removed from the poll books for failure to vote in five years.

There will be nominations for U. S. senator, House of Representative, governor, comptroller, attorney general, state senator, three House of Delegates members, sheriff, treasurer, three county commissioners, three members of the Orphans' Court, clerk of the Circuit Court, state's attorney, register of wills, and county surveyor.

Plan Minstrel

LONACONING — "Valley High Jubilee Minstrel" will be the Valley High Boosters Club musical program to be presented at Valley school auditorium in February. The date has not been set.

Garrett Commissioners Holding Line On Taxation

OAKLAND — Garrett County Commissioners are completing the annual levy for 1962. The deadline is next Monday.

Carl Schell, president, said members are hopeful that the tax rate will not have to be raised. There has been a hike of approximately $2,000,000 in the assessable basis; bringing it close to $42,000,000. The assessable basis last year was $39,558,660.

The increase in the assessable basis comes from new properties placed on the tax books within the past year, and from propertics that had escaped taxation previously. The office of supervisor of assessments also has been attempting to make the tax structure more equitable for all persons.

There was some indication that the tax rate will remain at $2.35 per $100, the same as the past two years. Prior to that it had remained at $2 per $100 of assessable property for a number of years.

Two years ago the commissioners tacked a 35-cent increase on the rate for the first time since 1946. The $2.35 includes a special five-cent rate for fire departments as the result of a special law passed at the 1959 session of the Legislature.

Schell said most of the departments had asked for appropriations similar to those of last year. The Welfare Department figure was less than that of last year with the Health Department slightly higher. The election levy must be increased to take care of the primary and general elections this year.

Schell said the requested budget of the Board of Education showed an increase which required much study. The amount to be allotted to county roads also was due for special study. Last year the Roads Department received $316,732.15; Health Department $33,800; public welfare $76,178.77, Board of Education $434,640.

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer, revealed that the Commissioners had agreed to subsidize the sight conservation clinics in order to guarantee that enough clinics will be held to take care of those in the county in need of and eligible for this service.

Dr. Jones said appointments had been sent out by the Health Department to the most urgent cases to be seen at a clinic next Tuesday at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Farmers Urged To File Conservation Plans Now

KEYSER—Farmers who are interested in establishing soil and water conservation practices on their farms under the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program should fide requests as soon as possible, according to John S. Arnold Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Committee.

Requests to participate in the program must be filed at the county ASCS office in the city building, and the conservation practice approved before work is begun. Final deadline for sign-up under the program is February 12.

Under the 1962 program, farmers may get help averaging about one-half the cost of carrying out such conservation practices as establishing and improving vegetative cover of grasses, legumes or trees for soil protection, installing erosion control structures and practices for the conservation or more efficient use of water. In addition, the program also provides for similar cost-share assistance to farmers in developing soil and water conservation practices beneficial to wildlife. Included are the establishment of wildlife food plots, or habitat, ponds and shallow water areas and other practices which provide important soil and water conservation and wildlife benefits.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is designed to encourage farmers to protect soil, water and woodland resources by sharing the costs of needed conservation measures.

Arnold explained that without this assistance most farmers could not afford to make this needed investment, particularly since the majority of these practices provide little or no immediate return.

Legislature Seeks Delay On Pipeline

Study Group Is Proposed

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—An attempt to put off for a year a decision on the controversial coal pipeline bill was launched in the West Virginia Legislature Wednesday on the opening day of its 1962 session.

The House received and held over for a vote Thursday a resolution to turn the issue over to a between-sessions study commission. The vote could be on adoption of the resolution itself or, more probably, on a motion to send it to committee.

In a 19-minute address to a joint Senate-House meeting, Gov. W. W. Barron said the pipeline proposal had been thoroughly investigated by his administration. He urged passage during the 30-day session.

"Coal is West Virginia's greatest natural resource, and the economical growth of the state depends upon our ability to deliver this resource by a method competitive to atomic power and residual oil," Barron said.

The legislation, fought vigorously by coal-hauling railroads and rail unions, is intended to clear the way for construction of a pipeline to transport coal mixed with water from West Virginia to East Coast markets.

The pipeline measure was among those introduced in both houses Wednesday with administration backing. It would give pipeline companies the power to acquire right-of-way by condemnation and put them under public service commission regulation.

Barron Favors Consumer Sales Tax Extension

Cites Progress Of State Programs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron did not ask directly for extension of the 3 per cent consumer sales tax but made it clear to the Legislature Wednesday he is in favor of continuing the rate beyond its June 30 expiration date.

Addressing a joint session of the Legislature about 90 minutes after the lawmakers convened their fourth 30-day budget session, Barron said he did not believe "there is any question among our citizens that the extra penny on the consumer sales tax has been well spent on essential services during the past year."

"The fine program — including emergency employment, the statewide clean - up and many projects on roads and in conservation — have been very favorably accepted," the chief executive said.

In recommending approval of legislation to grant coal - pipeline builders the right of eminent domain, Barron said such legislative approval "can make possible the economical transition to new and increased coal markets with their resultant employment of more of our citizens and notable progress for the entire state."

Barron's 19 - minute speech touched heavily on the need for more highway safety and for an additional 70 State Policemen. Barron said the State Police should be given authority to assign men exclusively to highway duty.

Barron also recommended exsion of vocational education to 16 and 17-year-old high school dropouts, most of whom "are right now loafing in West Virginia communities..."

The governor said that following the session he plans to work with key school leaders in developing a major school improvement program "that will guarantee to lift education to its proper level in West Virginia — and equally guarantee our teachers conditions which will make topflight, modern instruction possible."

Oakland Ends Fiscal Year With Balance

OAKLAND—In spite of a payment during December of $11,534.25 to the State Roads Commission, the Town of Oakland ended in 1961 with a cash balance on hand of $26,458.23.

The final monthly report of the year, filed with the Mayor and Council by Mrs. James H. Nordeck, clerk-collector, showed total receipts during the month of $9,381.68. The largest items included $2,472.72 from bank stock tax, $2,876.00 from motor vehicle licenses and $2,308.90 from 1961 taxes.

The payment to the state was for work done by the commission during recent improvements to Oak Street.

Council ordered no parking signs placed on South Center Street between Wilson Street and the NuWay Laundry, the ban to be effective from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Mrs. E. R. Liller requested parking restrictions on Third Street at her home on the corner of Pennington Street. The matter was referred to James Helbig, street commissioner.

Earl Kitzmiller asked council to determine damages done to timber on his property during the laying of a new pipeline in connection with the water plant. His request was referred to the Forestry Department for appraisal.

Interest Seen In Garrett Co. Election Year

OAKLAND — State and county elections will be one of the significant facts about 1962.

The office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections will become of more importance because of elections which occur every four years. It is in this office that candidates for county offices must file on or before March 5, which is 70 days before the May 15 primary election.

The impending election also is expected to stimulate voter registration. Any person 21 years of age or older who will have lived in Garrett County one year on or before November 6 may register now and vote on both the primary election, as well as the general election November 6. Similarly any person who will have reached his twenty-first birthday on or before November 6 may register and vote in the primary election as well.

No one will be permitted to register in the 30 days immediately preceding the primary election. Persons who failed to vote since 1956 must re-register. Their names were removed from the poll books for failure to vote in five years.

There will be nominations for U. S. senator, House of Representative, governor, comptroller, attorney general, state senator, three House of Delegates members, sheriff, treasurer, three county commissioners, three members of the Orphans' Court, clerk of the Circuit Court, state's attorney, register of wills, and county surveyor.

Plan Minstrel

LONACONING — "Valley High Jubilee Minstrel" will be the Valley High Boosters Club musical program to be presented at Valley school auditorium in February. The date has not been set.

Garrett Commissioners Holding Line On Taxation

OAKLAND — Garrett County Commissioners are completing the annual levy for 1962. The deadline is next Monday.

Carl Schell, president, said members are hopeful that the tax rate will not have to be raised. There has been a hike of approximately $2,000,000 in the assessable basis; bringing it close to $42,000,000. The assessable basis last year was $39,558,660.

The increase in the assessable basis comes from new properties placed on the tax books within the past year, and from properties that had escaped taxation previously. The office of supervisor of assessments also has been attempting to make the tax structure more equitable for all persons.

There was some indication that the tax rate will remain at $2.35 per $100, the same as the past two years. Prior to that it had remained at $2 per $100 of assessable property for a number of years.

Two years ago the commissioners tacked a 35-cent increase on the rate for the first time since 1946. The $2.35 includes a special five-cent rate for fire departments as the result of a special law passed at the 1959 session of the Legislature.

Schell said most of the departments had asked for appropriations similar to those of last year. The Welfare Department figure was less than that of last year with the Health Department slightly higher. The election levy must be increased to take care of the primary and general elections this year.

Schell said the requested budget of the Board of Education showed an increase which required much study. The amount to be allotted to county roads also was due for special study. Last year the Roads Department received $316,732.15; Health Department $33,800; public welfare $76,178.77, Board of Education $434,640.

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer, revealed that the Commissioners had agreed to subsidize the sight conservation clinics in order to guarantee that enough clinics will be held to take care of those in the county in need of and eligible for this service.

Dr. Jones said appointments had been sent out by the Health Department to the most urgent cases to be seen at a clinic next Tuesday at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Farmers Urged To File Conservation Plans Now

KEYSER—Farmers who are interested in establishing soil and water conservation practices on their farms under the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program should fide requests as soon as possible, according to John S. Arnold Jr., chairman of the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Committee.

Requests to participate in the program must be filed at the county ASCS office in the city building, and the conservation practice approved before work is begun. Final deadline for sign-up under the program is February 12.

Under the 1962 program, farmers may get help averaging about one-half the cost of carrying out such conservation practices as establishing and improving vegetative cover of grasses, legumes or trees for soil protection, installing erosion control structures and practices for the conservation or more efficient use of water. In addition, the program also provides for similar cost-share assistance to farmers in developing soil and water conservation practices beneficial to wildlife. Included are the establishment of wildlife food plots, or habitat, ponds and shallow water areas and other practices which provide important soil and water conservation and wildlife benefits.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is designed to encourage farmers to protect soil, water and woodland resources by sharing the costs of needed conservation measures.

Arnold explained that without this assistance most farmers could not afford to make this needed investment, particularly since the majority of these practices provide little or no immediate return.

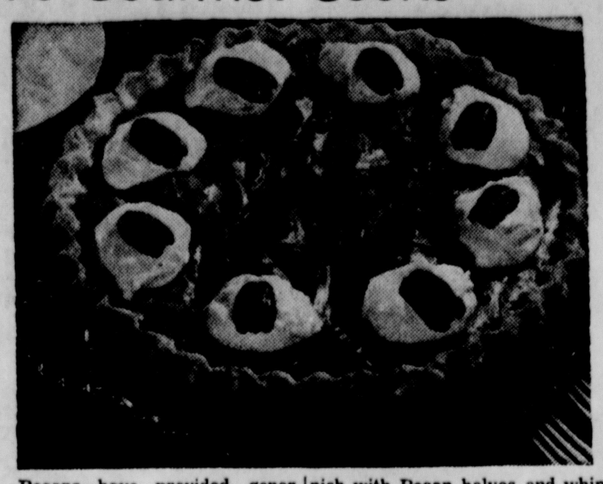
Pecan Pies Add Laurels To Gourmet Cooks



Pecans have provided generations of Americans with wonderfully good feasting since the Spanish explorers found the American Indians enjoying them back in the 16th century. Xavier Charlevoix, a French missionary who journeyed down the Mississippi to New Orleans, wrote in the log of his journey, "Among the fruits that are peculiar to this country, the most remarkable are the pecans."

Authentic reports of brother officers show that General Washington was fond of pecans and often had them in his pockets. Under the date of 1794 his diary records the planting of pecan trees about his home at Mount Vernon. During this period, Thomas Jefferson was also greatly interested in "paccans" as they were sometimes called.

The popularity of pecans as a gourmet treat increased as they became better known across the country. They became that mysterious ingredient as adventuresome cooks began adding them to their prize recipes for that indescribable extra good flavor that drew lavish compliments from family and guests.

Since colonial days pecan pies have been the epitome of luxurious desserts. Good cooks have dreamed up their own private versions of this palate pleasing confection and today many families jealously guard their pet recipe. Here are several which are guaranteed to have the most diet conscious guest picking up his dessert fork with alacrity. The next time you want to demonstrate your ability as a gourmet cook try one of these!

Beef Stew With Spanish Flavor

Your stew will have a delightfully different flavor when prepared this way: first saute 1-½ lbs. cubed stewing beef in 3 or 4 tablespoons Spanish olive oil; when meat is browned, add 1 large or 2 medium onions, sliced, and cook over lowered heat until onion is soft. Add 2 teaspoons garlic-flavored salad dressing mix, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 medium can (1 lb.) of tomatoes, and ½ cup orange juice. Simmer, covered, over very low heat for 2 hours.

Operatic Dessert

Pears Helene, the French classic, derives its name from the heroine of Offenbach's opera, La Belle Helene. To make this delectable dessert: Melt 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot water, blend in ¼ cup sugar, and add ⅔ cup syrup from a can of pear halves. Remove from heat, add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spoon vanilla ice cream into dessert dishes, top each dish with 2 pear halves, and add the sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Baked Pork Chops With Corn Stuffing

2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
¼ cup finely cut celery
2 tablespoons shortening
4 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup whole bran cereal
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 cup (8½-oz. can) drained whole kernel corn
½-⅔ cup liquid drained from corn, stock or milk
6 pork chops ½ inch thick
½ teaspoon salt

Cook onions and celery in heated shortening until soft. Combine bread crumbs, whole bran cereal, seasonings, corn and liquid; add cooked onions and celery, mixing lightly. Spread in greased 10 x 6-inch baking pan or shallow casserole.

Trim excess fat from pork chops. Arrange pork chops over stuffing; sprinkle with salt. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 30 minutes; uncover and bake 15 minutes longer or until tender. Brown chops under broiler, if desired.

Yield: 6 servings

No-Bread Apple Snack

Weight watching? Satisfy that craving for nourishment with a few no-bread sandwiches for lunch. Wash a big crisp apple, core and cut cross-wise into ¼-inch slices. Spread half the slices with protein-rich peanut butter and top with the other apple slices.

As an accompaniment with fresh pork, serve heated canned apple slices dusted with powdered sage. Very tasty!

Sour Cream For Entrees

The last minute addition of sour cream to a hot main dish is often times the best way to turn an ordinary entree into something extra special. The slightly tangy flavor and creamy smooth consistancy adds a gourmet touch of elegances to many meats, poultry and fish dishes.

Important to remember when using dairy sour cream in hot dishes is its sensitivity to high temperature. Sour cream has a tendency to curdle if allowed to become too hot or if it is held at a high temperature for a period of time. The curdling does not effect the flavor but the dish will not look as apetizing. To avoid curdling, reduce the heat before adding the sour cream, and do not allow it to boil.

Beef and Sour Cream Hungarian is a perfect example of how sour cream can enhance a hot main dish. Serve along with fluffy rice, lemon-buttered broccoli, avacado and beet salad, oil and vinegar dressing, rolls, butter, brownies a la mode and milk.

BEEF AND SOUR CREAM HUNGARIAN

1/3 cup butter
2 pounds beef round or chuck cut into ½ inch cubes
1 cup chopped onions
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ clove garlic, minced
½ cup water
2 cups sour cream

Melt butter in frying pan over low heat. Add beef and onions and brown slowly. Add salt, pepper, garlic and water. Cover tightly and simmer over low heat for one hour or until meat is tender. If needed, additional water may be added during cooking, ½ cup at a time. When tender stir in sour cream and heat, do not boil, stirring constantly. Makes 6 servings.

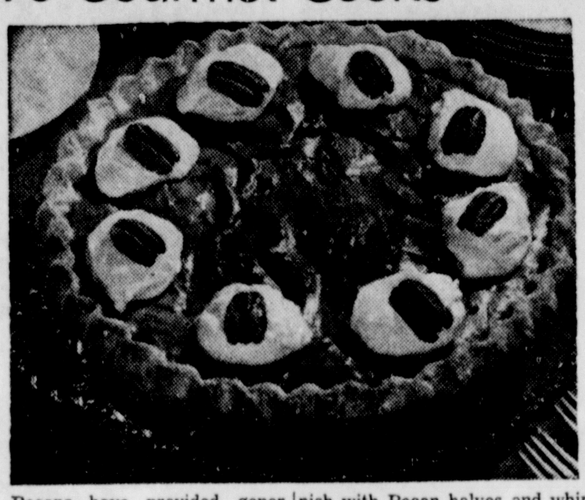
Pecan Pies Add Laurels To Gourmet Cooks



Pecans have provided generations of Americans with wonderfully good feasting since the Spanish explorers found the American Indians enjoying them back in the 16th century. Xavier Charlevoix, a French missionary who journeyed down the Mississippi to New Orleans, wrote in the log of his journey, "Among the fruits that are peculiar to this country, the most remarkable are the pecans."

Authentic reports of brother officers show that General Washington was fond of pecans and often had them in his pockets. Under the date of 1794 his diary records the planting of pecan trees about his home at Mount Vernon. During this period, Thomas Jefferson was also greatly interested in "paccans" as they were sometimes called.

The popularity of pecans as a gourmet treat increased as they became better known across the country. They became that mysterious ingredient as adventuresome cooks began adding them to their prize recipes for that indescribable extra good flavor that drew lavish compliments from family and guests.

Since colonial days pecan pies have been the epitome of luxurious desserts. Hornets Bow To Explorers In 89-52 Tilt

Sloan, Long Tally 53 Points; Hyndman Loses Sixth Game

LaSalle High's rampaging Explorers made it nine in a row last night, easily turning back the visiting Hyndman High Hornets, 89-52, in a basketball game on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

The unbeaten Explorers trailed only in the opening minutes of the first quarter when Hyndman held brief 2-0 and 4-2 leads, but LaSalle's Johnny Sloan tied the game at 4-4 and then Joe Nolan converted a pair of fouls and added a field goal to put the winners ahead to stay.

Coach George Geatz's quintet built up a commanding 17-point lead in the first period and coasted to their ninth consecutive triumph, handing Hyndman its sixth setback in eight starts.

Sloan and Mike Long scored 53 points between them to head the LaSalle onslaught as four of the Explorer starters hit in the double figures. Sloan topped the scorers with 28 points, followed by Long with 25, Don Harden with 15 and Nolan with 10. Harden hit on nine consecutive foul shots before missing his last try in the final period.

High man for Hyndman was Steve Stouffer with 16 points. Teammate Carl Park followed with 13. Hyndman lost Park, Stouffer and Bob Fichtner on personal fouls in the rough game. The lineups:

Don Harman paced the Keyser attack with 21 points as the Tornado overcame a 14-10 deficit in the second period and went ahead to stay. The Eagles several times came within two points but could not quite catch the Tornado tossers in the second half.

Dukes Wallop Dayton, 79-59

Somerset Paces Scorers With 32

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Willie Somerset scored 32 points Wednesday night to lead the seventh-ranked Duquesne Dukes to a 79-59 victory over the Dayton Flyers who failed to cope with the host team's tight defense.

Dayton led at 1-0 when the Dukes went into high gear on sophomore Somerset's superb shooting to take a lead which they never relinquished. The Flyers came within four points but the Dukes managed to stay in front to hold a 41-36 advantage at the intermission.

The roof caved in on Dayton, which now has a 9-3 record, about midway through the second half when the Dukes reeled off 12 straight points to 2 for the visitors. From that point on the Flyers could never get closer than 10 points.

Aiding Somerset was Clyde Arnold whose rebounding was an important factor in addition to his 17-point contribution. Bill Chmielewski was high for the Flyers with 21 points.

The Dukes, who are 10-1 for the season, hit 49 per cent from the field to 35 per cent for Dayton.

Charles Town Track Dispute Hearing Scheduled

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A dispute over the assessed valuation of Charles Town race track property came to the State Supreme court Wednesday.

On joint motion of the parties, the Jefferson County Circuit Court certified its rulings on the case to the appeals court for review.

The Jefferson County assessor placed a 1961 valuation of $1,225,000 on a 79½-acre track and buildings owned by Charles Town Properties Inc., owner and operator of the Eastern Panhandle horse track.

The county court, sitting as a board of equalization and review, later entered an order raising the valuation to $1,909,500.

On appeal by Charles Town Properties, the Circuit Court set aside the county court order on the grounds that it failed to show how the increase was allocated and that the taxpayer was refused this information.

However, the circuit court ordered a hearing on the whole matter. In the proceeding before the Supreme Court, Charles Town Properties raises the question of whether the Circuit Court has jurisdiction to hold the hearing.

Hornets Bow To Explorers In 89-52 Tilt

Sloan, Long Tally 53 Points; Hyndman Loses Sixth Game

LaSalle High's rampaging Explorers made it nine in a row last night, easily turning back the visiting Hyndman High Hornets, 89-52, in a basketball game on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

The unbeaten Explorers trailed only in the opening minutes of the first quarter when Hyndman held brief 2-0 and 4-2 leads, but LaSalle's Johnny Sloan tied the game at 4-4 and then Joe Nolan converted a pair of fouls and added a field goal to put the winners ahead to stay.

Coach George Geatz's quintet built up a commanding 17-point lead in the first period and coasted to their ninth consecutive triumph, handing Hyndman its sixth setback in eight starts.

Sloan and Mike Long scored 53 points between them to head the LaSalle onslaught as four of the Explorer starters hit in the double figures. Sloan topped the scorers with 28 points, followed by Long with 25, Don Harden with 15 and Nolan with 10. Harden hit on nine consecutive foul shots before missing his last try in the final period.

High man for Hyndman was Steve Stouffer with 16 points. Teammate Carl Park followed with 13. Hyndman lost Park, Stouffer and Bob Fichtner on personal fouls in the rough game. The lineups:

NCAA Lifts Arizona Probation But Rejects Appeal By Indiana

Backs Plans To Organize Federation

Football Coaches Call For Drastic Change In Helmets

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The NCAA's executive committee Wednesday endorsed wholeheartedly proposed programs to organize a new national federation in track and field and gymnastics, in what was another resounding slap at the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU).

The committee's backing of not only track and gymnastic groups, but also the basketball federation already in the making, came in the NCAA 56th annual convention after the policy-making council lifted a one-year probation from the University of Arizona but rejected an appeal by hard-hit Indiana for redress of a four-year penalty.

The announcement of the executive committee's stand on formation of independent federations for three sports further pointed up the rift between the collegiate forces and the AAU, which through the years has been the dominant group in control of international sports participation by the U.S.

Council Must Approve

However, the executive committee's action still must be approved by the 18-member NCAA council Thursday morning and then the matter will go before the full convention Saturday for approval or disapproval.

Both the National Collegiate Track and Gymnastic Coaches Associations just this week petitioned the NCAA to initiate formation of the national federations in their sports. These petitions were approved in the report submitted to the executive committee Wednesday by the special committee on AAU-Olympic relations, headed by Wilbur Johns of UCLA.

In announcing the executive committee's approval of Johns' report, NCAA executive director Walter Byers said: "It is the executive committee's conviction that these new federations will greatly advance and improve these sports in the U.S. in all their phases. And the executive committee pledges its support in any manner necessary to accomplish these worthwhile objectives.

"It is possible other sports will seek national federations."

Hold Off Investigation

Wednesday's action came only two days after Byers had disclosed the NCAA had urged the White House to hold off a possible investigation of its differences with the AAU until "all avenues of negotiations are exhausted."

Another prime development at the NCAA's annual convention was a recommendation by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) calling for drastic changes in construction of football helmets in the wake of a 1961 season in which 37 grid fatalities were recorded.

In all, the coaches group approved four items, including use of two wild card substitutes (one now is allowed). In this connection, the coaches also voted to strike a rules clause which "deplores" use of substitutes to convey plays from the bench.

Council Acts Favorably

Concerning the Arizona case, it has been expected the council might tarry in lifting the one-year probation for illegal football recruiting inflicted a year ago. However, the council acted favorably after an appearance Wednesday morning by Arizona Athletic Director Dick Clausen. Arizona originally had voluntarily reported its recruiting violations to the NCAA.

Indiana was banned April 27, 1960, for four years, from participation in the NCAA's television and national championship programs for illegally recruiting six football prospects at a time (1958) the Hoosier school was on NCAA probation for a similar violation.

Byers said that while the council recognized Indiana's undertaking of corrective measure it did not believe that any modification of the probation was in order.

California Girl Beats World's Best

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP)—Linda Meyers of Bishop, Calif., established herself as a threat for world championship honors Wednesday by winning the women's giant slalom event of the Grindelwald International Ski Races.

The 24-year-old American student, third in the slalom event Tuesday, was first down the 1,100 meter (1,203 yards) giant course and she covered the distance in 1 minute, 33.1 seconds. She beat the world's best.

Two Austrian girls finished close behind, Christl Haas in 1:33.3 and Traudl Hecher in 1:33.8, with the experienced Therese LeDuc of France taking fourth in 1:34 flat.

The next best American showing was that of Barbara Ferries, 17-year-old Aspen, Colo., girl, who finished sixth in 1:35. Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., tied with Barbi Henneberger of West Germany for 15th in 1:36.8. Joan Hannah of Franconia, N.H., was 30th in 1:40.

More than 90 women skiers from 18 nations are competing in the first major European tuneup for the World Alpine Championships next month at Chamonix, France.

Dodger Park Will Be Ready

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Construction of the Dodgers' baseball stadium is far ahead of schedule and there's no question the park will be ready for opening day April 10, the contractors said Wednesday.

Even in the unlikely event of rain that would hamper construction they're prepared to carry on, said Jack Yount, vice president of Vinnell Constructors.

Foss Given New 5-Year Pact By AFL

League Meeting Ends In Harmony

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Directors of the American Football League ended their winter meeting on a harmonious note Wednesday, giving Commissioner Joe Foss a new five-year contract and pledging an all-out effort to stay alive.

The anticipated renewal of a bitter clash between Foss, the ex-Marine flying ace of World War II, and Harr Wismer, president of the New York Titans, failed to materialize.

The owners voted unanimously to tear up Foss' contract, which was to expire this year, and give him a new one with an undisclosed boost in pay.

Wismer was present at the after-midnight session when word was announced of the league's support of Foss, and said he wasn't mad at anybody, Foss included.

There was no demand by Wismer, as he had previously promised, to move the league headquarters from Dallas to New York.

In a final session Wednesday morning, Foss named a committee composed of Wayne Valley of Oakland, Ralph Wilson of Buffalo and Lamar Hunt of Dallas to study ways and means of gaining a better balace between the eight clubs.

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP)—Yama Bahama of Bimini, 7th ranked middleweight, knocked out Don Carrano of Washington, D.C., in 1:04 of the 7th round Tuesday night.

Donovan, Nieman Come To Terms

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Dick Donovan, the stingiest pitcher in the American League, and veteran utility outfielder Bob Nieman are the latest players to come to terms with the Cleveland Indians.

Donovan led American League pitchers last season in the earned run average department with a glittering 2.40 mark. The veteran righthander won 10 and lost 10 in 1961 but his first five losses were by one run margins.

Nieman joined Cleveland last May when he was purchased on waivers from St. Louis of the National League. He was used mainly for pinch hitting and utility duty and had a .354 average in 39 games.

Beagle Club Plans Sanctioned Trophy Trial On Weekend

Each place hound will receive a trophy in this trial, Stitcher stated. Judges will be William Risch of Davidsville, Pa., and Henry Lamb of New Florence, Pa., for the 13-inch class and Gene Glasser, Derry, Pa., and James Rager, Latrobe, Pa., in the 15-inch group.

NFL Signs TV Pact; To Get $9.3 Million

Baltimore Receives Less Under Contract

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — National Football League signed a two-year $9.3 million television contract with a single network (CBS) Wednesday under which each of the 14 clubs will receive about $320,000 a year.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the only club that would receive less for its TV rights was Baltimore, which worked with a different network last season. Pittsburgh, which also had a separate deal, will receive about the same as last year, Rozelle said.

"All the other clubs will receive appreciably more," he said. "All 14 clubs are happy. Equality of competition has been the greatest single factor in the success of the league.

Rozelle said all the clubs, except Dallas, made money during the past season. He re-emphasized there was no talk of merger with the rival American Football League.

Under the old agreement, each club made separate deals with networks or sponsors. A league contract with one network (CBS) was negotiated last April but was nullified in July when a federal judge ruled it violated an anti-trust law.

A bill, introduced by Rep Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., was signed in October by President Kennedy. The law exempts pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey leagues from anti-trust law in the area of a single network TV contract.

Walker Guilty In Bribe Case

Sentence Deferred Until February 18

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A New York trucking firm employe pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of conspiring to bribe three college basketball players to shave points in basketball games.

Superior Court Judge Henry L. Stevens Jr. deferred until Feb. 18 the sentencing of Paul Walker, 30. No testimony was taken in the case.

Walker pleaded guilty to six counts of conspiracy to bribe and bribery. He was accused of giving $1,250 to North Carolina State college Capt. Stan Niewierowski and $1,000 to N.C. State's Don Gallagher to shave points in the N.C. State-Maryland game of Feb. 13, 1960, played in Raleigh.

On the other charge, Walker was accused of conspiracy to offer a $1,000 bribe to South Carolina player Mike Callahan in the South Carolina-N.C. State game in the first round of the 1959 Atlantic Coast Conference tournament here.

The swift action in the case came on the heels of sweeping indictments returned Tuesday by the Wake County grand jury. The jury returned indictments against 10 men. They were named in 65 charges resulting from the nationwide basketball point-fixing scandal.

Dick Weber Grabs Huge Lead In All-Star Event

Wins Eight Games In Bowling Finals; Women Leaders Tie

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Dick Weber of St. Louis, who slipped into the finals by the margin of one pin, grabbed a commanding lead Wednesday in the $100,000 National All-Star bowling tournament.

He swept four games from Don Carter of St. Louis in the opening block, then came back to win four straight from Lou Campi, Dumont, N.J., in the second round.

Weber piled up a 43-35 point total—43 Petersen points and 35 pins toward his next point. This gave him a comfortable lead over Dick Hoover of St. Louis, and won seven games and totaled 40-43 points.

Weber also led in pins with a 1,785 total for the eight games. Andy Rogoznica of Chicago was second in pins with 1,743, and third in point standings with a 39-43 total.

Shirley Garms of Chicago and Ruby Chong, Oakland, Calif., tied for first place in the women's division. Mrs. Garms and Mrs. Chong won three games, lost one, and scored 844 pins for 19-44 totals.

Judy Audsley, Kansas City, was third with 10-39 points and LaVerne Carter of St. Louis was fourth with 19-28 points.

Roy Lown, El Paso, Tex., lefthander and qualifying round leader in the men's division, was in sixth place with 37-29 points. He won five of his first eight matches.

Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., leader in the qualifying in the women's division, lost four straight games Wednesday and was in 16th place—last—with a 15-06 point total.

The match play finals run through Saturday, when winners will be crowned. The men's titlist receives a $15,000 prize and the women's winner gets $5,000.

AAU Says College Won't Cooperate In Gym Program

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union accused the nation's colleges Wednesday of failing to cooperate in the attempt to build up a representative gymnastics team in the United States.

In a formal statement, the AAU said a group of college coaches were issuing misstatements in an attempt to wrest control of the sport from the AAU.

The AAU said six college coaches, headed by Gene Wettstone of Penn State, are seeking to set up a separate organization under National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) jurisdiction.

This is part of the tug-of-war between the AAU and NCAA for control of amateur athletics.

Dick Weber Grabs Huge Lead In All-Star Event

Wins Eight Games In Bowling Finals; Women Leaders Tie

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Dick Weber of St. Louis, who slipped into the finals by the margin of one pin, grabbed a commanding lead Wednesday in the $100,000 National All-Star bowling tournament.

He swept four games from Don Carter of St. Louis in the opening block, then came back to win four straight from Lou Campi, Dumont, N.J., in the second round.

The finals are scored under the Petersen point system, which awards bowlers one point for each game won and another for each 50 pins knocked down.

Weber piled up a 43-35 point total—43 Petersen points and 35 pins toward his next point. This gave him a comfortable lead over Dick Hoover of St. Louis, and won seven games and totaled 40-43 points.

Weber also led in pins with a 1,785 total for the eight games. Andy Rogoznica of Chicago was second in pins with 1,743, and third in point standings with a 39-43 total.

Shirley Garms of Chicago and Ruby Chong, Oakland, Calif., tied for first place in the women's division. Mrs. Garms and Mrs. Chong won three games, lost one, and scored 844 pins for 19-44 totals.

Judy Audsley, Kansas City, was third with 10-39 points and LaVerne Carter of St. Louis was fourth with 19-28 points.

Roy Lown, El Paso, Tex., lefthander and qualifying round leader in the men's division, was in sixth place with 37-29 points. He won five of his first eight matches.

Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., leader in the qualifying in the women's division, lost four straight games Wednesday and was in 16th place—last—with a 15-06 point total.

The match play finals run through Saturday, when winners will be crowned. The men's titlist receives a $15,000 prize and the women's winner gets $5,000.

Ottawa Signs Roy

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Ottawa Rough Riders Wednesday announced the signing of Notre Dame guard Norb Roy for the 1962 Canadian Eastern Football Conference season.

AAU Says College Won't Cooperate In Gym Program

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union accused the nation's colleges Wednesday of failing to cooperate in the attempt to build up a representative gymnastics team in the United States.

In a formal statement, the AAU said a group of college coaches were issuing misstatements in an attempt to wrest control of the sport from the AAU.

The AAU said six college coaches, headed by Gene Wettstone of Penn State, are seeking to set up a separate organization under National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) jurisdiction.

This is part of the tug-of-war between the AAU and NCAA for control of amateur athletics.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:
"My husband's death left me with a child and a mortgaged home. I can't make the $80 monthly payments and live on our $145 monthly Social Security. Yet, if I work and earn over $1200 annually, I lose much or all of the Social Security payments. Could insurance have paid up the mortgage on the home?"

Liston Feuding With Manager; Seeks Title Go

Boxer May Obtain Another Pilot

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Both Al Klein of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission and Morton Witkin, Liston's attorney, confirmed that fact Wednesday.

Klein said also that food concessionaire Jack Nilon had discussed with the commission obtaining a manager's license and that Nilon had Liston in mind.

There was one theory that Nilon conceivably could become Liston's manager while Katz retained his 10 per cent interest in the fighter for the duration of their contract, which has about two years to run.

Nilon was not immediately available for comment.

And while the Liston-Katz feud boiled in Philadelphia, heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said in New York he willing to give Liston a shot at the title "under certain conditions."

Klein, local member of the three man commission, said something definitely is going to happen to the Liston-Katz relationship, but exactly what he was unable to say.

"Liston says he can't get along with Katz, and Katz says he can't get through to Liston," Klein reported. "Each indicates a cooling off toward the other."

Patterson told columnist Milton Gross of the New York Post that he felt Liston deserved a shot at the title. The champion said he is willing to give the Philadelphia challenger a chance but "under the conditions that I ask for.

Crimson Satan Top Weighted

Colt Is Rated Horse To Beat

NEW YORK (AP) — Crimson Satan, Michigan-owned and Kentucky-bred, was assigned top weight of 126 pounds Wednesday in the 1962 experimental free handicap ratings and thus is stamped as the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby and other 3-year old classics.

The weights were assigned to 133 of the 1961 crop of 2-year olds by Thomas E. (Tommy) Trotter, racing secretary and handicapper for The Jockey Club. The weights are theoretical since the experimental handicap, once raced in the spring in New York, has been dropped. Horsemen, however, eagerly await the appraisal each year.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, unbeaten in seven races last year in the Midwest, was given 125 pounds. Verne H. Winchell Jr.'s Donut King, star of the California juveniles, and George D. Widener's Jaipur, one of the top Eastern colts, were next with 124 pounds each. The Christiana Stable's Cyane, who upset Jaipur in the rich futurity stakes at Belmont, rated 123.

Crimson Satan, a chestnut son of Spy Song-Papila, is owned by Peter W. Salmen Sr., and was bred at his Crimson King Farm, Lexington, Ky. In all he won seven of 13 races and earned $302,200. The colt now is in Florida, prepping for Hialeah's Flamingo and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Bradshaw Gets Kentucky Post

Alabama Assistant To Succeed Collier

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Charlie Bradshaw, assistant football coach at Alabama, was named head coach at the University of Kentucky Wednesday.

Bradshaw replaces Blanton Collier, who was fired last Tuesday by the university's Athletics Board.

He began his coaching career at Sidney Lanier High School in his home town of Montgomery, Ala., after his graduation from Kentucky. He moved to Kentucky in 1954 as an end coach and remained there until joining Bryant at Alabama.

Liston Feuding With Manager; Seeks Title Go

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Both Al Klein of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission and Morton Witkin, Liston's attorney, confirmed that fact Wednesday.

Klein said also that food concessionaire Jack Nilon had discussed with the commission obtaining a manager's license and that Nilon had Liston in mind.

There was one theory that Nilon conceivably could become Liston's manager while Katz retained his 10 per cent interest in the fighter for the duration of their contract, which has about two years to run.

Nilon was not immediately available for comment.

And while the Liston-Katz feud boiled in Philadelphia, heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said in New York he willing to give Liston a shot at the title "under certain conditions."

Klein, local member of the three man commission, said something definitely is going to happen to the Liston-Katz relationship, but exactly what he was unable to say.

"Liston says he can't get along with Katz, and Katz says he can't get through to Liston," Klein reported. "Each indicates a cooling off toward the other."

Patterson told columnist Milton Gross of the New York Post that he felt Liston deserved a shot at the title. The champion said he is willing to give the Philadelphia challenger a chance but "under the conditions that I ask for.

"They're not bad conditions," Patterson added. "All I ask for is a fair deal."

Crimson Satan Top Weighted

Colt Is Rated Horse To Beat

NEW YORK (AP) — Crimson Satan, Michigan-owned and Kentucky-bred, was assigned top weight of 126 pounds Wednesday in the 1962 experimental free handicap ratings and thus is stamped as the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby and other 3-year old classics.

The weights were assigned to 133 of the 1961 crop of 2-year olds by Thomas E. (Tommy) Trotter, racing secretary and handicapper for The Jockey Club. The weights are theoretical since the experimental handicap, once raced in the spring in New York, has been dropped. Horsemen, however, eagerly await the appraisal each year.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, unbeaten in seven races last year in the Midwest, was given 125 pounds. Verne H. Winchell Jr.'s Donut King, star of the California juveniles, and George D. Widener's Jaipur, one of the top Eastern colts, were next with 124 pounds each. The Christiana Stable's Cyane, who upset Jaipur in the rich futurity stakes at Belmont, rated 123.

Crimson Satan, a chestnut son of Spy Song-Papila, is owned by Peter W. Salmen Sr., and was bred at his Crimson King Farm, Lexington, Ky. In all he won seven of 13 races and earned $302,200. The colt now is in Florida, prepping for Hialeah's Flamingo and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Bradshaw Gets Kentucky Post

Alabama Assistant To Succeed Collier

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Charlie Bradshaw, assistant football coach at Alabama, was named head coach at the University of Kentucky Wednesday.

Bradshaw played end for Kentucky in 1946-50 and was assistant coach in 1954-59 under Collier.

The announcement of Bradshaw taking the job was made by the Athletics Board. No salary was mentioned immediately.

He began his coaching career at Sidney Lanier High School in his home town of Montgomery, Ala., after his graduation from Kentucky. He moved to Kentucky in 1954 as an end coach and remained there until joining Bryant at Alabama.

Market Drifts Downward Following Profit-Taking

The market narrowed considerably with 1,279 issues traded—26 less than on Tuesday. Of these 552 declined 19 to new lows and 452 advanced, 9 to new 1961-62 highs.

Trading shrank to 3,300,000 shares from 3,600,000 in the prior session. The Dow-Jones industrials closed at 706.02 off 1.62 and Standard & Poor's 500 stocks dropped 0.24.

Ford topped the most active list as it dropped 4 on 117,400 shares. Acitivity in the big motor stock, which opened 90 minutes late, was touched off by an announcement that the company had boosted the dividend and recommended to split the stock 2-for-1.

Ford was followed in the most actives by Brunswick down 2¾, Telautograph, up 1⅛, General Dynamics up ⅜ on a prediction of higher profits in 1962 and General Motors, unchanged. Another active feature was Pennsylvania Railroad, down ⅛.

Market Drifts Downward Following Profit-Taking

The market narrowed considerably with 1,279 issues traded—26 less than on Tuesday. Of these 552 declined 19 to new lows and 452 advanced, 9 to new 1961-62 highs.

Trading shrank to 3,300,000 shares from 3,600,000 in the prior session. The Dow-Jones industrials closed at 706.02 off 1.62 and Standard & Poor's 500 stocks dropped 0.24.

Most blue chip moves were fractional. Steels and Autos were well scrambled. In the chemicals, Allied and Du Pont dropped 1⅛ and 2⅝, respectively.

Ford topped the most active list as it dropped 4 on 117,400 shares. Acitivity in the big motor stock, which opened 90 minutes late, was touched off by an announcement that the company had boosted the dividend and recommended to split the stock 2-for-1.

Ford was followed in the most actives by Brunswick down 2¾, Telautograph, up 1⅛, General Dynamics up ⅜ on a prediction of higher profits in 1962 and General Motors, unchanged. Another active feature was Pennsylvania Railroad, down ⅛.

Paw Paw Man Handed Stiff Jail Sentence

Companion Paroled For 3-Year Period

A Paw Paw, W. Va., man yesterday was handed stiff sentences in connection with burglary and a shooting when he appeared before Judge Gray Silver in Morgan County Circuit Court in Berkeley Springs.

Belmont Spencer was sentenced to from one to 15 years in the West Virginia penitentiary in Moundsville for burglarizing the home of George Denton Powell on September 24 last year and one to five years for unlawfully and maliciously shooting and wounding J. S. Hamilton Sr. of Paw Paw the same day.

Both sentences are to run concurrently, according to Melvin R. Hott, probation officer who gave a report on Spencer.

A companion, Laurence E. Kerns, also of Paw Paw, was placed on parole for a period of three years after he pleaded guilty sometime ago on the burglarizing of the Powell home. Hott also submitted a report on Kerns.

Spencer and Kerns were indicted by the Morgan County grand jury on separate bills.

On September 24 about 4 p.m. the two men broke into the Powell home and took a 12-gauge shotgun and a .22 cal. target pistol, according to authorities, who said that about two hours later Spencer shot Hamilton, who lives in the neighborhood of the Powell home.

Authorities indicated that Spencer had previous trouble with Hamilton, who was hospitalized as a result of being "glazed" by the shotgun blast.

The two men were arrested by Chief Roy Roby of Paw Paw and turned over to West Virginia State Police for further action.

Kelly Workers Give Blood

Kelly Employes Give 224 Pints Of Blood Here

ABL Visit Set In February

Officials of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross last night were well pleased with workers of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant who donated 224 pints of blood when the bloodmobile unit from Johnstown, Pa., visited the industrial plant yesterday.

Mrs. John Lohnas, blood recruitment chairman in Cumberland, lauded the employes for their "very fine turnout" and pointed out that the Johnstown Center would be "glad to see a good shipment" from this area.

Some 302 employes of the plant were scheduled to give blood yesterday, according to Mrs. Lohnas, who said 252 of the workers kept their appointments, and there were eight "walk-ins."

A total of 36 workers were rejected and 51 persons gave blood for the first time, she said.

T. C. Fritz Jr. of Cresaptown and Orval Rhodes of 9 Roberts Street joined the three-gallon club yesterday. Those who qualified for the two-gallon club are George Amato, 202 Main Street, Ridgeley, and Herbert W. Witt, of Potomac Park.

One-gallon club members include Vernon Northcraft, 434 Walnut Street; Louis E. Stitcher, 417 Valley Street; and Curtis Johnson, RD 1, Frostburg.

Physicians on duty yesterday were Dr. Oliver H. Nadeau, Dr. Wylie M. Faw, and Dr. Lewis Brings.

Mrs. Lohnas said the bloodmobile unit will visit Allegany Ballistics Laboratory on February 5 and 6.

17 Scholarships Available For County Youths

Examinations Set Here February 3

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer yesterday reminded the county high school principals at their monthly meeting at the Board of Education office that some 17 college scholarships will be at stake February 3 when a test is given for high school seniors and graduates at Allegany High School.

Applications for those planning to take the tests must be submitted to the principals of public and Catholic high schools of the county by Wednesday, January 17. The examination will be given from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, February 3, at Allegany.

Three types of scholarships are available but one examination will be given for all three types. First there are openings for three senatorial scholarships in this county, to seniors interested in attending Hood College, Maryland Institute of Art and St. John's College.

Then there are seven teacher education scholarships available for this county in privately-endowed colleges of Maryland. These are worth $500 a year, subject to renewal, for tuition and other expenses. High school seniors and graduates now attending college may take the examination for these scholarships.

Finally, there are seven new general state tuition scholarships available in this county for high school seniors and graduates who have never attended college. These scholarships are worth up to $500 per year and are renewable, but the funds are exclusively for tuition.

The University of Maryland is not included among institutions to which these scholarships are available.

At Tuesday's principals' meeting, Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, submitted a report on a study of a committee he heads on financial receipts and expenditures of high schools of the county. The study will continue another month.

Coal Pipeline Controversy Growing In West Virginia

Editor's Note: While the major coal producers see the use of pipelines as a big factor in their comeback struggle, there is growing opposition to their use by railroads, among others. The issue is coming to a head in West Virginia. The following last of four articles on coal spotlights the situation.

BY HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A bold plan to transport coal from West Virginia 400 miles to the East Coast by pipe is brewing a hot fight in the state legislature.

The plan, part of coal's drive for a comeback by cutting costs in the marketplace, could drive a wedge between the industry and its longtime economic ally, the railroads.

Chief backers of the proposal are the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., which would build and operate the pipeline, and the giant Consolidation Coal Co., which would be one of the main users.

They say a 108-mile pipeline which has operated commercially in Ohio for almost five years has proved the feasibility of this method of transporting coal. Finely-ground coal is combined with water to form a mixture called slurry for the movement to market by pipe.

Consolidation, known in the industry as "Consol," owns and operates the Ohio line, the only commercial coal pipeline in existence at present. It moves coal slurry from a Consol mine near Cadiz to a Cleveland electric power plant.

Consol sees slurry pipelines as a way the coal industry can drastically cut its transportation costs and win back customers it has lost to natural gas and imported fuel oil.

"We've got to get the price of coal down or we go out of business," said James Hyslop of St. Clairsville, Ohio, vice president of Consol."

Could Halve Cost

Although by no means promising to do the job at such a price, Texas Eastern officials say they could move West Virginia coal to the East Coast by pipeline for half what it would cost by rail.

Enthusiasts for coal pipelines look beyond the immediate competitive situation. W. T. Thagard of Houston, vice president of Texas Eastern, says this is the coal industry's best chance to stay in the running when the day comes that atomic energy is a competitive factor.

Texas Eastern at present operates 9,000 miles of oil and gas pipelines. It got its start in 1947 when it bought the "Big Inch" and 'Little Big Inch" pipelines from the War Assets Administration for $143 million.

Before the Ohio line was built, the Ohio legislature voted coal pipelines the right to acquire property for right of way without owner consent. This power — known as the "right of eminent domain" — now is sought in the states which the West Virginia-to-the-East Coast pipeline would cross.

In an eminent domain, or condemnation, proceeding, court-appointed commissioners fix the price of property being taken for a project that is considered to be in the public interest. Railroads and other public utilities, for example, have the power to acquire right of way in this fashion.

Legislature Gets Problem

Gov. W. W. Barron will ask the West Virginia Legislature to vote the right of eminent domain for coal pipelines in the 30-day session which began here yesterday.

Backers of the pipeline project say they already have the right in New Jersey. That apparently is where the pipeline would terminate, although location details have not been spelled out.

The Delaware House has passed a coal pipeline bill. But the legislature is now in adjournment there and Senate action cannot come until after the lawmakers reconvene Feb. 6.

A bill to give coal pipelines the right of eminent domain passed the House in the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, but died in a Senate committee. An attempt is promised in the Maryland Legislature, but has not yet been made.

The coal pipeline people say

Leak Discovery Brings Recovery To 810,000 Gallons

Water saved during the Pitometer water waste survey reached the 810,000 gallons a day mark last week as one more leak was located.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the leak, wasting an estimated 30,000 gallons of water a day, was in a service line between the main and service box in the 500 block of McMullen Highway.

The flow of several water lines in the downtown area was checked last week.

Concert Group Memberships Still Available

People who have become residents of Cumberland since last April's membership campaign of the Tri-State Community Concert Association may purchase membership for the three remaining attractions at a reduced cost, but the admissions must be secured before the January 16 appearance of Myra Kinch and her dances in Fort Hill auditorium.

Following the dance attraction next week will be Theodore Lettvin, pianist, on February 19, and the 90-piece Buffalo Philharmonic orchestra with Josef Krips as conductor on March 9.

Less than 120 seats are still available in Fort Hill auditorium, hence additional memberships will be limited to the capacity.

Only those who have moved to Cumberland since last spring's campaign are eligible to late membership. Mrs. A. N. Golladay, 403 Washington Street, secretary, will issue membership cards of admission to the three remaining concerts of the current season, but applications must be made no later than Saturday, January 13.

Equity Suits Filed

Four equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Jean Jeffries Taylor vs. Frederick Schofield Taylor, Charles E. Trimble vs. Helen E. Trimble, Lucy M. Kidwell vs. Bennie Kidwell and Richard Knight Broadwater vs. Jean Francis Broadwater.

Fertilizer Blamed For Cows Dying

An Allegany County farmer and his son lost six of their cows which died the other day when the animals broke open a sack of nitrate of soda stored in a barn and consumed a portion of the fertilizer.

A seventh cow, according to Carl J. Browning, of Murley's Branch Road, became ill from the effects of the fertilizer, but survived.

Mr. Browning said the death of two Herefords and four yearlings was due to the nitrate of soda which was on the floor of a barn along Dolly Road in the Flintstone area.

He said he and his son, James E. Browning, who lives at the foot of Martin Mountain, were owners of the six cows which were grazing on leased land along with seven other cows.

The next day when Mr. Browning went to check on his livestock he found one of them dead in the barn and the other five dead in the vicinity of the barn.

The farmer and his son feel other livestock owners should be warned of the danger of nitrate of soda to animals.

Firemen Answer Flue Fire Call

Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived but it started up again shortly afterwards. Only minor damage was reported.

The call was received at 7:20 p. m. and eight men responded.

Good Skating Expected Tonight On Area Rinks

The City Recreation Department said skating will be available at the Gephart School Skating area and on the C&O Canal Recreation area.

Similar good skating will be available on the LaVale Park pond.

The Gephart Playground rink will be open from 6 to 10 p.m.

Hot chocolate will be available from the City Recreation Department, which is providing fires, benches, lighting and music.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said the skating area was flooded yesterday and will have an excellent surface by tonight.

The C&O Canal rec area will also be ready for skating by tonight, barring a change in the weather. Two iron stoves will be on hand so skaters can keep warm, and benches have been placed in the area for changing skates.

The 2,000-foot area was frozen yesterday, but not hard enough for safe skating, as it was cracking under the weight of recreation officials who went to check its condition.

Ice was three inches thick yesterday at the LaVale Park pond and was reported safe for skating by Joseph Dorsey, who has charge of the rink.

DR. deBUTTS

Hercules Promotes Dr. deButts

Dr. Edward H. deButts, an employe of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory when George Washington University operated the facility has been named superintendent of the research division's advanced propellant department.

He is returning to ABL from Hercules Powder Company's Research Center near Wilmington, Del., where he has been employed since August 1951.

While at the Research Center, Dr. deButts has done fundamental research in chemistry.

A process on which he led development work is now being used to manufacture nitrogen tetroxide at Hercules, Calif., for the rocket industry. More recently, he has led a group concerned with the development of various processes for producing new nitrogen chemicals.

Dr. deButts was born in Front Royal, Va., and was reared in Alexandria. After attending public schools in that city, he entered George Washington University, and following graduation in 1943, did research on rockets.

He was employed at ABL from January 1944 to February 1946, when George Washington University operated the laboratory for the Office of Scientific Research and Development. He left ABL to attend the University of Illinois where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1948. Dr. deButts was a chemistry instructor at Harvard University from 1948 until he joined Hercules in 1951.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, of Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon, and is on the board of directors of the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra.

He is married to the former Jacqueline Alderton of Cumberland. Mr. and Mrs. deButts have two sons and a daughter, and the family plans to move to Cumberland at the end of the school year.

B&O Employe Hurt While At Work

George L. Long, 48, of 422 Seymour Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night with injuries he received in an accident while at work for the B&O Railroad.

The hospital said Mr. Long has possible fractures of several ribs and is reported in "satisfactory" condition.

It was reported Mr. Long, a brakeman, received the injury when he fell between two coal hoppers while working in Hagerstown yesterday.

To Meet Today

The newly elected board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will hold its first formal meeting Thursday at noon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Presiding will be Karl W. Bachman, 1962 president.

The agenda for the meeting includes the organization's financial statement, approval of the 1962 budget and reports from the executive, roads, quarters and membership committees.

Area Teamsters Re-elect Four Top Officers

Bramble To Head 1,800-Man Local

Charles E. Bramble, 33 North Mechanic SStreet, this week was re-elected president of Local 453, Teamsters Union here.

He was renamed for three years to the post he has held since 1940 when he defeated Jay P. McCardell Jr., Bedford, in an election held Monday and Tuesday in the Allegany Labor Temple here.

Re-elected were C. E. Stutzman, vice president, who was opposed by Casper Shook; Bernard A. Harris, who defeated John Bolyard to win a three-year term as secretary-treasurer, and Joseph Freno, who was unopposed for the post of recording secretary.

Officials said the bitter winter weather was a factor in the light vote. Members of the Cumberland area are scattered over a wide section, chiefly in the Cumberland and Bedford areas. Some live as much as 100 miles from here.

Local Man Walks Several Miles To Donate Blood

Mrs. Harry Beneman, Red Cross blood chairman, said William Brooks, 451 Pine Avenue, is one of the center's most faithful donors. After donating his pint of blood, he refused all offers of a lift and walked the long distance back to his home.

Mr. Brooks, who is on vacation from his job at the Kelly plant, has donated several gallons of blood during the mobile unit visits here, Mrs. Beneman said.

State Office Aids Vets With Income Forms

Thomas G. Kilduff, assistant state service officer, said the local office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Mr. Kilduff said the annual income questionnaires are sent out each year to veterans or their dependents who receive pension benefits from the Veterans Administration.

He reminded persons who received the questionnaires that January 31 is the deadline for the forms to be sent in to the government. Individuals who fail to send in the questionnaires will not receive any future benefits, Mr. Kilduff said.

The only individuals who do not have to fill out the questionnaires are those who receive service-connected disability benefits.

Since the local field office of the Veterans Administration closed at the end of the year, the office of the Maryland Veterans Commission here has been busy assisting veterans and their dependents.

Many persons in this area are unaware that they can receive aid at the Union Street office on matters pertaining to veterans' affairs. The local office assists Maryland residents as well as persons from nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Kilduff said in the past seven days over 300 persons have received help in filling out their income questionnaires.

Grass Fire Checked On Cash Valley Road

Approximately two and a half acres of land were scorched yesterday afternoon near the home of Thomas Moore on Cash Valley Road.

They said trash was being burned in a barrel but escaping sparks ignited the grass and the wind blew the fire out of control about 1:05 p.m.

Two pieces of equipment were sent to the scene of the blaze and the volunteer fought the flames for nearly half an hour.

Those in the background are waiting their turn to have their temperature taken, blood pressure recorded and answer pertinent questions asked of those who give blood. Some 224 pints of blood were donated yesterday at the local industrial plant. Red Cross officials were well pleased with the splendid turnout. The unit will visit Allegany Ballistics Laboratory next month.

ABL Visit Set In February

Officials of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross last night were well pleased with workers of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant who donated 224 pints of blood when the bloodmobile unit from Johnstown, Pa., visited the industrial plant yesterday.

Mrs. John Lohnas, blood recruitment chairman in Cumberland, lauded the employes for their "very fine turnout" and pointed out that the Johnstown Center would be "glad to see a good shipment" from this area.

Some 302 employes of the plant were scheduled to give blood yesterday, according to Mrs. Lohnas, who said 252 of the workers kept their appointments, and there were eight "walk-ins."

A total of 36 workers were rejected and 51 persons gave blood for the first time, she said.

T. C. Fritz Jr. of Cresaptown and Orval Rhodes of 9 Roberts Street joined the three-gallon club yesterday. Those who qualified for the two-gallon club are George Amato, 202 Main Street, Ridgeley, and Herbert W. Witt, of Potomac Park.

One-gallon club members include Vernon Northcraft, 434 Walnut Street; Louis E. Stitcher, 417 Valley Street; and Curtis Johnson, RD 1, Frostburg.

Physicians on duty yesterday were Dr. Oliver H. Nadeau, Dr. Wylie M. Faw, and Dr. Lewis Brings.

Mrs. Lohnas said the bloodmobile unit will visit Allegany Ballistics Laboratory on February 5 and 6.

17 Scholarships Available For County Youths

Examinations Set Here February 3

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer yesterday reminded the county high school principals at their monthly meeting at the Board of Education office that some 17 college scholarships will be at stake February 3 when a test is given for high school seniors and graduates at Allegany High School.

Applications for those planning to take the tests must be submitted to the principals of public and Catholic high schools of the county by Wednesday, January 17. The examination will be given from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, February 3, at Allegany.

Three types of scholarships are available but one examination will be given for all three types. First there are openings for three senatorial scholarships in this county, to seniors interested in attending Hood College, Maryland Institute of Art and St. John's College.

Then there are seven teacher education scholarships available for this county in privately-endowed colleges of Maryland. These are worth $500 a year, subject to renewal, for tuition and other expenses. High school seniors and graduates now attending college may take the examination for these scholarships.

Finally, there are seven new general state tuition scholarships available in this county for high school seniors and graduates who have never attended college. These scholarships are worth up to $500 per year and are renewable, but the funds are exclusively for tuition.

The University of Maryland is not included among institutions to which these scholarships are available.

At Tuesday's principals' meeting, Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, submitted a report on a study of a committee he heads on financial receipts and expenditures of high schools of the county. The study will continue another month.

Coal Pipeline Controversy Growing In West Virginia

Editor's Note: While the major coal producers see the use of pipelines as a big factor in their comeback struggle, there is growing opposition to their use by railroads, among others. The issue is coming to a head in West Virginia. The following last of four articles on coal spotlights the situation.

BY HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A bold plan to transport coal from West Virginia 400 miles to the East Coast by pipe is brewing a hot fight in the state legislature.

The plan, part of coal's drive for a comeback by cutting costs in the marketplace, could drive a wedge between the industry and its longtime economic ally, the railroads.

The heat generating here may spread to other sections.

Chief backers of the proposal are the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., which would build and operate the pipeline, and the giant Consolidation Coal Co., which would be one of the main users.

They say a 108-mile pipeline which has operated commercially in Ohio for almost five years has proved the feasibility of this method of transporting coal. Finely-ground coal is combined with water to form a mixture called slurry for the movement to market by pipe.

Consolidation, known in the industry as "Consol," owns and operates the Ohio line, the only commercial coal pipeline in existence at present. It moves coal slurry from a Consol mine near Cadiz to a Cleveland electric power plant.

Consol sees slurry pipelines as a way the coal industry can drastically cut its transportation costs and win back customers it has lost to natural gas and imported fuel oil.

"We've got to get the price of coal down or we go out of business," said James Hyslop of St. Clairsville, Ohio, vice president of Consol."

Could Halve Cost

Although by no means promising to do the job at such a price, Texas Eastern officials say they could move West Virginia coal to the East Coast by pipeline for half what it would cost by rail.

Enthusiasts for coal pipelines look beyond the immediate competitive situation. W. T. Thagard of Houston, vice president of Texas Eastern, says this is the coal industry's best chance to stay in the running when the day comes that atomic energy is a competitive factor.

Texas Eastern at present operates 9,000 miles of oil and gas pipelines. It got its start in 1947 when it bought the "Big Inch" and 'Little Big Inch" pipelines from the War Assets Administration for $143 million.

Before the Ohio line was built, the Ohio legislature voted coal pipelines the right to acquire property for right of way without owner consent. This power — known as the "right of eminent domain" — now is sought in the states which the West Virginia-to-the-East Coast pipeline would cross.

In an eminent domain, or condemnation, proceeding, court-appointed commissioners fix the price of property being taken for a project that is considered to be in the public interest. Railroads and other public utilities, for example, have the power to acquire right of way in this fashion.

Legislature Gets Problem

Gov. W. W. Barron will ask the West Virginia Legislature to vote the right of eminent domain for coal pipelines in the 30-day session which began here yesterday.

Backers of the pipeline project say they already have the right in New Jersey. That apparently is where the pipeline would terminate, although location details have not been spelled out.

The Delaware House has passed a coal pipeline bill. But the legislature is now in adjournment there and Senate action cannot come until after the lawmakers reconvene Feb. 6.

A bill to give coal pipelines the right of eminent domain passed the House in the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, but died in a Senate committee. An attempt is promised in the Maryland Legislature, but has not yet been made.

Leak Discovery Brings Recovery To 810,000 Gallons

Water saved during the Pitometer water waste survey reached the 810,000 gallons a day mark last week as one more leak was located.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the leak, wasting an estimated 30,000 gallons of water a day, was in a service line between the main and service box in the 500 block of McMullen Highway.

The flow of several water lines in the downtown area was checked last week.

Fertilizer Blamed For Cows Dying

An Allegany County farmer and his son lost six of their cows which died the other day when the animals broke open a sack of nitrate of soda stored in a barn and consumed a portion of the fertilizer.

A seventh cow, according to Carl J. Browning, of Murley's Branch Road, became ill from the effects of the fertilizer, but survived.

Mr. Browning said the death of two Herefords and four yearlings was due to the nitrate of soda which was on the floor of a barn along Dolly Road in the Flintstone area.

He said he and his son, James E. Browning, who lives at the foot of Martin Mountain, were owners of the six cows which were grazing on leased land along with seven other cows.

The cows managed to get into the barn and broke open the sack of fertilizer which is used by the Brownings on vegetables and fruit trees.

The next day when Mr. Browning went to check on his livestock he found one of them dead in the barn and the other five dead in the vicinity of the barn.

The farmer and his son feel other livestock owners should be warned of the danger of nitrate of soda to animals.

Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived but it started up again shortly afterwards. Only minor damage was reported.

The call was received at 7:20 p. m. and eight men responded.

Concert Group Memberships Still Available

People who have become residents of Cumberland since last April's membership campaign of the Tri-State Community Concert Association may purchase membership for the three remaining attractions at a reduced cost, but the admissions must be secured before the January 16 appearance of Myra Kinch and her dances in Fort Hill auditorium.

Following the dance attraction next week will be Theodore Lettvin, pianist, on February 19, and the 90-piece Buffalo Philharmonic orchestra with Josef Krips as conductor on March 9.

Less than 120 seats are still available in Fort Hill auditorium, hence additional memberships will be limited to the capacity.

Only those who have moved to Cumberland since last spring's campaign are eligible to late membership. Mrs. A. N. Golladay, 403 Washington Street, secretary, will issue membership cards of admission to the three remaining concerts of the current season, but applications must be made no later than Saturday, January 13.

Equity Suits Filed

Four equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Jean Jeffries Taylor vs. Frederick Schofield Taylor, Charles E. Trimble vs. Helen E. Trimble, Lucy M. Kidwell vs. Bennie Kidwell and Richard Knight Broadwater vs. Jean Francis Broadwater.

Good Skating Expected Tonight On Area Rinks

Ice skating rinks of the area will be in top shape tonight.

The City Recreation Department said skating will be available at the Gephart School Skating area and on the C&O Canal Recreation area.

Similar good skating will be available on the LaVale Park pond.

The Gephart Playground rink will be open from 6 to 10 p.m.

Hot chocolate will be available from the City Recreation Department, which is providing fires, benches, lighting and music.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said the skating area was flooded yesterday and will have an excellent surface by tonight.

The C&O Canal rec area will also be ready for skating by tonight, barring a change in the weather. Two iron stoves will be on hand so skaters can keep warm, and benches have been placed in the area for changing skates.

The 2,000-foot area was frozen yesterday, but not hard enough for safe skating, as it was cracking under the weight of recreation officials who went to check its condition.

Ice was three inches thick yesterday at the LaVale Park pond and was reported safe for skating by Joseph Dorsey, who has charge of the rink.

DR. deBUTTS

Hercules Promotes Dr. deButts

Dr. Edward H. deButts, an employe of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory when George Washington University operated the facility has been named superintendent of the research division's advanced propellant department.

He is returning to ABL from Hercules Powder Company's Research Center near Wilmington, Del., where he has been employed since August 1951.

A process on which he led development work is now being used to manufacture nitrogen tetroxide at Hercules, Calif., for the rocket industry. More recently, he has led a group concerned with the development of various processes for producing new nitrogen chemicals.

Dr. deButts was born in Front Royal, Va., and was reared in Alexandria. After attending public schools in that city, he entered George Washington University, and following graduation in 1943, did research on rockets.

He was employed at ABL from January 1944 to February 1946, when George Washington University operated the laboratory for the Office of Scientific Research and Development. He left ABL to attend the University of Illinois where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1948. Dr. deButts was a chemistry instructor at Harvard University from 1948 until he joined Hercules in 1951.

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, of Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon, and is on the board of directors of the Wilmington Symphony Orchestra.

He is married to the former Jacqueline Alderton of Cumberland. Mr. and Mrs. deButts have two sons and a daughter, and the family plans to move to Cumberland at the end of the school year.

B&O Employe Hurt While At Work

George L. Long, 48, of 422 Seymour Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night with injuries he received in an accident while at work for the B&O Railroad.

The hospital said Mr. Long has possible fractures of several ribs and is reported in "satisfactory" condition.

It was reported Mr. Long, a brakeman, received the injury when he fell between two coal hoppers while working in Hagerstown yesterday.

Three other incumbents were elected as 668 of the some 1,800 members cast ballots here.

Re-elected were C. E. Stutzman, vice president, who was opposed by Casper Shook; Bernard A. Harris, who defeated John Bolyard to win a three-year term as secretary-treasurer, and Joseph Freno, who was unopposed for the post of recording secretary.

Officials said the bitter winter weather was a factor in the light vote. Members of the Cumberland area are scattered over a wide section, chiefly in the Cumberland and Bedford areas. Some live as much as 100 miles from here.

Local Man Walks Several Miles To Donate Blood

Despite yesterday's below freezing weather, one man was so anxious to keep his appointment to donate blood during the visit of the mobile unit from Johnstown Regional Blood Center that he walked from his home on Pine Avenue to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant where the unit was stationed.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, Red Cross blood chairman, said William Brooks, 451 Pine Avenue, is one of the center's most faithful donors. After donating his pint of blood, he refused all offers of a lift and walked the long distance back to his home.

State Office Aids Vets With Income Forms

The Maryland Veterans Commission's office here in the County Building on Union Street is offering assistance to persons filling out their annual income questionnaires.

Thomas G. Kilduff, assistant state service officer, said the local office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Mr. Kilduff said the annual income questionnaires are sent out each year to veterans or their dependents who receive pension benefits from the Veterans Administration.

He reminded persons who received the questionnaires that January 31 is the deadline for the forms to be sent in to the government. Individuals who fail to send in the questionnaires will not receive any future benefits, Mr. Kilduff said.

The only individuals who do not have to fill out the questionnaires are those who receive service-connected disability benefits.

Since the local field office of the Veterans Administration closed at the end of the year, the office of the Maryland Veterans Commission here has been busy assisting veterans and their dependents.

Many persons in this area are unaware that they can receive aid at the Union Street office on matters pertaining to veterans' affairs. The local office assists Maryland residents as well as persons from nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Kilduff said in the past seven days over 300 persons have received help in filling out their income questionnaires.

Approximately two and a half acres of land were scorched yesterday afternoon near the home of Thomas Moore on Cash Valley Road.

They said trash was being burned in a barrel but escaping sparks ignited the grass and the wind blew the fire out of control about 1:05 p.m.
